New Wage Board Plan Opposed By Industry

Johnston Rejects 11-Cent Boost For Meat Packers

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—The nation's top industrial and business leaders said today that while they opposed giving a proposed new Wage Stabilization Board full authority to settle disputes, they would not walk out if such an agency is created.

"We will not boycott any part of the mobilization effort," John C. Gall of the Business Advisory Council told a news conference at which management 's opposition to rebuilding the wage board as a "catch all" disputes handling board was given in detail.

Gall said the National Association of Manufacturers, and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and Business Advisory Council, a group connected with the Commerce Department, would not challenge Economic Stabilized Eric Johnston's action if such a board is set up.

But, Gall added, individual employers might challenge it if Johnston goes ahead contrary to management's wishes.

Packers' Pay Hike Rejected

Johnston has been trying to set up a new wage board in order to persuade labor leaders to return to the mobilization setup.

Labor spokesmen withdrew from the mobilization agencies in protest against a wage raise limiting formula they did not like.

Even as management stated its views on the proposal to get them back, the pay issue came to a boil in a new and vital place.

Johnston turned down an 11-cent hourly pay increase negotiated for 220,000 packing house employes. He said it would break through the formula, generally holding raises to 10 per cent above the levels of January, 1950.

"There will be a strike later if this is not approved," newsmen were promptly told by Ralph Helstein, president of the CIO packing house workers union.

Later at a news conference he said his union would be "free to strike" March 26 but the date would be fixed by an executive committee now meeting here.

Eight Cents Too High

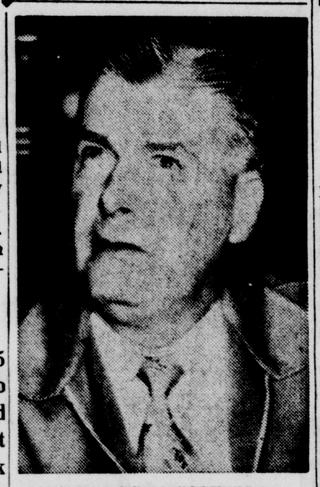
Johnston told a news conference that only three cents of the 11-cent raise agreed to by the packers Feb. 8 would fit into the 10 per cent formula. The men got another 11 cents last November, he pointed out, and 11 cents now would put their pay 17 per cent above the base rate.

In that situation, Johnston said, the additional eight cents must be knocked out unless a reconstituted stabilization board can be persuaded to approve it as a solution for hardship or inequity.

The economic stabilizer said he has no intention of breaking the formula himself.



CONTRADICTS COSTELLO — James F. McLaughlin, a former telephone company employe, testified before the Senate crime investigating committee yesterday he was paid between $300 and $400 by Frank Costello a few years ago to guard the gambler against wiretaps. Earlier Costello said he never had paid to have his phone checked for wiretapping. (AP Wirephoto)

BULLETIN

DETROIT, March 15 (Thursday) (AP) — Three to five persons were reported killed shortly after midnight when a southbound New York Central passenger train cracked up in suburban Trenton.

State police said they had no report on the number of casualties. Eight ambulances and a coroner's car hurried to the scene.

2 To 4% Increase In Freight Rates Approved By ICC

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — The railroad industry today won approval for a new $200,000,000-a-year freight rate increase — the ninth since World War II — despite protests by federal inflation fighters.

The Interstate Commerce Commission authorized the boost, overruling objections by the Economic Stabilization Agency, half a dozen other federal bureaus, and a long list of state utility commissions.

ESA officials had complained that higher freight rates would be promptly reflected in higher prices of numerous everyday commodities. They said any increase would jeopardize government efforts to "hold the line" on prices.

The ICC disclaimed any intention of interfering with the drive to stabilize prices, but said it is required by law to authorize "just and reasonable" rates to keep the railroads operating efficiently.

The eight previous postwar increases have raised freight rates an average of 57 per cent. The railroads contend their operating costs have gone up more than twice as much.

The new authorization will permit rates to go up four per cent in the East (north of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers and east of the Mississippi) and two per cent elsewhere.

In other developments:

1. Republicans blocked an administration attempt to ram a 90-day extension of federal rent controls through the House Banking Committee.

Housing Expediter Tighe Woods told the committee that rent controls in many important defense production areas will expire automatically on March 31 unless Congress acts to extend the present law.

2. The government disclosed it has approved tax benefits for industrial expansion costing some $2,683,000,000 in a move to encourage private business to expand for the defense program.

3. Price Director Michael V. DiSalle's agency issued a new regulation setting dollars-and-cents ceiling prices on rice at the mill or processor level. Consumer prices are not affected.

4. Price Chief DiSalle held an all-day meeting with 27 selected industrialists in an attempt to gain support for a proposed new price formula.

Gromyko Bids For Agreement

PARIS, March 14 (AP) — Soviet Deputy Andrei Gromyko made a bid for Western agreement today by suddenly rewording every one of his points for a Big Four foreign ministers discussion.

Western diplomats said, however, he had conceded virtually nothing on his bed-rock position that the No. 1 point must be discussion of the demilitarization of Germany as agreed upon by the four powers at Potsdam in 1945.

He also clung to his demand for a discussion of arms reduction by the four powers.

The United States, British and French deputies have taken the position that the Potsdam agreement has been outdated by events—the failure to unite Germany, the creation of a Soviet-sponsored police army in Eastern Germany, and the rising level of armed forces behind the iron curtain—and that the No. 1 point must be discussion of these uses of international tension.

No Basis For Reports War Will End Soon

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—The State Department said tonight that the Communist appear to be as determined as ever to drive the U. N. forces out of Korea.

Press Officer Michael McDermott declared "there is no basis whatever" for reports which have circulated in Wall Street that the Korean war will end in a few days. Asked about these reports, McDermott said:

"There is no basis whatever for any such reports. There is no indication whatever that the other side has given up its thought of driving us out of Korea."

Russia Forcing U. S. To Rearm, Truman Asserts

KEY WEST, Fla., March 14 (AP)—President Truman bluntly accused Soviet Russia today of forcing the United States to help rearm the free world by its own aggression and "ruthless program of rearmament."

He cited repeated Russian refusal to agree on a "foolproof" program for control of atomic and other weapons. This, he said, makes it vital for the United States to build up its defenses "as quickly and vigorously as possible."

The President declared American rearmament is "above all, an effort to prevent a world conflict." But he added it is also "an effort to prepare our defenses to meet such a conflict if it is forced upon us."

Mr. Truman voiced his indictment of Red Russia in a letter to a bipartisan group of senators and representatives who had urged him to make a series of concrete proposals to the Russians for disarmament in the interest of peace.

The group is headed by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt).

U. S. War Casualties Increase To 54,649

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—Announced U. S. combat casualties in Korea reached 54,649 today, an increase of 2,201 since last week.

A cumulative summary through March 9, issued by the Defense Department, listed 8,101 killed in action, 36,108 wounded and 10,440 missing in action.

The wounded total includes 937 who later died. Also 85 among the missing are known dead, raising total combat deaths to 9,123.

Earthquake Terrifies Millions Of Europeans

FRANKFURT, Germany, March 14 (AP) — A powerful earthquake centered in the Rhineland mountains terrified millions of Europeans today, shook down some bomb ruins and injured a score of persons.

Quick speculation by the man-in-the-street and some officials that the shaking might have been caused by an atomic explosion in the Soviet zone was discounted by officials of the Stuttgart observatory after a careful investigation.

Senators Warn Kayo Punch By Russia Could Fall Soon

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — Two Senate committees said tonight that it appears to be only a matter of time until Russia will have enough atomic bombs for a "surprise knockout punch." They called America a "high priority target".

The joint report from the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees was issued in support of their backing for troops-to-Europe resolutions which the Senate is to start debating tomorrow.

The two groups said that if the free West is not strong enough to defend against a land invasion when Russia's a-bombs are ready, Soviet domination of all Europe "would be easily possible."

The committees came out with their report shortly after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) told the Senate that defense of Western Europe is doomed to failure unless the free nations recruit the manpower of Japan, Nationalist China, Spain and Western Germany.

McCarthy said he did not object to President Truman's plan to send four more American divisions to Europe, but said he wanted a real defense planned, "not a phonny defense under which those American troops will be condemned to death or permanent slavery in some Siebrian prison camp".

McCarthy lashed out again at personalities in the State Department, demanding that what he called "the crimson clique" there be cleaned out.

Costello May Be Prosecuted For Perjury

Justice Dept. Will Check Testimony

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—Senate crime probers today accused Racketeer Frank (The Hands) Costello of flirting with perjury and said they would ask the Justice Department to see if he can be prosecuted.

Costello testified he never paid anyone to have his telephone checked for wire-tapping.

But up popped another witness—a former phone company employe—to flatly contradict him. This witness, James F. McLaughlin, swore Costello paid him between $300 and $400 to guard against wire taps a few years ago.

Checked O'Dwyer's Phone

Said Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee:

"As the matter now appears, it is impossible to reconcile the testimony of Mr. Costello and Mr. McLaughlin as to whether someone checked his wires. So on the basis of that, someone has committed perjury."

McLaughlin, in his testimony, also mentioned checking William O'Dwyer's phone, and finding it untapped. That was in 1945, he said, when O'Dwyer successfully was campaigning for mayor of New York.

He said an acquaintance of Costello's asked him to check the O'Dwyer phone.

Memory Improves

The Senate committee called Costello a liar earlier in the day and used a perjury threat to bludgeon from him information on money he has hidden around town.

The blunt warning caught the tight-lipped Costello by surprise and after a mumbled consultation with his lawyer his memory suddenly improved.

He then testified he had $40,000 or $50,000 in cash in a strongbox in his home. Later, he tactily admitted there is another $100,000 or so stuffed away in New York City banks.

Costello spent three hours in the witness chair today, following his all-day session yesterday. Then he was excused until tomorrow.

Air Force Alerts ROTC Graduates

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — All Air Force ROTC students graduating from college this year — a contingent of some 8,100 — were alerted for active duty by the air force today.

Those who left school at midterm will be called up within 90 to 120 days, the Air Force said. June graduates will receive their orders and be commissioned second lieutenants within 90 days of graduation.

As the Air Force dipped into the Reserve Officers Training Corps for new officer strength, administration leaders in the House decided to postpone House consideration of the universal military training and service bill until after the Easter recess.

The House Armed Services Committee has agreed on a draft age of 18½ and extension of the service period from 21 months to 26, but Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) decided today it could not get the bill in shape for House debate before the recess March 22. That will delay consideration until after the members return April 2.

Couple Crosses Atlantic In Their Sea-Going Truck

They plan to return to the United States by way of the Pacific.

"I know the Atlantic all too well now," remarked Carlin, an Australian-born former officer in the Indian Army who now claims New York for his residence.

They reached the Azores in August after 32 days of chugging, but almost lost their lives in a violent storm between there and the Madeira Islands on Dec. 4 and 5.

Top Graduate Tops At Home, Too

Maj. Lee Van Gossick is tops in his class, tops in the university records and tops at home, too, if the actions of his youngsters are any indication. The Air Force major leads the winter graduating class at Ohio State University with a point hour average of 3.99, just short of the perfect 4-point average. In five years in college, he made one "B" and the rest "As." He says games played by Cindy, 4, and Roger, 7, didn't bother his studying. (Story at bottom of page)

Truman's Plan To Reorganize RFC Squeaks Through House

Senate GOP Joins Drive To Kill Agency

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—President Truman's plan to reorganize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation—and perhaps save its life—squeaked through the House today. Shortly afterward, however, the Senate Republican leadership joined officially in the drive already undertaken by the House GOP Policy Committee to kill the huge agency.

About the same time Rep. Hays (D-Ohio) turned down a bid from Senate investigators to tell them the names of two senators he says influenced multi-million dollar RFC loans. He said the senators could dig out the facts for themselves.

The Senate Republican stand was reported by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) after a meeting of the party policy committee which he heads.

He said the group demanded abolition for the much criticized corporation. The House policy committee took a similar stand yesterday.

Taft said the Senate group will ask that the current investigation by a Senate Banking Subcommittee be continued, with more money for the job. Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) has said the job is about done.

Because of those decisions, Taft added, Senate Republicans will try to defeat the reorganization proposal.

Earlier in the day Fulbright had written Hays inviting him to appear before the committee tomorrow or Friday and give any information he has on influence-wielding around RFC.

The Ohio Congressman, in a House speech yesterday, said two senators had put on pressure for $18,500,000 of loans to the Carthage Hydrocol Company headed by Guy Gabrielson, Republican national chairman.

He told reporters he would name the senators in a broadcast last night but on the air he only used names in saying Sens. Bricker (R-Ohio) and Capehart (R-Ind) had "contacted" him immediately after the House speech. He said Bricker threatened a libel suit if Bricker was named as one who put on pressure.

Amid the other swift RFC developments, word came from former President Hoover, who persuaded to create the agency in 1931, that he believes it should be abolished.

His views were stated in a letter to Rep. Widnall (R-NJ) which the Congressman put into the Congressional Record.

Ex-No. 1 U. S. Red Is Freed Of Contempt

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — Earl Browder, former No. 1 American Communist, was freed today of a contempt of Congress charge.

Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts granted a motion for acquittal without letting the case go to a jury.

He did this primarily on a finding that a Senate subcommittee did not make a direct issue with Browder over his refusal to answer certain questions in a hearing on Communists-in-government charges by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The court also indicated doubt of the pertinency of the rejected questions, all asked by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa).

During the trial, Sen. McCarthy appeared in an unusual role as the only witness offered by the defense. From the witness stand, he renewed his attack on former Sen. Tydings (D-Md), chairman of the Foreign Relations subcommittee which made the inquiry.

McCarthy told the court there was "perfect cooperation" between Tydings and Browder.

"The witness was doing exactly what the chairman wanted him to — that is, conduct Operation Whitewash," the Senator testified.

After the acquittal reporters asked Browder whether he was grateful to McCarthy for appearing as a defense witness. The Senator accepted a subpoena though he did not have to do so. He volunteered a comment of his own that it was a strange role for him to appear as a defense witness for a Communist.

"Why should I be?" Browder replied to the question about gratitude. "He is responsible for me being here at all.

"His appearance made it clear that the whole case was a political football in the struggle for power."

Veteran Kills Three, Then Flees Into Woods

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., March 14 (INS)—A wounded Korean war veteran ran amok in a Wilkes-Barre suburb today, killing his estranged wife, father-in-law and brother-in-law.

Armed with rifle and revolver, the veteran, Edward Rovenski, fled to nearby woods. State and municipal police patrolled the area tonight, but they indicated they may not attempt to flush him out until daybreak because he is a combat-trained sharpshooter.

Columbia Physics Teacher Arrested On Perjury Count

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—William Perl, 32-year-old Columbia University physics instructor, was arrested by the FBI tonight on perjury charges.

A federal grand jury, in an indictment returned yesterday but not made public pending his arrest, accused him of lying about his relationship with alleged atomic spies now on trial here.

Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Perl had been under investigation since shortly after the arrest of Harry Gold in May, 1950.

The indictment charged Perl with four counts of perjury in connection with testimony he gave on Aug. 18 and Sept. 11, 1950, in which he denied acquaintance with Julius Rosenberg and Morton Sobell, on trial in New York on espionage charges.

Dulles Says Reds Plan Blood Bath

PHILADELPHIA, March 14 (AP)—Ambassador John Foster Dulles said tonight that Moscow is seeking to carry out a 25-year-old plan to clamp Soviet control on Asia by violence.

That is why, he said, Russia recently broke off discussions looking toward a peace treaty with Japan.

Dulles, who is President Truman's special envoy for Japanese treaty negotiations, said Moscow's immediate purpose apparently is to spread anxiety in Japan and other areas now protected by western forces. Predicting failure for this effort and for a Communist campaign to "immerse Asia in a bath of blood," he declared that the power of fraud and terrorism is waning.

He acknowledged that American officials were disappointed by the recent announcement by Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik that he would discontinue the treaty talks which had been in progress off and on for five months.

"Russia should be the first to go along with a Japanese peace, for it already has all the Japanese loot and territory it could possibly expect," he said.

Ohio State Student Misses Perfection By 1-100th Point

That 1/100th is all that separates Lee Van Gossick from perfection. It is the one tiny speck on the most amazing scholastic record in the university's history.

Gossick, a 31-year-old Air Force major with a wife and two children, will be graduated Friday with an average of 3.99 points.

That means that throughout five years of college he earned "A" in all courses, with one exception.

A university spokesman, proudly announcing the university's brainiest graduate, moaned:

"And couldn't you shoot the professor who gave him that 'B'?"

Gossick is philosophical about the one slip.

"My friends," he said, "told me the 'B' proved I was human."

The "B"incidentally, was in a course called "classical dynamics". It dealt with physics.

Gossick will receive two degrees Friday; Bachelor of science in aeronautical engineering and master of science.

Then a vacation after those five years of terrific study?

No, sir. Two days later Maj. Gossick will report for duty at the Wright-Patterson Air Force base, near Dayton, Ohio.

Other Troops Only 18 Miles From Parallel

Yanks, ROKs Enter Capital Unopposed

TOKYO, Thursday, March 15 (AP) — Seoul fell bloodlessly today to Allied troops driving north toward the 38th Parallel against retreating Reds.

U. S. Third Division and South Korean troops began entering the ancient capital last night unopposed.

It had not been completely occupied today but AP Correspondent Jim Becker, with the Americans in Seoul, said there were no signs of the enemy anywhere in the burned-out city.

South Korean First Division troops raised the republic's flag over the capitol building — marking the fourth time Seoul has changed hands since the Korean war began last June 25.

New Crossings Of Han

Eastward across Korea, Allied divisions surged within 18 miles or less of the 38th Parallel without serious opposition.

Just east of Seoul, American forces made new crossings of the Han River. They were unopposed.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker, in a field dispatch from Seoul's outskirts, said civilians were seen waving flags in welcome in the village of Tukto two and one-half miles east of Seoul. The village is on the Han's north bank.

"It was believed there were almost no Red troops remaining in the capital," Becker said.

In Central Korea, the U. S. First Cavalry Division crossed the Hongchon River in force behind tanks ranging within 18 miles of the 38th Parallel.

265 More Reds Captured

East of Hongchon, the U. S. Seventh Division today pushed north toward the 38th at points 18 miles or less from the Parallel. The retreating Reds were beyond range of the Seventh's artillery.

Allied troops captured 265 Reds Wednesday, the highest day's bag since the U. S. 25th Division surged over the Han River east of Seoul eight days ago.

U. S. Eighth Army estimated Red casualties Wednesday at 1,050. This pushed the total of Communist killed and wounded past 170,000 since the Allied offensive opened late in January.

The U. S. Second Division took 110 of Wednesday's prisoners.

Moving up a mountainous area on the west flank of the U. S. Seventh Division, the Second's infantrymen fought briefly with entrenched North Korean riflemen 15 miles northeast of Hongchon. The Americans passed through what one officer called "the most extensive enemy mine field of the Korean war."

Jet Pilot Dies In Crash During Demonstration

CHERRY POINT, N. C., March 14 (AP) — A single - seat jet fighter crashed and burned today as members of the North Carolina Legislature were witnessing a demonstration at this Marine air base. The pilot was killed.

Navy Halts Recruiting Of Enlisted Reserves

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — The Navy has temporarily suspended recruiting of the enlisted members of its organized reserve in order to take an up-to-date count of the number now on the books.

Aspokesman said today the suspension applies only to members of organized units who would receive pay for taking part in weekly drills and exercises. The Navy said it is continuing to enroll reservists in non-drill pay status.

Vandenberg Sinking

His personal physician, Dr. A. B. Smith, said there was "no change" late this afternoon in the Republican Senator's condition.

McKeldin Offers $7,011,843 Supplement To His Budget

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 14 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin tonight recommended new appropriations for pay raises and other state projects that would swell Maryland's budget for next year to more than $163,000,000.

He offered the General Assembly a supplement of $7,011,843 to his original $160,000,000 budget. Most of it would increase the pay of the state's 14,000 employes. Only part of it would require money not already budgeted.

At the same time McKeldin sent in three bond bills to borrow a total of $22,695,000 for state construction and civil defense.

His new money measures were promptly referred to Senate and House committees which have been scanning his main budget for the last month.

The governor's supplemental budget asks appropriations of $5,094,734 in general funds and $1,917,109 in special funds.

General fund spending was pinned tightly to a shift of state police expenses from general accounts to highway revenues. If an administration backed measure to effect the transfer is rejected, so would every penny recommended for general fund spending in the supplemental budget.

The police department budget amounted to $1,680,472. In McKeldin's primary budget, the money was to have been drawn from general levies, such as the income and sales taxes.

Personnel raises throughout the state would average some $225. Along with necessary increases in pension funds to match the new scales, they would consume 86 per cent of the expansion in general funds.

McKeldin found $5,316,786 available for his supplemental budget that had not been anticipated when the bulk of his spending program was submitted last month. He listed $3,540,000 in newly estimated revenues, money turned free by budgeting the state police with funds previously tied to roads, and the $96,000 left from appropriations originally proposed.

His payroll program included $300 raises for all state troopers. A bipartisan measure approving those benefits passed the Senate earlier this week and is before the House. McKeldin also suggested a $500 break for Col. Elmer F. Munshower, the man he nominated as state police superintendent. This would hike his salary to $8,000.

The governor proposed an increase of $4,000 for his chief engineer. The job now pays $8,000. McKeldin plans to appoint Nathan L. Smith, former public works director in Baltimore City and County.

As the last of the administration's fiscal proposals went over the desk, a group of delegates introduced long-awaiting school bills that would cost another $9,075,000. One would provide school teachers a $500 pay increase. The other would boost by 50 per cent the state's school building incentive fund guarantee.

Delegate Johnson (D-Cecil), who as a senator for the previous four years was Education Committee chairman, and eight other delegates representing both parties sponsored the pay bill. All but one attached his name to the incentive fund measure, which would increase from $10 to $15 per pupil the state's guarantee of money for the first five cents on local tax rates for school improvements.

Marshall Heads Md. Young Republicans

BALTIMORE, March 14 (AP) — Delegate J. Paull Marshall of Montgomery County is new chairman of the Young Republican Federation of Maryland.

Marshall, who practices law in Washington, was elected by the federation executive committee last night. He succeeds Stanley Scherr, nominated by Gov. McKeldin to be chief traffic magistrate of Baltimore.

Marshall announced the state convention of Young Republicans will be held in Hagerstown on May 19, when delegates to the national convention will be elected.

Election Probe Witness Praised

WASHINGton, March 14 (AP) — Roscoe Conklin Simmons, 63-year-old negro writer and Republican orator, testified today he campaigned for the whole Republican ticket in Maryland last fall while in the employ of the Chicago Tribune.

Simmons, who said he has been with the Tribune newspaper family since 1899, said he made 56 speeches advocating the cause of the Republican ticket and the negro race, but not once did he mention the name of former Democratic Sen. Millard Tydings.

The subcommittee is investigating complaints by Tydings that supporters of Sen. Butler (R-Md), who defeated him, conducted a campaign of "lies" against him in the last few days before the election.

Tydings had testified that Mrs. Ruth McCormick Miller, editor of the Washington Times-Herald, owned by the Chicago Tribune, had state that Tydings' defeat was due more to Simmons than to anyone else connected with the Republican campaign.

Must Weatherstrip

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 14 (AP) — United Nations architects have decided they will have to weatherstrip the 5,400 windows in the new 39-story secretariat building at U.N. headquarters, an official said today. The trouble: Soot and grime get around the metal window casings.

Air Fields Reactivated

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — The Air Force today announced the temporary activitation of 28 additional bases to provide training for Air National Guard units recently ordered into active service.

Mail Carrier Heads Home After Study Of British Life

LONDON, March 14 (AP) — Lincoln Kilby is flying back to the United States tonight from his grass-roots survey of Britain with a suitcase full of notes and an idea the world would improve if common men could be more influential in it.

Kilby is a 58-year-old rural mail carrier of Vandalia, Mo., who has just completed a 55-day study of British life. The project was financed with $1,300 contributed by his neighbors and members of the Vandalia Business and Professional Men's Club.

Slight, dapper and alert, he will report to them on such findings as these.

"Wherever I went, just getting acquainted and chatting, I didn't meet a vicious person, Some of them obviously didn't think America is quite as good and pluperfect as some of our 100 percenters think it is. But I can say without reservation that these ordinary chaps over here—I don't mean all the politicians—are our very good friends."

"It's not just what I saw. What made the greatest impression on me is something that I felt. These folks know the score, know the meaning of democracy and listen to every side of everything."

4-H Girls Adopt Annual Projects

Songs and the 4-H pledge opened the program at a meeting Monday night of the Pleasant Grove 4-H club at the home of Lena, Rhea and Teresa May Shanholtz, Baltimore Pike.

Miss Thelma Allin showed a movie on "Grooming" and the girls decided on projects for the year. Cooking and sewing were the projects chosen and special meetings will be held on the third Saturday of each month for work on them.

Members are to write a paper on "How to Have Good Posture and Good Grooming" for next month's meeting.

Mrs. Adolph Norris and Mrs. Mary Burchard, local leaders and 11 members were present.

The next regular meeting will be held April 9 at the home of Miss Burchard at 4 p. m.

Before The Big Four

Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia demonstrated his will to get along with the West on March 11, when he minimized the importance of his country's dispute with Italy over Trieste. Four days earlier Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Gromyko had told deputies of the Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in Paris that Russia would discuss an Austrian peace treaty only if the West agreed to discuss Trieste.

"The Trieste problem is not a big one and we are going to solve it with Italy when the moment for that comes," Tito told a group of World War II veterans. "Now is not the time in this tense situation."

Under the terms of the World War II peace treaty with Italy, effective September 15, 1947, the Free Territory of Trieste, a narrow strip of coastline on the east of the Istrian Peninsula, includes some 276 square miles. The shoreline extends about 80 miles along the Gulf of Trieste and the Adriatic Sea. The treaty provided that a governor would be elected by the UN Security Council and would in turn appoint a temporary Council of Government. Allied troops were limited to 5,000 Americans, 5,000 Britons, 5,000 Yugoslavs.

Col. Hermann Flueckiger of Switzerland, originally nominated for the governorship by Britain, was rejected by Security Council vote in May, 1949. Only Russia and the Ukraine voted in his favor; Western nations by then were advocating returning Trieste to Italy. Under the treaty, U. S., British, Yugoslav troops would remain in Trieste 90 days after the appointment of the governor, thereafter only at his request. The U. S. and Britain have repeatedly denied Russian charges that Trieste is being used as a Western military and naval base.

In linking an Austrian treaty with disposition of Trieste on March 7, Gromyko was repeating the diversionary tactics Russia had used in a May, 1950, meeting of the deputy Foreign Ministers. Yet at the Moscow conference in October, 1943, Russia agreed that Austria was to be treated not as an enemy but as a state taken over by the Nazis against its will.

Russia originally supported Yugoslavian demands for a part of the southern area of Austria known as Carinthia. Other points of dispute include Western charges that Russia has appropriated properly Austrian assets as part of the German assets she is entitled to receive as reparations from Germany; and Kremlin demands for certain key political and economic privileges in Austria after the peace.

Like Berlin, Austria is under four-power military occupation. In April, 1950, the Defense Department placed U. S. troops there at 10,000. In May, the U. S., Britain, France said their occupation forces would be replaced by civilian commissions. But that was before the June, 1950, Communist invasion of South Korea.

U. S. Ambassador-at-Large Jessup on March 7 called Mr. Gromyko's introduction of the subject of treaty violations by the Allies "a strange approach." Soviet satellite nations, he said, were themselves violating human rights and military clauses of their peace treaties.

Peace treaties with Rumania, Bulgaria and Hungary, worked out in 1946 along with the Italian treaty, established the following military limitations: Rumania: army, 120,000 men; navy, 5,000; air force, 8,000; Bulgaria: army, 55,000 men; navy, 3,500; air force, 5,200; Hungary: army and navy, 65,000 men; air force, 5,000. Total forces of the three nations were estimated in late 1950 at: Rumania: 210,000 to 230,000; Bulgaria: 125,000 to 150,000; Hungary: 45,000 to 100,000.

Arms Race And War

When Stalin says one thing and his subordinates do another, there is only one safe conclusion. It seems to be standard Russian practice for a Stalin statement hinting at peace to be followed by official actions that are uncompromising and hostile. In such cases actions speak louder than words.

Last month, for instance, Stalin said that the Soviet budget proves Russia's desire for peace. No nation, he said, can strengthen its civilian economy and simultaneously "inflate war industry and multiply its armed forces without risking bankruptcy." Russia, he said, was strengthening its civilian economy.

Now Finance Minister Zverev announces that Russia is increasing its expenditures for its armed forces by 20 per cent to a peacetime record figure of 96,000,000,000 rubles — equivalent to $24,000,000,000 at the official rate of exchange. This new budget, Zverev insists, is further proof of Stalin's claim that the Soviet wants peace!

Exact comparison of American and Russian figures is difficult. A year ago, for instance, the reported dollar figures for the U. S. and Russian military budgets were approximately equal, although Russia was supporting an immensely more powerful military establishment. Russian military costs were much lower because of such factors as forced labor, lower military pay, fewer "luxuries" for the armed forces, lower official prices for materials, and others.

The U. S. military budget now is higher than the Russian military budget, but it will buy much less in preparedness.

But both budgets are increasing as the arms race continues. Arms races, it is widely believed, always lead to war. If there is any truth in that statement, it derives from the fact that the weaker side got into the race too late to upset the aggressor's plans. It may be nearer to the truth to say that wars start when one side thinks it can win an easy victory.

Highway Hazards

Every state is becoming increasingly concerned over the increase in traffic deaths. The disgraceful record of traffic casualties is being made in the face of a nation-wide program of safety education which begins with the children in school, sponsored by local and state organizations, and all law-enforcement agencies.

Licensing of automobile drivers was touted as the panacea for highway accidents. All states except one now have automobile driver license laws, but these have not proved a deterrent to reckless driving. It might be concluded there is no way of solving this problem.

But there is a cure, and it rests with the drivers of automobiles. In practically every accident resulting in death speeding is a factor. Liquor takes its toll. Is it too much to hope that eventually those who operate automobiles will develop proper regard for their own lives and the lives of others.

Until that great day arrives, traffic deaths will continue to mount and the hazards of the highways will increase.

Five years ago economists were saying inflation would put prices up an additional 10 per cent. They are still saying it. How many 10 per cents can the country stand?

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Fat Accumulation

THE OVERWEIGHT should always remember that fat comes from the dinner plate and not the air. Too good an appetite and too much food are more likely to be responsible than the glandular system of a family tendency. The remedy is obvious but control is more easily said than done for a number of reasons.

Obesity is less prevalent among the rich than the poor who must of necessity depend upon cheap foods that are high in starches but lacking in satiety value. The well to do can afford more fat and protein, which satisfy the pangs of hunger over a longer period of time. In this respect obseity often is considered a deficiency disease and in some instances is remedied when the individual learns how to select more balanced menus.

There are many physical and psychological reasons for overeating. Psychiatrists tell us, for example, that some women eat because they wish they were pregnant and derive satisfaction from attempting to duplicate the feeling of fullness that the added poundage brings. Others eat to avoid pregnancy by unconsciously accumulating a few layers of fat to discourage the advances of the opposite sex. The same plan is utilized to evade marriage. At any rate, unhappiness probably is one of the most prevalent emotional causes of gorging food. Most of us have experienced, in periods of dissatisfaction, a longing for "something" even though we don't know what we want. Some attain satisfaction by nibbling on a cookie or piece of candy.

The physical reasons are less well known. There is a theory that the body has the power to burn up surplus calories in the diet. If every excess calory were stored it would be possible, by drinking an extra glass of milk each day for a year, to put on 24 pounds. Yet there are millions who remain at the same weight year after year, even though their diet varies considerably. The opposite also happens; some gain, even though they eat extraordinary little. Unless they are careful they become plump in no time. There also are many who in early life have been able to eat all they want without putting on an ounce. Later they are forced to mind their p's and q's to keep a slender figure.

Many diseases can be avoided by preventing obesity. Statistics show that portly individuals are more prone than average persons to develop diabetes, high blood pressure, gallstones, arthritis, varicose veins, abdominal hernias, and arteriosclerosis. The corpulent are less agile and more inclined, therefore, to be involved in accidents. They are a greater risk when surgery is contemplated and in pregnancy. A man of 45 lessens his life expectancy 25 per cent if he is 25 pounds overweight. If he is 50 pounds too heavy his life span is the same as though he had a heart defect with leakage of the valve. (Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reducing diet.)

ROOF LESION

B. T. writes: What causes a lump in the roof of the throat?

REPLY

This may be a benign tumor known as "torus palatinus." This bony lesion appears usually in adolescence and enlarges gradually. Nothing need be done unless it grows large enough to interfere with speech or the proper fitting of dentures. When this occurs the mass can be removed with a chisel or dental spur.

RESEMBLANCE

Mrs. W. writes: I have heard that the first child looks like the father, the second like the mother and the third like both. Is there anything to this?

REPLY

No. The resemblance to our ancestors is unpredictable. You might ask the individual who gave you this information what the fourth and fifth look like. Furthermore, there is nothing to telegony, the supposed hereditary influence by the father of the first child upon subsequent children of the same mother by another man.

RED NOSED

Mrs. W. writes: Every winter my nose turns red and peels. Is there any way to prevent this condition?

REPLY

Go south, young lady. If you can't, get yourself a heavy scarf and wind it around the lower half of the face as they did in days of yore. Greasing the nose will help also.

ARTERIAL SPASM

Mrs. V. M. writes: What does spasm of the artery of the leg mean?

REPLY

In this condition the arteries in the leg become constricted so that the blood supply to the tissues is disturbed. When this occurs the skin assumes an ashen hue and the extremity feels numb and cold. After the walls of the blood vessels relax, circulation returns and the parts become warm and flushed.

Dixiecrat Welcomed At White House; Sen. Kenneth Wherry Digs At Truman Letter Writing; GI Injustices Aired In Letters

WASHINGTON—It's news when a Dixiecrat gets invited to the White House, particularly a dyed-in-the-cotton Dixiecrat like Rep. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina, who figured prominently in the revolt against President Truman in the 1948 election.

However, Truman rolled out the welcome mat for the silver-maned South Carolinian the other day as though he were a long-separated fraternity brother. The story behind the unusual meeting is that the President wanted Rivers' support for the 18-year-old draft bill.

However, after a brief reference to the legislation, the two antagonists spent the rest of their meeting assuring each other that there were no "hard feelings" between them.

"If you are a big enough man to invite me down here, I'm big enough to accept the invitation, Mr. President," grinned Rivers. "In fact, it's a pleasure to accept."

"Some people have been saying that I don't like you and would never invite you down here, Mendel," responded Truman. "Well, it isn't so. I've never closed the door to you. I want you to know that it will be open any time you want to see me."

The President cleverly dropped only the merest hint that he was concerned about the fate of the draft bill in the Armed Services Committee, of which Rivers is a member. However, there were no commitments on either side and the two men parted after a friendly handshake.

Dig At Truman

"Do you think we ought to call Mr. Stalin up every morning and tell him what we're doing?" Connally asked scornfully.

"If you're going to communicate with Stalin," Wherry whipped back, "I suggest you send a letter. That's the Truman way."

G. I. Gripes

Here is another batch of letters from servicemen, complaining about injustices in the armed forces. Periodically this column tries to answer the most serious G. I. gripes. Names are withheld upon request.

A Private, Camp Carson, Colo.—"We have received mass punishment, because some 'unknown person' fired several shots behind the barracks. For this, our company is restricted for an indefinite time. Men with their wives in the guest houses not more than ten minutes away, cannot even call them. We think this is unfair, as we expect to be shipped overseas soon."

Answer—A Camp Carson spokesman told this column over the phone that the incident "is purely a military matter and no concern to civilians." This is a dangerous attitude. As long as civilians rule this country, they have a right to know how their servicemen are treated and to correct any abuses. Meanwhile, under Army regulations, a camp commander has the power to restrict a full unit for the offense of one member. In this case, the troublemakers were caught, the restriction was lifted temporarily, then clamped down again for another offense.

Mrs. C. H. Orum, Salem, Ore.—"My husband has been in Korea over six months. Do you have any idea when he will be allowed to come home?"

Answer—The Marines are now sending combat veterans home on rotation. The Air Force has been sending some combat crews home and will adopt a formal rotation policy in May. Some Navy men also have returned to Japan and the West Coast with their ships, but no formal program has been adopted. The Army claims it is still too short of replacements to start a rotation program. Meanwhile, scarcely a week goes by that General MacArthur doesn't cable for more men.

A Corporal, Somewhere in Korea—"My wife says she writes me every day, but I have been getting only about one letter a week. Where's the bottleneck?"

Answer—Under battle conditions, the mail can't always get through to the front lines. However, you'll probably find a big backlog of letters waiting for you when the Army Postal Service catches up with your outfit.

Washington Pipeline

Unsung bureaucrats: Acting Federal Conciliation Boss James Greenwood and his crack aides, Clyde Mills and Peter Seitz, have been settling 14 out of every 15 labor disputes in defense plants, without a strike and frequently without publicity. . . . Tall, bespectacled Congressman Charles Brownson of Indiana, the man who beat Democrat Andy Jacobs in the last election, can well be proud of his GOP background. The 36-year-old Hoosier was born in Jackson, Mich., birthplace of the Republican party. President Truman will ask Congress for much broader powers to control commodity speculation, a major factor behind inflated food prices. The jump in egg prices last fall was influenced by fluctuating egg futures, while trading in soybean futures has been 15 times the size of the crop. . . . Futures speculation in cottonseed oil and lard also have been running wild. . . . Hefty Congressman Ed Hebert of Louisiana, who received one of President Truman's explosive letters, has the last laugh on political foes who predicted his district would suffer as a result of his feud with Truman and get no defense contracts. The two biggest defense projects awarded Louisiana—a tank engine and an aluminum plant—are in Hebert's district. . . . Bill Jackson, the deputy director of Central Intelligence, tipped off General Omar Bradley he was marrying Bradley's private secretary by formally requesting her "transfer." . . . Only two corporations in the U. S. have greater assets than the Atomic Energy Commission. They are American Telephone and Telegraph and Standard Oil of New Jersey. . . . A crack Ranger outfit with one of the best combat records in the Korea War is an all-Negro company attached to the 37th Infantry Regiment. . . . One result of the Senate investigation of the RFC will be the loan agency's decision to make all loans public. The Mothballed Tanks

BERLIN

THIS STRANGE city is an island of freedom amid the surrounding slavery of the Soviet zone of Germany. It is a place where millions of simple people bravely carry on in the ever-present shadow of danger. It has several other personalities and aspects. But for the traveler, Berlin is, above all, a chink in the iron curtain, through which much can be seen that is not visible from Washington or Paris or London.

Perhaps the best symbol of the first thing one sees through this chink is a mothballed tank. Until rather recently, a large faction of Western intelligence officers had been encouraged by the belief that the Soviets possessed no reserve armor west of the Vistula. True, there were at least 12 Soviet armored divisions in Eastern Germany, but these divisions, constantly wearing out their tanks in training and on maneuvers, did not seem ready for a drive across Western Europe.

Then one fine morning reports began to come in of tanks mothballed in garages and warehouses, in the same way that we mothball our reserve fleet. The size of this newly discovered reserve of Soviet armor has not yet been determined, but the estimates of the readiness of the Soviet armored divisions have already been anxiously revised.

Brought To Readiness

No one in Berlin expects a war this year (as no one in Seoul did either, it must be added). But the fact remains that the most striking phenomenon to be seen through this chink of the iron curtain is the extensive war preparation that has been carried on in the last 10 months by the masters of the Kremlin.

It is not that the Soviet armies have been heavily reinforced—there are still the same 30 divisions in Eastern Germany and six more in Poland although recent evidence suggests that at least one additional armored division may now be on the way from Russia. What has happened, rather, is that these armies, which were not ready to attack before, have now been brought almost to the stage of full offensive readiness.

Besides sending in reserve tanks, the Soviet planners have taken many other steps to prepare their war machine. Whereas their air and mechanized forces were formerly provided with fuel on a hand-to-mouth basis, a large permanent fuel stock has now been built up. Underground tankage is being constructed at the airfields so that this stock can be further increased.

In the same way, stocks of ammunition, of spare parts of all kinds for the air and ground forces, and of all other similar necessities of war have been substantially increased.

Crated air engines and even air frames have been brought in, so far as can be judged in far larger numbers than would be needed to support the present Soviet Air Force of from 450 to 500 jets in East Germany.

Methodical War Preparation

Even more significant, personnel and equipment for aircraft maintenance and tank repair shops have recently arrived in East Ger-

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — When General Bradley said the other day that he expects to retire next August upon the expiration of his two-year term as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, most people jumped to the conclusion that Admiral Sherman, chief of naval operations, would be his successor.

Although Admiral Sherman is really a genius in joint organization and has a keener understanding of the interrelationships of the armed services than almost any other man on active duty in our military establishment today, there is a growing feeling here that no successor at all ought to be appointed.

Wanted Co-Ordinator

The moment Admiral Sherman would step out of his post as chief of naval operations, America would lose at the head of its Navy one of its most valuable operating men. The duties of the chairman do not involve operations. In fact, there is much question among students of the present defense law whether creating the position of "chairman" was not a mistake in the first place. The general impression has arisen that the "chairman," although he does not have a vote, nevertheless is some kind of a superior military chief who tells the other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff what to do.

Actually, the purpose of Congress was to supply the Joint Chiefs of Staff with a co-ordinator, and it would have been much better if the title had been "Secretary General of the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

If Congress should amend the law in that respect, it would clear up many doubts as to the true purpose of a "chairman." There is, of course, a constructive value in having someone attached to the Joint Chiefs of Staff who does not have any operating responsibilities in any of the services. There is much work to do in connection with the meetings of the Joint Chiefs, and also in explaining to Congress what the Joint Chiefs are doing. If there were no one with the title of "chairman" to carry on this particular work, it would be necessary to create such a job and formalize it. That's why the post of "Secretary General of the Joint Chiefs of Staff" would give the Joint Chiefs a liaison with Congress and with other branches of the government.

At the Pentagon many observers feel that the President should have direct contact with the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He could do so only by having conferences frequently with the three operating heads of the armed services. On such occasions, when the presence of all three were not required, the secretary general could continue to brief him on routine delevopments. The statute which is now in effect designates the three members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff as the principal military advisers of the President and, strictly speaking, they should give their advice directly to the White House instead of through someone else.

Acted As Liaison

During World War II, the Joint Chiefs operated as an entity with representatives of the Army, the Navy and the Air Force, but the fourth member was Admiral Leahy, who was chief of staff to the late President Roosevelt. Admiral Leahy acted in the capacity of secretary but did not attempt to direct or boss the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He often relayed messages direct to the President and acted as liaison between the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the President on many important matters. The secretary general could continue to do this job without leading to any wrong impressions as to his powers over the actual operations of the Joint Chiefs.

The basic thought throughout all American history has been that the civilian side would really retain the final command and that at no time would any single military man obtain any sort of control of the armed forces. The idea instead has been that the military would take orders directly from the Commander-in-chief, a civilian, elected every four years by the people. This is as far as the electorate has ever wished to go in delegating the powers of life and death with respect to our military forces.

Even today, the orders for the most important steps in a war must come from the President, who in turn gets that authority from Congress.

When General Bradley retires, therefore, the proposal undoubtedly will be made to amend the present law and specify that the duties of the fourth member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff shall be solely those of coordination and that he shall not in any way exercise any authority over the Joint Chiefs of Staff itself.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Down-Beat

DEPARTING FOR a moment from the broad canvas which has become my daily chore, my mind turns to Miss Barbara Hutton, who also goes by the name of Princess Troubetzkoy.

I do not know the lady but I have for many years seen her picture in the newspapers, usually in relation to a marriage or a divorce or attendant circumstances. In fact, I have so often seen her face in the newspapers that I could conjure its line from my memory. It must be grand and glorious to be a subject of news all one's life, although I am sure that no one in his senses, or hers, would invite so much attention.

I do not recall all the names that this lady has borne through several marriages nor why they should be interesting. I have been told that news about Miss Hutton's lawyers bargaining, in the newspapers, with the Prince as to whether he is to have $3,000,000 or $500,000 for the lady to be relieved of him, is very important information and that many readers prefer it to my pontifications on world affairs.

Well, there you are. There is no accounting for tastes. After all, this lady's greatest contribution to current history has been her ability to marry a variety of men at different times, but in a sort of juxtaposition, and to get rid of them with facility.

It was so much easier in the time of the Borgias; they just poisoned those whom they no longer loved. Catherine the Great killed her outmoded or outworn lovers. But ours is a legalistic and journalistic age. Each collapse of a marriage needs to be legalized and publicized with plenty of photography. It is a mark of progress and civilization!

I have never quite been able to understand how all these stories come out unless they are given out. I have been in this business of reporting for 34 years, more or less, and I have yet to find that these intimate relations between a man and a woman make their way into the press unless the parties most concerned provide them. Of course, when they reach the police blotter or the law court, they are news. But when they are in the talking stage, someone must give the press a tip. It is usually a hired press agent. And I still wonder why anyone wants to have family disputes so advertised that they become front page news.

Enormous amounts of newsprint were consumed telling of the fiery romance of the Troubetzkoys, with all sorts of photographs. I could not help thinking, as I noted these stories, that the principals were a little overage for the sort of playing around that was being described. It looked to me as though this red-hot business was for the 20's, when it all seems cute, rather than for middle-aged folks, when it seems bizarre.

Perhaps I am old-fashioned, and someone did say of me that I am to the right of Louis XVI, whose head was chopped off. But there used to be a dignity about middle-age that seemed gracious and it had nothing to do with red-hot press agent stories.

And now that very exciting romance has broken up and these pigeons are fighting over money. He wants $3,000,000 to quit and she will only give him $500,000. Also, it used to be the other way about. It was the man who paid off the gal, but in these days of equal rights and fair deals and such, it is the dame who pays off her lord and master. That makes a man a gigolo.

Really, why don't these people retire and get out of our lives? We had the Bergman woman and that fantastic Ali Khan Person, but the perennial is this Barbara Hutton. All the time, for some reason or another, we see her face in the news in relation to a scandal.

There must be some place to which these narcissus-inclined persons may retire where they can

Fellowship Of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotional

THE FELLOWSHIP TEACHES

Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God; for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him.

John 3:2 (K. J. V.).
Read verses 1-17.

There never was a time in the Church when better teachers were not needed. It was so when we were young, and it is so now. There probably never was a time when better material was available than now. Religious educational experts have put their time and energy into providing what is "profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness; that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works."

There remains, however, the person to be taught; and who is to teach him? The best material will avail little without a teacher whose personality reflects the love, the kindness, the understanding of Jesus, the greatest Teacher of all. Whatever else we may say about the Christian movement, it began first with a radiant personality. The woman with her waterpot at the well of Jacob saw the reflection of God in the face of the Man who talked with her. What other has a teacher to do but to impart God, not merely by word, but by a life?

Let Us Pray: O God, may the radiance of Jesus be seen in all who would show the way to others. May we know that the spirit of man is the candle of the Lord, and may it shine more and more unto the perfect day. Amen.

Baering Down On The News

Matter Of Fact

many. In the last war, the Soviet Army was often forced to send its damaged tanks as far as Kuibysev before they could be put in order. In any European campaign, this would obviously be ruinous. The newly arrived maintenance staffs which include German technicians trained in Soviet methods, will provide full maintenance facilities of all kinds here in Germany.

The general picture is one of methodical war preparation, accomplished so slowly and quietly on a foundation already so menacingly strong, that very few people have taken alarm. To be sure, there are still some gaps. The transport facilities available to the Soviet armies would be thought inadequate by any American or European commander, partly because of the poor quality of steel rails supplied from East Germany for railroad improvement. But Russian commanders, who get their experience with the Russian rail system, are unfortunately unlikely to use American or European standards of transport.

Again, and this time more significant, although they have a very high proportion of armored and mechanized divisions, the Soviet armies in Germany and Poland are distinctly short of artillery. Here the Russian standard is higher than ours—Russian ground force tactics call for massed use of artillery on the greatest scale. Probably, any Soviet war plan would call for bringing in additional artillery divisions, as it would certainly call for bringing in additional air groups—which of course can be done in a single night's flight from Koenigsberg.

All these different toilsomely collected facts about what the Soviets have done and have not done in the last year for their European forces, form a pattern which requires discussion in a subsequent report. It is enough to say here that what has been done vastly outweighs what has not been done. It we had done one-half as much, the Kremlin would be justified in its perpetual bellowing that the American war mongers are preparing an aggression.

ALONG THE POTOMAC TO WASHINGTON

(By Representative J. Glenn Beall, Sixth Maryland District)

H. R. 3017, the "Aid to India Bill" is being held up in the Rules Committee where it is meeting with considerable opposition for two reasons. The first is because India asked to buy the grain originally and did not request it as a gift from the American people, and the second because the request for this grain to relieve famine in India was not sent by Mr. Nehru or the Indian Government. A dispatch from New Delhi states as of February 16, "Prime Minister Nehru publicly chided 43 members of Parliament today for cabling the United States Congress an appeal for grain . . . The Prime Minister told the House the cable, sent to Vice President Barkley and House Speaker Rayburn, was 'sent with no reference to members of the government'. Members of Parliament, Mr. Nehru continued, may send a message to anyone they wish, but 'confusion and embarassment' could result for 'members to address officials of foreign governments without consultation with (India's) government and without consideration of the larger issues involved and of India's foreign policy'."

Could Mr. Nehru's reference to India's foreign policy mean his attitude toward the appeasement of China's Red Government?

The necessary 36 states have now ratified the 22nd Amendment to the Constitution which limits any future President to two terms in office. I believe the ratification of this amendment shows that the people of this country want a government built on laws and not on the theory of the indispensible man. It is in the statesman-like tradition of the principles of George Washington and is a further step in the preserving of our republican form of government.

While the country is going into the red deeper every day, the federal government is selling red ink which it advertised for sale at the Rock Island Arsenal on February 20. The red ink is described as "prosperity red," which the notice of sale said is now "obsolete." There is a moral in this somewhere, that combination of the words "prosperity" and "obsolete." Perhaps the taxpayers can figure it out.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities has just listed more than 800 Communist-dominated and Communist-front organizations. The report represents the results of 18 years of research and analysis by the committee. It lists 624 organizations and 204 publications. Every citizen should be alert to such organization which mask themselves under false names in order to subvert and overthrow our government.

The United States Government stopped the buying of tin in foreign markets after scandalous price gouging on this strategic material In the last week the price of tin has dropped drastically since this country refused to buy at the inflated prices.

The Army draft call for May is for 20,000 fewer men than for April. This has brought a question in many legislators' minds on the necessity for drafting 18 year olds at this time.

Representative Keating, of New York, has called for an inquiry for "restoring morality and ethics to the White House Staff" in introducing a resolution under which the Judiciary Committee would look into ethical standards. In a House speech, Mr. Keating said, "Recent revelations about influence peddling by White House attaches and tehir cronies, brought out not only by political adversaries, but by members of the President's own party, are bound to bring the office into disrepute." Mr Keating stated the President has shown no disposition to discharge "those faithless to their trust."

UNDER THE DOME

At the request of service men I contacted the National Association of Railroads asking that reduced rates be continued after March 31. I was advised that the matter of further extension of reduced fares is now being considered and a decision will be reached shortly.

I have received numerous letters relative to school construction and maintenance of the present transportation system of the schools. Schools are exempt under the construction control regulation and I have asked the Director of the National Production Authority to grant permission for the setting aside of materials for the school buses needed as estimated by the U. S. Office of Education.

Many Maryland monuments and markers have been erected at the National Military Park surrounding Vicksburg, Miss., in memory of Maryland men who fought there in the War Between the States. The unkept condition of the Park has been brought to my attention and I have asked the National Park Service to have the condition of the park investigated and arrange to have it better cared for in order that the monuments and markers can be seen and read.

I attended meetings of the Public Works Committee and the District of Columbia Committee.

ELIZABETH TAYLOR has not told me when she's going back to Nicky Hilton, if she is going back to Nicky Hilton, although Liz and I are staying under the same sumptuous hotel roof (not one of Mr. Hilton's either) . . . Neither has Miss Joan Crawford confided in me about her latest flirt or spat or hat . . . I haven't even seen Van Johnson . . . Maybe if he did see me, he'd tell me something . . . Oh well . . . after all, Washington is my beat . . . Besides, if you were out here, you, too, would be having too much fun to do anything more than glide around, open-mouthed and boogle-eyed, enjoying the sights . . . SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

THE lack of poise shows itself in more ways than a girl's timid manner at a party. Miss Boisterous, who overacts, is demonstrating her poise poverty just as well. By throwing up a smoke screen of exaggerated gestures, she hopes to hide the unsureness she feels. But she fools nobody—even the trumped-up bravado in her walk gives her away immediately.

What can you do about a girl who does the wrong thing because she's trying so hard to do the right? Shower her with frowns and "don'ts"? Tell her she struts like a turkey hen . . . and destroy what little confidence she possesses? Hardly!

If she were my child or one of our would-be models, I'd put her through a course of sprouts—poise sprouts, that is. What she needs is something added, not subtracted from her personality. As soon as she has some new graces to display, her boisterousness will disappear.

A swaggering or assertive walk will quickly yield to these three corrective measures. In its place will be something highly attractive and desirable.

Timidity and boisterousness both vanish as soon as a girl discovers poise!

1. Add cadence to the stride. Practice will make a step about the length of the foot come naturally in no time—and also take the wiggle out of the hips.

2. Add grace to the arms. When the arms swing the approximate length of the step and close to the body, the entire torso gains a composed look.

Her First Compliment

3. Add poise to the head. By pulling the neck well out of the shoulders and keeping the chin up, a charming face will replace the jiggle-top.

As soon as our young lady receives her first compliment on her gracefulness, she will feel a thrilling surge of the inner poise she has been striving for. As each stumbling block is removed, greater and greater poise will be hers. After all, poise is nothing more than knowing what to do, how to do it, and when to do it. These are things anybody can learn.

Washington Film Marks B&O Night

Featuring B. and O. night at the Tri-State Traffic Club dinner meeting last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, the new B. and O. sound, color movie, "Washington, Shrine of American Patriotism," was shown to some 80 club members and guests.

The film, termed outstanding in portraying the Washington scene, is narrated by Lowell Thomas. More than 100 prints of the film already have been released to schools, libraries, colleges and similar institutions throughout the country.

Harry A. Witte, Baltimore, B. and O. freight traffic manager, told the club members that just yesterday the Interstate Commerce Commission had approved a rate increase for the carriers.

The amount of the increase will be four per cent in the Eastern rate territory, two per cent in the South and West, and also between the various rate territories.

Grain and grain products are excluded from the increases. The coal and coke rate is increased two per cent with a maximum of six cents per ton, Witte said.

Poolesville Man Held In Check Case

Accused of obtaining money from Frostburg merchants by passing worthless checks, James Daniel Curl, near Poolesville, is being held in the county jail pending a preliminary hearing.

Curl has signed a statement admitting that he deposited $1,700 in a Frostburg bank, using a check on another bank, and then drew on the $1,700, according to State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

Checks passed before Curl's arrest amounted to $1,125 but he realized only about $15, Fletcher said, since all merchandise was recovered.

burg Republican, sought to assure opponents industry will be protected.

"No reasonable request for access ever has been denied and we are interested in developing every potential of the river, including industry," Thompson said.

Beall Voices Opinion

"We certainly would never do anything detrimental to the industrial development of Maryland," declared Beall.

The 11,000 acres to be ceded to the government would be "the largest acreage of hunting lands taken out of the state in the last 25 years," complained Ernest A. Vaughn, State Game Commissioner.

He was joined by representatives of sportsmen's groups, including Irvin Rutledge of Washington County, George F. Grove of Frederick County, and Malcolm Kane of Montogemery County in protesting damage to game conditions the parkway would cause."

Industry "Can't Lose"

W. Earle Cobey, City Solicitor for Cumberland, argued that industry "can't lose" by the parkway development.

It has no access rights now to the Potomac and would "gain a better bargaining position" for them if Maryland decided to buy the land and offered it to the government, he said.

Any disadvantages caused by the parkway would be compensated for, Cobey said, "by giving Western Maryland the means and access to Washington so it can compete with other highways."

The parkway will attract 20,000,000 tourists to Western Maryland and prove an invaluable military route, Mayor Thomas L. Post of Cumberland said.

It was called a lifesaver for the city's employment troubles by Joseph M. Naughton, president of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Two Are Hurt In Auto Mishaps

Two persons, including a 39-year-old woman, were hurt Tuesday night in separate automobile accidents involving five vehicles on Route 220, south of the main entrance gate at the Celanese Corporation plant, during intermittent snow, rain and sleet.

State Police said Mrs. Edna Troy and George Ellis, 29, both of Cresaptown, were admitted to Allegany Hospital. The woman suffered leg and shoulder injuries, and Ellis had contusions and abrasions of the face.

Trooper A. M. Spioch said Charles H. Knott, 28, of 20 Bellevue Street, traveling toward Cresaptown, crashed against the rear of a parked car driven by John Winters, Cresaptown. The impact forced the latter's vehicle against the parked machine of Earl F. Apple, also of Cresaptown.

Mrs. Troy was seated in one of the stopped cars when the accident occurred at 11:20.

Knott was charged with reckless driving. The other operators face charges of failing to park to the extreme right of the highway.

Ellis was riding with Carl E Frankenberry, Cresaptown, when their car was struck by the vehicle of Arden Haycock, Jr., Route 3 Keyser, W. Va., headed west, at 10:20.

Frankenberry's vehicle, going in the opposite direction, upset but he and occupants of the other car escaped injury. Trooper Spioch filed a reckless driving charge against both drivers.

Local Church Story In Gospel Messenger

Scrogum was at that time located at Accident, 45 miles away, he served two years as the first pastor of the church, driving the 90-mile round trip each Sunday to conduct services. In 1926, Rev. D. H. Miller became the first resident pastor.

The present church structure was started in March, 1950, and dedicated November 26, 1950. The membership is 342. Rev. Scrogum became resident pastor in 1944. Elder of the church is Rev. J. A. Robinson, Johnstown, Pa.

The average life of a dollar bill is about nine months.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)— "THE RATS will come out again March thirty first," Sen. Charles W. Tobey was saying during a recess of the Senate Crime Committee's hearings. "That's the day we close shop, and that's their invitation."

Sen. Tobey is pretty sore about the ending of the committee, in which he takes a perfect bi-partisan stance (it has as its chairman the amiable Yale man and Democrat from Tennessee, Estes Kefauver.)

"The Congress should keep this committee alive," he went on. "We should let them (hoodlums) know that it's alive, and never let them know where or when we'll strike. We should hang over their heads perpetually."

Sen. Tobey is also in favor of keeping the inquiry into the Reconstruction Finance Corporation breathing. But that, too, he fears is doomed.

"It's an especial shame about the ending of the crime committee, though," the vigorous veteran from New Hampshire insisted. "We're not an expensive committee. We haven't spent a hundred and fifty thousand, and there's hardly a key section of the United States we haven't appeared in or investigated.

"California alone is appropriating a hundred and one thousand dollars to keep its crime commission going, and several other parts of the country are raising money, through patriotic subscription, to do the same sort of thing. But the Congress is letting us die."

• — • — •

Sen. Herbert O'Conor (D., Md.) is a member of the Senate Crime Commission with a kind face and an air of wanting to help any witness who comes to the chair. His demeanor, which is genuine, very nearly ensnarled Joe Adonis in a real unhappy situation the other day.

Adonis, who looks like a manlier and grayer George Raft, had made some tart remarks, early in his testimony, about the interim report filed by the committee last week. It had charged that Adonis was a top kingpin in the vast hoodlum empire which has corrupted U. S. officials from gubernatorial rank down.

O'Conor told Adonis, in his best soothing manner, that Joe there and then had his chance to refute any of the charges made against him. The committe, O'Conor said, would be happy to go into the matter point by point, and if it had been unjust to Adonis he was sure it would apologize publicly to him.

You could see the words bubbling up in Adonis. But his lawyer, at his side, gave him a dig in the ribs and they conferred for a moment.

Then Joe said, somewhat deflatedly, that he would let the whole matter go until he could have his say "in the courts."

Senate crime investigators mourned all through that evening because of the lawyer's nudge. They tell me it would have been a very lively show.

Frank Erickson's appearance on the witness chair irreverantly and irrevelantly reminded reporters of the courtroom appearances of the late great Max Steuer, famed lawyer. Nobody could hear Max. Even fewer could hear Frank. Frank's voice would not have clouded a mirror.

What Frank was saying, in effect, was no, he wouldn't talk. He was threatened with contempt of Congress a number of times, but he still said no, he wouldn't answer the questions. But he did answer a couple of queries. To wit:

"What is your business?"

"Me? I got no business. I'm in jail."

And at the very end Sen. Tobey, impatient with Frank's barely audquestions, said:

"Now, see here, Mr. Erickson, if you were lost in the woods and dusk was falling, and the hoot owls were beginning to call, and you wanted to get out of there desperately, I dare say you could raise your voise."

Erickson's moon face, which had been screwed up into a determined glare, suddenly melted.

"The last time I spoke to you, Senator, I spoke too loud," he said, referring to his unhappy experience in Washington which sent him toward jail. The jammed hearing room howled, but it wasn't funny to Erickson, for he added reproachfully, "and you assured me, Senator, that nothing would happen to me."

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A hunter with a big gun, goes a legend current, met up with a bear that had no gun at all. But the bear had claws—and wit—and refused to concede defeat. He asked the hunter, "What are you looking for?" "A fine fur coat," said the hunter. "Me, I'm looking for breakfast," declared the bear. "What do you say to coming round to my nice warm den and talking over our prospects?"

So they went to the den and worked out a satisfactory compromise. The bear, emerging solo from the den, had enjoyed a splendid breakfast and the hunter was wrapped up in a fine fur coat.

The teacher at Dalton School told one of her favorite students, "Peggy, your final examination papers were a distinct disappointment to me. And what will your parents say? Didn't you tell me your daddy had promised you a bicycle if you achieved good marks?" "Yes," said Peggy, stifling a sob. "Well, then," pursued the teacher, "why didn't you study harder? What were you doing the whole term?" Peggy answered, "Learning to ride a bike."

"I GET WONDERFUL RELIEF NOW FROM HOT FLUSHES
and urge every woman 38 to 52 years old who suffers this distress to try Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound"

"I had heard so many stories about the functional middle-age period peculiar to women — I hoped I'd escape such symptoms. But I didn't. I found myself terribly embarrassed by hot flushes — I suffered such restless nights, and I could sense myself getting irritable and cranky — due to this cause.
"My druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. I can understand now why he called it 'the woman's friend.' Pinkham's Compound gives me amazing relief. I find if I take it regularly — don't miss a day — it helps build up resistance against such middle-age distress."
P. S. Pinkham's Compound is very tasty in a little fruit juice. Or you may prefer Lydia Pinkham's TABLETS with added iron. Handy to carry in your purse.

CDA Warns Germ War Attacks Could Come From Big Aerial Spray Guns

By JOHN DRUCKENBROD

WASHINGTON (INS)—The government warned today that if war comes the nation must expect germ warfare attacks "by enemy forces or secret agents" and emphasized the dread onslaught could come from huge aerial spray guns.

The Federal Civil Defense Administration insisted, however, that "biological warfare is no secret super-weapon" and that there are defenses which can minimize its effects.

A 30-page booklet entitled "What You Should Know About Biological Warfare" was issued by the CDA as a follow-up to its earlier publication on the a-bomb peril, "Survival Under Atomic Attack."

The experts who compiled the grim primer on biological warfare dismissed as "nonsense" the rumors of new "mystery" germs and poisons so powerful they could kill millions of people. They wrote:

"The kinds of germs and poisons which might be used in BW would depend on what the enemy hoped to get out of the attack.

"If he wanted to kill large numbers of people, he might use plague typhus, cholera, smallpox, or some similar disease.

"But an attacker might want only to make people sick rather than kill them. That would cripple both our fighting and production forces. It also would tie up doctors and hospitals. For this purpose, diseases like rabbit fever and undulant fever might be used."

The CDA pointed out that disease germs are spread by floating them through the air in fine sprays or mists, technically called aerosols. Such familiar appliances as bathroom atomizers, DDT bombs, and spray guns produce small-scale aerosols. The CDA explained:

"Much bigger aerosols might be used for major BW attacks. They could be loosed from special sprayers carried in airplanes, if an enemy could succeed in making an attack pretty close to the ground. or the aerosol machines might be carried aboard submarines."

Or, the booklet said, both germs and poisons could be loaded in specially designed bombs dropped from high altitudes. In another method, saboteurs "might try to put germs or poisons into city water mains."

The CDA issued these rules for survival against biological warfare:

1. Keep yourself and your home clean.
2. Report sickness promptly.
3. Give all possible help to authorities, such as cooperation in vaccinations and blood samplings.
4. After a bombing, stay inside until the all-clear signal sounds.
5. Don't take chances with food and water in open containers.
6. Don't start rumors—if you do, you may start a panic.
7. Keep the house spic and span.
8. Air bedding, rugs and clothing.
9. Wash your hands properly before eating or drinking.
10. Close up the house in case of attack.

The CDA booklet noted the almost-forgotten fact that German agents working in the United States before World War I infected livestock with a disease called glanders as the animals were being prepared for shipment to the Allies in Europe.

The scientists suggested this possible prelude to World War III:

"Many months before the outbreak of open warfare, undercover workers might try to spread wheat rust in our fields or loose a disease called fowl pest in our poultry flocks. The idea would be to cut down our food supplies."

Farmers, poultrymen and livestock owners were cautioned to be alert against such sabotage.

The civil defense organization asked cooperation in killing dangerous myths by accepting and circulating these facts:

Germ warfare will not knock out entire cities. No kind of biological warfare could kill or sicken every person in a large area or city.

Talk of poisons that can kill millions is nonsense. There are fearfully powerful poisons, of course, but there are definite, practical limits to distributing them.

No "mystery germs" can cause terrible epidemics.

Summing up, the CDA declared:

"An alert public health protection system is the keystone of our defense against biological warfare."

Assurance was given that if raids are quickly spotted and control measures promptly applied, the harm caused by germ attacks will be small.

Red Hungary Puts Pressure On Its Farmers

By ENDRE MARTON

BUDAPEST—(AP)—The Hungarian farmer, traditionally a strong individualist, is facing the prospect of increasing pressure from the Communist regime to get into the farm collective movement.

Early this month Minister of State Erno Gero, deputy secretary general of the Communist Party, told the second party congress that Hungary can complete its five-year plan a year earlier if the farmers "will make up their backwardness."

The government-controlled press is filled with attacks on the Kulaks, meaning the relatively wealthy farmer. At the same time the press is extolling the agricultural cooperatives and their growth in the country. This is a sure sign of a new government drive to get more farmers into the collectives.

Hungary undertook an extensive land reform program after the end of the war. This was aimed at eliminating the feudal character of the agricultural economy which was blamed for the huge exodus of Hungarian farmers to other countries, including the United States, between 1899 and the outbreak of World War I.

Under the land reform of 1945 the big landowners lost their holdings which were parcelled out to the so-called "landless" peasants. Those with no land received from five to nine "holds" and those with small farms already got an additional four to five "holds." A "hold" is equivalent to a little more than an acre. Under the program 642,000 peasant families without any land or dwarf holdings got about 4,586,790 acres, that year.

This did not solve Hungary's land problem. It was apparent that the relatively small-sized strips of land received were not sufficient to meet the requirements of modern agriculture.

However, it wasn't until August 1948 that the Communists began to stress collectivization. Matyas Rakosi, secretary general of the Communist Party, said in a speech: "We must face the question which is to be the road of development of the peasant farms. The answer is clear—working peasantry chooses the road of cooperation and mutual aid, the road of collective work."

Progress toward collectivization was slow. Soon after Rakosi's speech the number of cooperatives was given as 350, within a year as 1,500 and by June, 1950, at 2,000. The 2,000 cooperatives cultivated slightly over 500,000 acres.

These are the last figures made public here.

A later announcement said that 13.1 per cent of all arable land belonged to the "socialist sector" at the end of 1950, but of these only seven per cent were peasant cooperatives and 6.1 per cent state-owned estates.

Behind this slow progress was two-fold reasoning: That cooperatives should be formed on a voluntary basis, and that no pressure should be put on the peasant who is suspicious of collectives anyway.

The Communist government held out inducements to the cooperatives. The state-owned tractor stations offered modern machinery for field cultivation to collective farms at a rate 30 per cent cheaper than those to individual farmers. Farmers belonging to cooperatives got income tax reductions ranging to 50 per cent and favorable terms for farm loans.

There are three kinds of cooperatives. Under type one members cooperate only in certain kinds of work to be done with machines. Type two carries this a little farther and type three is the genuine article, where farm equipment and livestock become common property.

The government-controlled press hits out at anyone with 25 or more holds as a "Kulak" and a capitalist enemy of the state. Just why 25 holds is the line between a state enemy and a patriotic farmer is not quite clear to the peasant, but available figures show that after the 1945 land distribution there were almost 70,000 peasant families with between 20 and 50 holds.

Use Of New TV Channels Under FCC Consideration

WASHINGTON, (INS)—The Federal Communications Commission today was reported considering use of new television channels that may mean more stations and more programs but also new costs for the estimated 12 million present set owners.

Authoritative sources said the FCC, which has frozen new TV construction for 30 months, is exploring the possibility of opening up 70 new ultra high frequency channels.

That is 28 more than originally proposed in the commission's basic plans for a nationwide TV network. The new channels would supplement the 12 now operating in the very high frequencies of the wave band.

Informants denied, however, that the FCC may end its freeze in the immediate future. Sources said late fall remains the target date for ending the ban on construction of new stations. The freeze was imposed in September, 1948, because demand for new outlets exceeded available channel space.

FCC engineers say present sets will have to undergo "minor" adjustment to receive UHF signals at a "slight" additional cost to the public.

Manufacturers have estimated the retail cost of this adjustment at from $25 to $100.

Just how many new stations can be created by opening up the 70 UHF channels instead of the 42 originally planned is unknown at present because there is no way of determining how the new outlets will be spaced.

In the tentative FCC blueprint, use of UHF would have made room for about 2,500 stations. There are now 107 in operation. Nearly 400 applications for new stations are on file.

Use of UHF will not mean any change in relay of network programs via the coaxial cable or micro-wave.

Hearings began last fall on opening up ultra high frequency channels but were recessed. The commission is expected to announce soon a date for resumption.

About 300 TV and radio groups have said they want to be heard.

Sources said the FCC will make provisions for requested TV educational facilities when it decides how to increase channel space.

New York Rens To Clash With Spas Here

Negro Quint 29th Foe For Local Cagers

Cumberlanders Prep For All-American Series With Wheeling

Cumberland's Spas will entertain the highly touted New York Rens (Renaissance), noted aggregation of negro ballhawks, tonight at 9 o'clock on SS. Peter and Paul court.

The Rens will be making their first appearance here since the 1947-48 season when they topped the Dukes by the score of 60-47. During the 1946-47 season, the New Yorkers defeated the Amvets here 59-40 in their initial appearance here since before the Second World War.

Tonight's game, which will be officiated by "Bobby" Cavanaugh and Clifton Van Roby, is expected to attract one of the season's largest crowds. The high for the current campaign of 16 home games, 11 of which were won by the Spas, is the 506 paying patrons who turned out for Erie's initial visit on Sunday, February 4.

Spas Play 29th Game

Coach William V. Keegan's aggregation, preparing for the crucial All-American Pro League playoff series which gets under way in Wheeling on Friday night, will be playing its 29th game of the season tonight. The Spas have won 13 and lost 15. In the league they won 13 and lost 12 while against the independents, St. Francis College (Loretto, Pa.) twice and Waynesburg (Pa.) College the locals lost three straight.

The Rens are coached by Inman Jackson and have such stars as Bob Hall, Detroit, Carl Helem, Kentucky, George "Sonny" Smith, Cincinnati, Fred Pearson, Illinois, John Chavers, Cleveland, Bob Dowery, Kentucky, Joshua Grider, Kansas, John Roseborough, Texas, and Edward Hunt, Chicago, on the roster. Jackson is a former Harlem Globetrotters great and was a noted ball handler in his playing days.

Two Prelims Listed

Tonight's tilt will mark the beginning of a busy weekend for the Spas. In fact, the locals will be called upon to play three games in four days, including Sunday's series contest here with the Wheeling Blues who have taken five out of six from the locals this season.

A pair of prelims are on tap for tonight. In the opener at 7:15, St. Michael's, Frostburg, and SS. Peter and Paul will collide for the Biddy League title. Cumberland American Legion and the Sport Shoppe of the "Y" Senior Men's League will tangle at 7:50.

Mangrum Scores Tourney Sweep

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 14 (AP)—A clean sweep of the Seminole Golf Tournament gave Lloyd Mangrum another $2,500 today to wrap around the biggest golf bankroll of 1951.

A record 54-hole score of 203 enabled the Chicagoan to collect the $1,500 first prize in the professional division, and he picked up an additional $1,000 by teaming with Edward B. McLean to win the 36-hole pro-member tournament.

As he boosted his 1951 winnings to $9,626, Mangrum duplicated last year's feat of Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist, who won both sections of the tournament and established the competitive 54-hole record of 207 for one of Florida's toughest golf courses.

Mangrum clipped four strokes off the Middlecoff record with rounds of 69, 67 and 67.

At the finish, he had a three-stroke margin over Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa. and Pete Cooper of Ponte Vedra, Fla., who finished in a second-place tie at 206.

Another four strokes back at 210 were Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, who failed in an effort to win his third tournament in a row, and Jack Burke, Jr., of Houston, Tex.

Bowie Track Moves Starting Date Up One Day To April 20

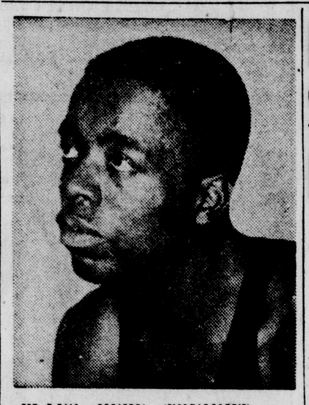
BALTIMORE, March 14 (AP) — Bowie race track announced today the Maryland Racing Commission has given it permission to open its spring meeting on Friday, April 20, instead of a day later.

The shift was designed to reduce the number of days Bowie will be running in opposition to Garden State Park in New Jersey. The Maryland track will run through May 3.

Bowie also announced the naming of Charles J. McLennan as racing secretary and Joseph Blimline as mutuel manager.

Three stake races were carded for the spring meeting. The $7,500 added money Rowe Handicap for three year olds and up at six furlongs will be run on opening day. The $10,000 Farrell Handicap, for three year olds and up at a mile and 70 yards, will be run the next day. The $15,000 Southern Maryland Handicap for three year olds and up at a mile and a sixteenth will be on April 28.

Central High Cagers Battle Gaithersburg Tonight



PLAYS HERE TONIGHT — Fred Pearson, classy forward of the New York Rens, will play here tonight when the famous colored quint battles the Cumberland Spas at 9 o'clock on the SS. Peter and Paul court. Pearson was a Centralia, Illinois, prep star and more recently a cage ace at Illinois Normal College. He previously played with the Kansas City Stars and the New York Broadway Clowns. He is reputedly an excellent floor player and good shot.

Browns Borrow $600,000 For Debt Payments

Finances Best In Years Owners Say

By JOE REICHLER

MIAMI, Fla., March 14 (AP)—The Browns have completed negotiations with a St. Louis bank for a $600,000 loan to be paid back over a period of 10 years, club president Bill DeWitt said today.

In obtaining the loan, which is expected to wipe out all the club's debts with the exception of one owed to the American League, DeWitt agreed to give the St. Louis bank and an eastern insurance company mortgages on both Sportsman's Park in St. Louis and Mission Field in San Antonio. The Browns own title to both parks. The loan will be paid back at the rate of $50,000 per year, the final payment being one of $150,000.

The DeWitts still are in hock to the American League from whom they borrowed $300,000 two years ago. A report that they had requested another loan from the league was denied by Bill DeWitt.

A statement quoting Clark Griffith of Washington that he would not permit the league to "lend DeWitt a quarter," brought a smile to Bill's lips.

"We're not seeking any more loans," DeWitt said. "We are in the best financial position we've been in many years. This loan gives us a chance to expand our scouting program. It also means that we won't have to sell our ball players in order to meet expenses."

DeWitt said the club has wiped out $1,535,000 in debts in the last four years.

"Since we purchased on Feb. 1, 1949," Bill added, "we have paid back several hundred thousand dollars.

"We are not as badly off as some people think. We have approximately $2,000,000 invested in our two parks in St. Louis and San Antonio. All we have to do is to draw approximately 500 000 fans at home and some 900,000 on the road and we will make some money this year."

Te DeWitts own 58 per cent of the Browns' stock. The rest is divided among some 1,700 stockholders.

Forty And Eight Cinches 'Y' Title

Top Local 26 By 48 To 21 Score

Forty and Eight cagers racked up their 27th consecutive victory last night in the Central YMCA Senior Men's Cage League and cinched the second half title with an easy 48-21 victory over Local No. 26.

The victory kept the first half champions' record clean and gave the undefeated quintet the "Y" title without benefit of a playoff. The winners have only one more game to play in the split season.

Last night's triumph was paced by Jimmy Eckard who tallied 14 points and Bob Lookabaugh who garnered 11. Cantone was high for the losers with seven markers.

In the other loop tilt played last night the American Legion five downed Peter Pan 35 to 24 with Bootie Sterne gathering high scoring honors with 12 points. The Legion quint copped the decision with a last quarter rally after leading only 17-16 at the close of the third period. The lineups:

Shea's Comeback Heartens Yankees

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 14 (AP) — Frank Shea, veteran New York Yankee righthander, offered early evidence today that he may make a comeback. The heavy-set righthander hurled three commendable innings in an intra-squad game and, after he was finished, said his arm felt better than it has in the spring since 1947.

Shea permitted two runs, both in the same inning, to a lineup composed largely of regular players. Bill Johnson homered with none on and the second run crossed because of an error. Frank walked two and was touched for two hits in addition to the home run.

Bratton Gets Split Decision In NBA Welter Title Fight

Fusari Survives Two Knockdowns In Scrap

CHICAGO, March 14 (AP) —Johnny Bratton tonight won the National Boxing Association's version of the welterweight championship by defeating Charley Fusari in a blistering 15 round battle in the Chicago Stadium.

The decision, however, was not unanimous. One judge voted 76-74 in favor of Fusari, the New Jersey ex-milkman. Fusari survived two knockouts to make a courageous fight from start to finish. Referee Freddie Gilmore joined in voting with the other judge, 78-72 for Bratton.

The 23-year-old Chicagoan's victory before a handful of spectators reportedly numbered 6,500 climaxed a riches to rags and back-on-top-again cycle.

Rain, snow, sleet, television and radio kept most of the fans at home and Fusari probably wished that Bratton would have stayed there during the first ten rounds.

Bratton's ballerina footwork and flying fists, however, gave him the leand and the triumph.

Judge Ed Hintz gave Bratton 77 points and Fusari 73. Referee Tommy Gilmore awarded 78 points to Bratton and 72 to Fusari. But Judge John Bray scored the fight in Fusari's favor by a 76 to 74 margin.

Bratton opened a cut over Fusari's left eye in the very first round. A right hook did the damage.

Johnny pecked away at this gash throughout the fight in an effort to gain a technical knockout but Fusari's handers did a remarkable job of keeping the eye open until the 11th round.

The state already gets 10 per cent of the gross admissions at boxing and wrestling matches.

Baltimore is the only Maryland city where wrestling bouts are televised now. The boxing promoters there are planning telecasts. Neither professional sport is broadcast.

KEYSER, W. Va. — Keyser will have a "Little Baseball League" this year, as a part of the summer recreation program to be conducted by the Keyser City Recreation Board. The matter was discussed at the last meeting of the board when tentative arrangements were made. Albert Thomas presented a sketch of a plan to be worked out.

The institute plans call for the training of other recreation minded persons, whether they plan to supervise or not. The aim will be to make Keyser citizens recreation conscious. Dates for the institute have been set for April 23, 24 and 25 from 7 to 9:30 p. m. Certificates will be given to those who attend and complete the course.

Prof. John Sherlacher of the School of Physical Education at West Virginia University, will be in charge of the institute. There will be no charge made for the course and sessions will be held in the Keyser Fire Hall.

A dinner meeting is being planned by the board to be held April 9. Edmund F. Hoey, director of recreation for the City of Cumberland, will be guest speaker.

Seton Hall May Be Team To Beat In NIT Contests

Surprise Of Tourney Meets Brigham Young

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP) — Dark-horse Seton Hall, "tournament hot" and rich in reserves, was labelled by rival coaches today as the team to beat for the National Invitation Basketball Championship.

"Those boys are hot as a stovelid," said Dayton's Tom Blackburn.

Frank McGuire, St. John's coach, threw in an "amen" to this, adding:

"Seton Hall has the best bench in the tournament, ten or 12 boys of about equal ability. When one team doesn't click, another one is thrown in."

"We may need stilts to stop that big boy, Walt Dukes," moaned Stanley Watts of Brigham Young. "It may be impossible."

The immediate problem of chilling this blast-hot surprise entry out of New Jersey happens to fall in the lap of Watts and his gang from Utah, who face Seton Hall in the second semi-final game at 9:30 p. m. (EST) tomorrow at Madison Square Garden.

First-seeded St. John's and Dayton, another unexpected guest in the round of four, clash in the opening game at 7:45 p. m. The championship will be decided Saturday night.

"I'm real proud of the way my boys are going but we've been mighty lucky," commented Honey Russell, the old pro who tutors Seton Hall.

"I feel that if we can get by Brigham Young we'll have an excellent chance to win. Brigham Young has two of the finest ball players in the country in this Mel Mutchins and Roland Minson. I think we have more good players than they do, but no two to match Hutchins and Minson."

Railroad Dux Teams Plan Bowling Match

The Baltimore and Ohio CTP Men's Bowling League will meet a team representing Western Maryland in a series of games beginning next Monday, it was announced last night.

The two leagues will pick 18 men for their respective teams with 10 regulars and eight alternates to be selected. The two teams will then meet in a series of two three-game matches. Total pins at the close of the six games will determine the winner.

The first three-game match will get underway at 7 o'clock March 19 at the Savoy alleys while the second series will be staged the next morning at 9 o'clock at the Club alleys.

Refreshments will be served following the close of the first set Monday night.

Earl Conn of the B&O league and Claude Comer of the Western Maryland loop are in charge of arrangements.

Coach Shellenback Is Lost To Giants

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 14 (INS)—The New York Giants have lost the services of one of the top aces of their pitching staff — Coach Frank Shellenback, the man who helped make the Giant pitchers click.

Shellenback is hospitalized with a serious abdominal infection, and doctors have advised him to give up the game this year.

"This is a serious blow," said Manager Leo Durocher. "Frank is a top man in arousing confindence among pitchers. He has a way with them. Kids listen to him."

Last year, it was Shellenback who took St. Louis Cardinal castoff Jim Hearn and turned him into a winner for the Giants.

Winner Will Advance To State Final

LITTLE GUY WITH BIG CIGAR TAKES OVER AILING ATHLETICS

Dykes Injects Spirit Into Listless Team That Lost Interest

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles on the 1951 prospects of the major league baseball teams.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—With the little guy in the big, black cigar cracking the whip, the "runningest" club in baseball, the Philadelphia Athletics, may surprise everyone this year and jump from an eighth-place spot into the running for the first division.

The little guy, Jimmy Dykes, rough and tough but still a sweetheart after all these years in baseball, is taking over the A's after half a century of leadership by the grand old man, Mr. Connie Mack, who finally stepped down after the 1950 season.

The keynote in this camp is "Action!" And that action is accented by running.

Dykes has set up some stringent rules for practice and every guy on the squad puts in a half hour running and Jimmy himself checks the time on them.

"They haven't run on this club for years," the loquacious and very affable cigar man says. "But they're going to this year. They're in good shape and if they aren't we'll make 'em that way."

The A's who dropped from a fifth in '49 to a hopeless eighth last year, are a new club this season although the same personnel probably will hold forth.

"They just quit. They might as well have gone home after June."

Jimmy was outspoken about the team's training methods last year, too.

"Mr. Mack," he said, "is probably the most wonderful guy in the world, but after all those years its a little difficult to be as aggressive as in other days. Our players trained all right, but there wasn't anyone out there giving 'em orders and they didn't work like players should. They just wandered around and did as they pleased.

"It ain't gonna be that way this year, though!"

The squat little leader of the A's, who informed his players in a clubhouse speech earlier that he was the boss on the field and "they just shouldn't forget it," said that the morale of the team is high and that the players don't resent his running tactics and his active training routine.

Sentiment in camp from General Manager Arthur Ehlers down to the bat boys is that the A's aren't as bad a club as they looked last year.

"The club is improved everywhere," said Jimmy. "And if Dick Fowler and Joe Coleman come along we'll be an interesting team. I don't say we're going to win a pennant or even crack the first division, but we're going to have a lot of fun and make some trouble."

Pitching, of which the A's had so much in 1949, was the trouble spot last year.

Ailments and illnesses deprived the Quaker City entry of its aces. As an example, Coleman and Fowler won 28 games between them in 1949. Last year they won just one game between them!

The A's lost four starting pitchers with sore arms the last two years when Phil Marchildon, Fowler, Coleman and Bill McCahan came up with troubles. Another star, Alex Kellner, who won 20 games in '49, could win only eight while losing 20 last year.

The roster is heavy with flingers. Eighteen pitchers are in camp, with the newcomers up from Class A and lower loops for the A's have only nine minor league clubs and not much to choose from.

Fowler, the guy with the "nothing" ball who still was a tough guy to beat, hadn't pitched since last July 26, when he went home from Cleveland. But he had his bottom teeth pulled out, boils taken care of and he's in great shape and throwing every day down here at Wright Field.

The starters probably will be Lou Brissie, Bob Hooper, Kellner and Bobby Schantz.

Among the newcomers Dykes likes John Kucab, a Campbell, O., right-hander who won 16 for Lincoln of the Western league and then had a 1-1 record with the A's at the end of last season. Kucab looks as if he knows how to pitch, according to Manager Jimmy.

Another he likes is Ed Hrabcsak, a 6-foot 4-inch rightie who won nine and lost eight for Savannah. This guy is a curve-ball specialist.

Still another is Mor is Martin, who won 14 for St. Paul.

The catching staff is probably the smallest in the big leagues. There are only two members — the scrappy Joe Tipton and Joe Astroth. However, Wilmer Schantz, brother of Bobby, the pitcher, is also in training here.

Ferris Fain, the guy many clubs tried and are still trying to get, is the first sacker. A battle at second will involve aging Pete Suder, hard-hitting Billy Hitchcock and two rookies, George Moskovich, from Lincoln, and Ed Samcoff, who hit .307 for Sioux City.

Eddie Joost is the shortstop and Kermit Wahl in at third.

There are six outfielders, headed by Sam Chapman, Paul Lehner and Elmer Valo. Wally Moses, beginning his 17th season in the majors, and Barney McCoskey are insurance here.

One rookie is in the outfield contingent. He is Robert J. Wellman, a 6-foot 4-inch husky who played for Buffalo last season.

Most outstanding rookie in camp is Lou Limmer, a 6-foot 2-inch New York youth who socked 29 home runs for St. Paul last year. He's a first sacker and he may be shifted to the outfield if Fain still is around when the season opens. If the club trades or sells Fain, Limmer will be the first sacker.

Alerted Cops Handicap At Gulfstream

Stout Takes Lead For Jockey Honors

HALLANDALE, Fla., March 14 (AP)—Hampton Stable's Alerted, a castoff of Calumet Farm, captured the $5,000 Fountain of Youth Handicap at Gulfstream Park today, in a race that was marred by rough riding.

The son of Bull Lea, ridden by William McKinley Cook, finished the seven furlongs a neck before Spring Brook Farm's Pur Sang, rewarding his backers to the tune of $12.80 for each $2 investment in the straight windows.

Savoy Stable's Blue Speed, seeking his fourth straight triumph, had to be content with third money, a length back of Pur Sang, while Sam E. Wilson Jr's Royal Mustang woundup a dull sixth in the field of eight three-year-olds.

Alerted, winner of two purses earlier in the winter, covered the run in 1:24 1/5 on a track that was not at its best. His share of the purse was $3,250.

Alerted was never far back of the pace, though he dropped back to fifth place entering the stretch when the field was bunched up. He took the lead by a head reaching the eighth pole, racing along with Blue Speed, but then ducked out near the finish line, bothering the son of Blue Swords. Pur Sang was going fast at the end, and ran one of his best races since his triumph in the Jockey Club Stakes at Churchill Downs last October.

Irving Gushen's Octeen made it two in a row at Gulfstream Park today when the son of Occupation out-ran 11 other juveniles in the fourth event, a dash of three furlongs.

With Ovie Scurlock astride, the colt beat Crownlet, a recent winner here, by a head and paid a liberal $21.80. Brown Hotel Stable's Hadn't Orter was a length away in third place, with Luckey Bull fourth. The time was fast, .33 1/5.

E. V. Modica's Moon Deil, with Willie Balzaretti up, led all the way in the third, in which 11 maiden three-year-olds met at six furlongs. Paying $15.50, the son of Deil scored by a length and a half from Kentario, while Hurry-Skurry was third. The race was run in 1.13.

The second, with nine older sprinters engaged, was taken by Savoy Stable's Top Admiral, the $6.40 choice. He put Curtain Raiser away inside the sixteenth pole, slicking by a length in a fast 1.11 3/5 for the six furlongs. Brandy Punch was a fast-closing third. Top Admiral, which completed a $49 daily double, gave Jimmy Stout his 8th winner of the meeting, putting him one ahead of Apprentice Charlie Burr.

Dixie Walker Says He's Bench Manager

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 14 (INS)—Dixie Walker, the "people's choice" for many years in Brooklyn announced today that he is all through as an active player and is "strictly a bench manager" of the Atlanta Crackers from now on.

The 41-year-old former Dodger and Pittsburgh outfielder, who even got in a few games while piloting the Crackers last year, said "a fellow should hang up the spikes when he's through and that's what I intend to do."

No bird of prey, except the shrike, has the power of song.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 14 (INS)—Spencer Tracy, who always takes a long time to make up his mind about traveling anywhere, has booked passage for the last of May on the S. S. Independence sailing to Naples, my friend, Spencer, who is really excited about his trip, leaves just as soon as he finishes "The People Against O'Hara." He plans to motor through Italy, France and the English countryside. I was in London when Spencer was there in 1948 making "Edward, My Son," with Deborah Kerr, and I visited them on the set. That was his last visit.

Spencer Tracy

He'll have to be back in Hollywood by the last of June to start "Year Ago," the Ruth Gordon story, which Fredric March played on Broadway. Larry Weingarten, the producer, and Director George Cukor will have it ready when Spencer returns.

Richard Basehart, whose wife died about a year ago and to whom he was very devoted, has found a new interest in life in Valentina Cortesa.

So serious is Basehart about the Italian actress who is now under contract to 20th, that he took a suspension so he could fly to London to see her and ask her the important question.

He met her when they made a picture together in Europe and she's been the most important thing in his life since that day.

Before Richard took off to meet the lady of his heart he handed 20th an original screenplay, "Rainy Day," by Harry Essex, which he asked to do when he comes back.

Angela Green, the pretty blonde who gave up a promising career at Warners for the even better career of wife and mother when she married wealthy Stuart Martin, is doing very well in the movies again.

With Stuart's blessing, she's following her comedy role in "At War With The Army" (Martin and Lewis) with the lead opposite Johnny Weissmuller in "Jungle Safari" at Columbia.

Chatter in Hollywood:

Word from Rita Hayworth is that she definitely sails for America April 7 on her first trip since she married Aly Khan. She comes directly to Hollywood and, of course, she will confer with Charles Vidor, her favorite director.

Rita is now in Cannes, where she went to see Rebecca and Yasmin, her two daughters. Everything is wonderful with Aly and if he isn't back in time to sail with her on the 7th, he'll join her here in the USA later.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Gloria Haley (Jack's daughter) and her husband, Buddy Bregman, expect a baby in August. You can imagine Flo and Jack's excitement over the prospect of becoming grandparents.

The 25th of this month the Earl of Beatty arrives to see Merle Oberon—but I don't, for a minute, believe this is a serious romance with Merle.

Are Elizabeth Taylor and Stanley Donen cooling? She was all over Palm Springs with Ted Briskin and they had everybody looking in their direction at the Doll House.

A great break for Judy Garland and a great break for Buddy Pepper is the contract which Buddy has just received from the Palladium in London. He's signed to accompany Judy when she sings there. No doubt they will be a sensation. Judy again demonstrated, on Bing Crosby's show, what great talent is hers.

Jane Froman will do the singing in the story of her life, but she won't do the acting.

Robert Taylor, who has started to appear with different girls, still creates a sensation when he walks into a cafe. When he and Marie Windsor made a foursome at the Mocambo with Audrey Totter and Armand Deutsch the cameras were very busy.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

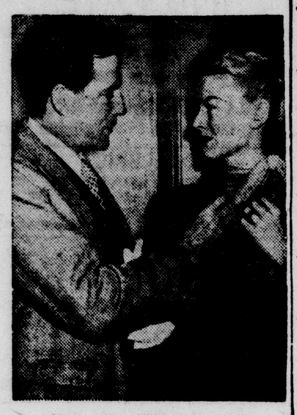
Sport Jacket Vests



Note His "Flap" Pocket

The Customers Write: C. A. Castle, "You didn't go far enough with your item about sharpening a blade in a glass. (a) Use glass exactly 2½ inches in diameter (b) Have glass slightly damp. This will give you an edge like a new blade."

Shoe Tips: If you prefer leather soles and heels but like the comfort of rubber—try wearing thin sponge rubber inner soles.

Ed Fitzgerald, of radio fame, first picks out the shoes he's going to wear—then matches the rest of the ensemble to them!

People: Police Commissioner Tom Murphy, of N. Y. C., could be starting a revival of derby hats. Some stores have had increase in calls. . . . Movie actor Glenn Ford has one of the largest pipe collections in the world. . . . Anthony Dexter, who plays Rudolph Valentino in the new movie "Valentino," is the son, grandson, great grandson and nephew of ministers. Met Opera's Felix Knight is seeking a patent on square red and round green traffic lights for people who are color blind.

New Ideas: Those sliding rugs will stay put if rubbed with a new product called No-Slip Powder. . . . Sessions Clock Co. doesn't rely on an alarm-radio to keep you awake. They have a switch-timer that also rings a bell, ten minutes after the radio turns on.

Care of Clothes: A water spot on a silk tie can be easily removed by first allowing it to dry—then rubbing with the fabric itself, a tissue or the clean edge of silver coin. Give leather sweatband on your hat an occasional soap and water rub—keeps it from smudging your forehead.

Odd Items: Did you know that forest fires sometimes travel at the rate of fifty miles per hour? . . . There are 21,000,000 cats in the U. S. . . . TV fans are brushing up on their Roman numerals so that when an old movie is run they can tell the date when it was made by reading the numerals which appear at the beginning. . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars" to—Leo Durocher, who, on radio and TV, displays topflight erudition and dramatic talent.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: FOR CAMBRIDGE PEOPLE RARELY SMILE, BEING URBAN, SQUAT, AND PACKED WITH GUILE—BROOKE.

"The Authority on Authorities"

LOW CARDS PROMOTED

YOU MAY not have a really high card in your entire hand. But if your partner has shown a powerhouse with his bidding—especially if he has opened with a suit bid of two—he could not possibly be expecting high card strength opposite him. His bid has told you in effect that he has so much in high cards he doesn't count on you to have anything. Furthermore, if you fit his suit and have shortage elsewhere, your small cards are promoted into mighty trick-takers.

	♠ K 8 6 5 3 2 ♥ None ♦ 7 6 ♣ 10 8 6 5 2
♠ 7 4 ♥ A K J 10 8 5 ♦ K Q J 9 5 ♣ None	N W E S	♠ None ♥ 9 6 4 2 ♦ 10 8 4 3 2 ♣ 9 7 4 3

South	West	North	East
2 ♠	3 ♥	Pass	Pass
3 ♠	4 ♦	Pass	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	5 ♥
Dbl	Rdbl

Figure out for yourself the number of points East and West got out of that deal, which produced an extra trick, with West losing to only the diamond A. Also figure out what North and South could have made by bidding the vulnerable grand slam in spades which was in the cards, and which West might have doubled because of his heart tops. Add them together and you will see how many points were influenced by North's inane passes.

After the disaster, he pleade to South that he didn't bid be cause he had no high cards i the other suits to supplement his spades. He should have realized that his K made spades almost certainly solid, and that his heart blank was as good as the top honors of that suit. He had several ways to show his stuff, which had been promoted into terrific support for such a hand as South held. He could have bid the opponents' hearts as a cue-bid to okeh spades and show his lack of heart losers, or he could have bid whatever number of spades he considered sound. At least small slam would have been a cinch to reach if he had done any of these things.

The parting classic was his criticism of South "You should have bid clubs on the second turn and on your third should have rebid spades, unless I had supported them in the meantime That would have made it easier for me to act, since I fitted clubs too."

Market Is Battered Down By Late Surge Of Selling

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP) — The stock market struggled valiantly to get ahead today but was battered down by a late selling surge.

The railroads and a long list of widely diversified issues were comfortably ahead in the third and fourth hours, but everything fell before the barrage of late selling.

The fall brought out many losses of $1 and $2, and in some instances it pushed to nearly $3 a share. Infrequent gains among the leaders were held to less than a dollar.

The aircrafts were hard hit as were steels, a number of rails, rubbers, farm implements, chemicals, some air lines and building material issues.

Total trading for the day came to 2,110,000 shares as compared with 2,330,000 shares traded yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 20 cents at $91.90. The industrial component was down $12.30, rails 60 cents and utilities 20 cents.

Out of the 15 most active issues only Pennsylvania Railroad managed to make a gain—up ⅛ at 21½. It was the fourth most active issue. The carrier declared a 50 cent dividend, its 229th in the last 104 years. It hasn't skipped a year. In 1950 the road paid 50 cents each in November and April.

International Telephone was the day's most active issue off ⅛ at 16 1-5. Directors declared a 15-cent dividend.

The Milwaukee Road was second most active off ⅛ at 26⅝. Directors declared a $2 dividend payable out of 1950 earnings.

Delegation Gives City Home Rule Green Light

Off-Street Parking Also Gets Boost

The Allegany County Delegation yesterday issued favorable reports on bills providing statutory Home Rule for Cumberland and for an enabling act to allow the city to establish off-street parking facilities.

The first, House Bill 523, introduced by the Delegation, includes a local referendum. It adds eight new sections to the city charter but does not authorize the city to abolish the Civil Service or Merit System and prohibits the city from dropping any such jobs.

The second, House Bill 527, which authorizes the city to finance off-street parking, was amended by the Delegation to include a referendum.

Introduced yesterday was House Bill 588, by Delegates Reed and See, which would eliminate Allegany County from a list of counties in which officers may examine a motor vehicle without a warrant, under certain conditions.

In seven Maryland counties, including Allegany, officers can stop and search a vehicle to examine the owner's game and fish bag and make sure the hunter is conforming with the law.

Pay Raises Deferred

The Delegation yesterday discussed, but deferred action on finance bills requested by the City of Cumberland and increases for city firemen and policemen.

The Delegation said a petition has also been received from 28 other city employes, asking for wage boosts similar to police and firemen.

Charles M. See, chairman, said the Delegation will discuss the above bills today, but added it may be Friday before a definite decision is reached.

Chairman See said the Delegation has not returned a decision on a bill setting up a special taxing area for Bowling Green.

He added, however, that it "looks like it may get a favorable report" as it includes a referendum.

Bill To Aid Industry

The Delegation yesterday introduced a bill which would allow the City of Cumberland and Allegany County to give $5,000 each toward industrial development work here.

Chairman See said the measure will receive a favorable report, adding that if it brings only one factory into the county it will be worth the cost.

Introduced yesterday by Senator Kimble was SB357, to set up an Allegany County Civil Service Commission and a classified city service to embrace all officers and employes of the city, with certain exceptions.

Reconsidered yesterday by the House was SB221—by Fraley—to provide a new charter for the town of Friendsville, Garrett County, and to submit same to a referendum.

Bills Signed Into Law

Signed by governor were:

HB162—by See and Kelley—providing for trial magistrates at Oldtown and Flintstone.

HB170—by Garrett Delegation—specifying that primary elections for county commissioners in Garrett County shall be by commissioners districts.

HB271—by Garrett Delegation—changing the tax levy and due dates in Garrett County.

HB91—by Reed—applying bus safety regulations to all motor vehicles transporting school children in Allegany County.

Kite Flyers Told Of Wire Danger

Those who find March winds ideal for kite and model airplane flying were warned this week by local power company safety experts to practice their sport in open fields, well away from high tension lines.

"Tragic accidents which sometimes occur to kite and model airplane fans may be avoided by taking proper precautions," the Potomac Edison Company spokesman said.

Safety posters now are being distributed to schools in this area by PE. These posters give the following rules — Keep kites and model planes away from electric wires; use dry cotton string only; never use metal on kites, and never climb poles.

The safety expert said that in addition to causing serious personal injuries; mis-use of kites and model planes may cause disruption of electric service to hospitals, factories and homes.

WEATHER

What may have been the last storm of the winter struck the local area last night leaving roads impassable, and causing several accidents. Cumberland received little snow, but rain fell most of the day. Highest temperature recorded at Constitution Park weather station was 34 and lowest was 31. Total precipitation was .80 inches with snow measuring less than half an inch. It was 31 degrees last night at 9:30 o'clock. Today's prediction calls for rather cold with occasional wet snow falling in this area.

B. & O. Sets Two New Efficiency Records In 1950

Freight Traffic, Revenue Show Gain

BALTIMORE, March 14 (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad reported today it set two new operating efficiency records in 1950.

Its freight traffic increased by 13.5 per cent, with a corresponding increase in freight revenue over 1949. Passenger revenue was up slightly. There were fewer passengers, but more of them rode in parlor and sleeping cars.

Total income during the year was $411,228,553.

The figures were published today in the railroad's annual report to stockholders.

The operating records were on two highly technical measurements which railroad experts use to judge freight handling efficiency. One of them involves the number of tons per train. The other is the ratio of ton-miles to hours of crew time.

Facilities Improved

The B & O attributed the gains to larger freight cars and more powerful locomotives, improved roadway, yards and signals, better supervision and new facilities.

Other highlights of the annual report:

Coal and coke constituted 42 per cent of the 1950 freight traffic.

Passenger traffic declined 15.8 per cent but passenger revenue was up 1.65 per cent.

The B & O spent $24,481,112 in new facilities or modernization of old ones. Principal projects started during the year were a new ore pier on the Baltimore waterfront which soon will start unloading South American iron ore from ships and a new double-track tunnel on the main line between Grafton and Clarksburg, W. Va.

Other installations noted were a centralized traffic control system between Grafton and Parkersburg, W. Va., and two-way radio equipment between Connellsville, Pa., and Fairmont, W. Va.

The B & O added 174 new diesel locomotives to its fleet during 1950. When 84 more on order at the end of the year are delivered it will have 596.

The number of employes during 1950 averaged 53,595, up 7.5 per cent. Their pay, plus taxes for retirement and unemployment insurance, averaged $3,983 and this was the highest in the company's history.

Payments for damaged freight were reduced almost 25 per cent during the year.

The outstanding bonded debt was reduced $5,765,500 during the year to $501,700,850. The amount it owes on purchase of equipment was reduced by $509,563.

Preston Pickets In Court Today

About 100 union pickets in the Preston County, W. Va., coal fields will enter pleas to felony and misdemeanor indictments today beginning at 10 a. m. before Circuit Court Judge C. P. Wilhelm, Sheriff J. H. Benson said last night.

The cases will be set for trial at later dates.

The indictments were returned last Thursday by the Preston County grand jury which was recalled to investigate alleged "repeated violations of the Red Man Act."

Sheriff Benson added that about 20 carloads of pickets were out yesterday morning but "stayed only a couple of hours." No violence was reported in the area.

Four B. & O. Coal Cars Derailed Near Hyndman

Main Line Blocked For Four Hours

Four empty coal hoppers of westbound Baltimore and Ohio freight train No. 6206 were derailed yesterday morning at 945 o'clock near Fairhope, Pa., about three miles west of Hyndman on the Pittsburgh Division. No one was injured.

Maintenance crews worked until 1:30 p. m. yesterday before the two main tracks were cleared for traffic.

Two westbound freight trains, two eastbound freights and one westbound passenger train had to be detoured over the Western Maryland Railroad from Cumberland to Keystone, Pa.

Conductor C. T. Everett and Engineer J. M. Bradburn were the train's crew.

The freight was traveling upgrade at the time of the mishap and railroad officials were unable to give an immediate explanation of the cause. Further investigation is being conducted.

Manslaughter Trial Of Hughes Set For April 11

Case Is Removed To Hagerstown

A case that probably will attract many witnesses from the Georges Creek area, the trial of William J. Hughes, 25, of Midland, on a manslaughter charge, has been set for Wednesday, April 11, in the Washington County Circuit Court in Hagerstown.

Hughes was indicted last October 3 by a grand jury in Allegany County Circuit Court in a true bill which contended that he did "kill and slay" Thomas Robertson, 44, Lonaconing, last May 3.

Robertson died in Miners Hospital, Frostburg, the night of May 3 from injuries allegedly sustained when he was struck by a truck driven by Hughes on the Old Coney Cemetery Road near Lonaconing.

The court ordered the Hughes case transferred to the Hagerstown court last October 11 on the request of Hughes' attorneys.

Hughes had gone to a coal company office at Knapp's Meadows to get a check shortly before the fatal accident occurred.

Robertson was one of 32 pickets in the vicinity to prevent movement of non-union mined coal. He and Melvin Cutheston, 36, Gilmore, were struck by the Hughes-driven truck when he returned from the coal company office. Cuthertson received a broken wrist.

Other pickets told police the truck swerved, striking Robertson and throwing him headfirst on a bumper guard of a parked car.

Shortly after the tragedy Hughes was quoted as saying that a footlong board carrying 10 20-penny nails had been placed under the outside right rear tire of his truck, apparently when he stopped. Hughes found the board in the deflated tire when he arrived at the mine, it was reported.

Hughes will be represented at the trial by Attorneys Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., and Edward J. Ryan.

The maximum penalty provided for conviction of manslaughter by motor vehicle under state law is three years in jail or the House of Correction or $1,000 fine or both.

Tractor School Will End Tonight

The final session in the current Tractor School for Allegany County 4-H Club boys will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Jenkins & Schriver Company, 133 South Mechanic Street.

Corriganville Fire Company To Mark 12th Anniversary

A 12th anniversary celebration of the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company will be held tomorrow evening at the fire hall. A banquet will begin at 6 p. m. at which time William A. Wilson, treasurer of the State Firemen Association will speak on "Benefits of a Volunteer Fire Company to a Community".

Harry R. Wilson, president of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen Association will also speak. The history of the company will be given by Joseph C. Stuckey, captain of Corriganville Fire Company, Chief Harry W. Martz will report on his department and Harry C. Walters, past president of the County Association will give a financial report.

Following the banquet a dance will be held beginning at 9 p. m. with music by the Blue Notes.

The Corriganville Volunteer Firemen organized in 1939. Sixteen citizens of the community became members, four of whom are still active. Joseph C. Stuckey was instrumental in getting the company started while Chief Snyder, LaVale, gave much encouragement and assistance.

The first piece of fire fighting apparatus was a small truck equipped with chemicals and hose. It had been purchased from the Barton Fire Company. The newly organized firemen met at the Reformed Church Hall and later at the Public School until their present fire hall was built in 1941, at a cost of $2,000 and volunteer labor from members and townspeople.

An addition was put on the building in 1947 and the present two-story structure which measures 60 feet by 72 feet, houses the engine room, a club room, and a public meeting hall used for various school activities, clinics etc.

Plans are underway for construction of a third floor for use as added room space and temporary living quarters in the event any family is burned out.

The present apparatus owned by the company consists of two completely equipped trucks, a portable pump and light plant as well as an emergency ambulance used widely as a public service.

The four charter members still active in the company include Chief Harry C. Walters, Harry W. Martz, George Bowers and Joseph Stuckey.

State Purchase Of Parkway Land Is Opposed By Three Counties

Claim Plan Harmful To Industry

ANNAPOLIS, Md., (AP)— Decision on proposed state purchase of land for development of a parkway on the Chesapeake & Ohio canal bed was put off for this session yesterday after three of the four affected counties opposed it.

Residents of Frederick, Montgomery and Washington Counties opposed a bill authorizing purchase of 11,000 acres of land by the state for development of the parkway. Allegany alone favored it.

The state would cede the land to the federal government to build the parkway at a cost estimated last year at $17,000,000.

The plan was attacked as detrimental to industry and wildlife as well as another removal of land subject to local taxation.

One of the main worries over the denial of access by industry to the Potomac River caused the Senate Finance Committee to take a delaying action which will forstall any General Assembly decision this session.

To Rewrite Bill

Chairman Goldstein (D-Calvert) appointed Senators Kimble (R-Allegany, Ramsburg (R-Frederick) and Barton (D-Balto 2nd) to remove any enabling power from the bill which Kimble introduced. They will rewrite it to have the State Roads Commission study particularly an effort to have the federal government guarantee access rights across the parkway to the Potomac.

The federal government now owns the 185-mile canal between Georgetown, D. C., and Cumberland. Except for 23 miles, it has been abandoned as a waterway parallelling the Potomac.

Lack of guaranteed permanent access water rights to the Potomac already has cost Washington County one industry, James Stone, of the Hagerstown Retailers Bureau, and other speakers told the committee.

Lost duPont Plant

Instead, they said the Du Pont Company had decided to build a new explosives manufacturing plant across the potomac near Martinsburg, W. Va.

If the parkway is constructed, a Western Maryland Railroad spokesman said:

"For our share of the economic worth the river can produce, Maryland will have a scenic parkway and West Virginia tremendous industry."

Damage Suits Seek $26,500 From Accident

Sherman, Cousins Deaths Recalled

Two suits seeking damages totaling $26,500, filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court, recalled the tragic traffic accident last November 13 on Route 40, between Keyser's Ridge and Grantsville, in which two Cumberland men lost their lives.

One suit, for $25,000 damages, was filed for the use of Mrs. Barbara Cousins, widow of William M. Cousins, 318 Pennsylvania Avenue, one of the two men killed in the crash. The other, filed by Harry K. Kenny, administrator of Cousin's estate, seeks $1,500 damages to cover burial and other large expenses coincident with the man's death.

Both actions, filed by Former Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan, named William A. Gunter, administrator of the estate of William R. Sherman, as defendant.

Sherman, 26, of 1000 Oldtown Road, was the driver of the automobile involved in the fatal crash. He and Cousins apparently were killed instantly. Sherman was president of the Tri-State Climatic Corporation and Cousins was employed as an installer by the same firm. They had been working in Uniontown, Pa., the day of the accident and were en route back to Cumberland when the car smashed into a heavy Garret County Roads Department truck.

The declarations said that Cousins was riding as a guest of Sherman in the latter's car. It is further contended that the highway in different spots was covered with sheets of ice. Despite this, the declarations asserted, Sherman drove his car at a dangerous, unlawful and excessive speed, between 60 and 70 miles per hour.

Seek Easement To Move Traffic Past Flood Work

May Detour Vehicles Via City Hall Plaza

City officials are negotiating for a temporary easement necessary to maintain a flow of traffic down North Mechanic Street while the Frederick Street pressure conduit is being installed.

An attempt is being made to secure permission to use part of the Holland Service Station apron to route traffic past the Flood Control project.

Albert S. Paye, city flood control liaison engineer, said the city needs 17 feet of the driveway to maintain one-way traffic around North Mechanic Street from Bedford to Frederick Streets.

Traffic would come down North Mechanic to Bedford and then, via City Hall Plaza, go down North Liberty Street to Baltimore Street or return to North Mechanic Street by way of Frederick.

Paye said a bridge can be placed across the trench at Frederick and Mechanic Streets to keep traffic moving at that point.

The Fire Department, he added, has approved the plan.

Officials said the only alternative would be to block off North Mechanic Street from Market to Frederick Streets, and allow only those who have actual business to use that portion of the street.

The pressure conduit work will begin at Wills Creek near the Eagles Home, continue on North Mechanic Street to Frederick Street, then follow Frederick under the B. and O. crossing to a point beyond Henderson Avenue.

A branch of the conduit will leave the main line at an alley near the Stein Funeral Home and connect with the culvert under the B. and O. freight house.

Officials said the superintendent of the Thomas Earle and Sons contracting firm of Philadelphia is due here this week and that work on the sub-contract may get under way within the next 10 days.

State Seeking Orderly Growth For Gas Fields

Garrett County "Gold Rush" Noted

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 14 (AP)— "It's like a gold rush" to develop the natural gas field in Garrett County, the head of the Department of Geology said today.

"A gambling spirit" hangs over the area with producers crowding in to tap the gas which started coming in about a year ago, Joseph Singewald told the House Ways and Means Committee.

Singewald wants to put some restrictions on the development, and Garrett County wants to reap some benefits by taxing the gas.

Two bills to accomplish both purposes were considered by the House committee. The Senate already has passed a bill to let the county put a seven per cent tax on producers.

Representatives of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company and Columbia Carbon Co. protested the tax as a restraint on development.

Louis Jones, attorney for Columbia, conceded his company is resigned to some taxation but "it should be proportioned between the producer and purchaser."

Cumberland and Allegheny representatives felt the tax was properly on the producer, but objected to collecting it as provided in the bill introduced by Senator Fraley (R-Garrett).

Issues 32 Permits

Singewald reported his department has issued 32 permits for drilling in the 40-mile stretch of Garrett County in which natural gas is likely applications are coming in.

He said the race was spurred on by tapping in January of a well producing 12,000,000 cubic feet daily. The average well, he added, is producing 300,000 cubic feet.

"The drilling rush is just on," he said, and state regulation is needed in the interest of conservation and economy.

"Those who prefer to be nonrestricted opportunists and to gamble on obtaining more than a fair share of this natural resource," will not favor enactment of the regulatory bill, Singewald said.

Among these are Garrett County legislators, he added.

He said he had talked several times with Senator Fraley about introducing the bill. "He kept stalling me off" until finally House Speaker Luber (D-Balto. 5th) put it in.

"Now he (Fraley) asks you not to pass this bill at this session because it is so late."

Urges Orderly Growth

"Uncontrolled drilling of unnecessary wells can readily result in the waste of a large sum of money," the geologist said.

"Unnecessarily closely spaced wells results also in uneven exhaustion and in uneven lowering of the gas pressure in the pool which can result in reduction in the ultimate gas recovered from the pool."

Singewald maintained the small operator and owners of land without wells in the drilling areas would be protected by state control of spacing. Otherwise, he said, the owner of a small lot could put in a well and draw the gas off adjoining land.

"In the build-up portion of Mountain Lake Park," he said as an example, "the average acreage per well is already reduced to 16 acres.

"Most of these wells are being drilled on leases of town lot size. The owner of such a well at present takes the gas belonging to a number of surrounding lot owners whose only recourse to obtain their share of the gas would be to drill wells on their lots."

Frank Boyd, a geologist for the Cumberland & Allegheny Gas Company, argued the producers are going to be interested in economy and efficiency without state regulation because it is their money.

Firemen Talk On Bomb Action

Necessary action in the event of bombing was discussed by representatives of many of the county's fire companies at a Civil Defense meeting last night in the Public Safety Building.

The Cumberland Fire Department and about 15 of the volunteer companies in the county were represented at last night's session, according to Joseph G. Wenrich, Cresaptown, who has been serving as acting chairman at these weekly meetings.

Speakers last night were Earl Booth, fire chief at the Amcelle plant; Arthur Howard, fire chief at the Kelly-Springfield plant, and Brook Bodkin, forest fire supervisor.

Wenrich said that the meeting next week will be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday at Shaft. The purpose will be to get full representation from the volunteer fire departments in the Georges Creek area. A number of them have not been represented at the sessions in Cumberland.

New Wage Board Plan Opposed By Industry

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—The nation's top industrial and business leaders said today that while they opposed giving a proposed new Wage Stabilization Board full authority to settle disputes, they would not walk out if such an agency is created.

"We will not boycott any part of the mobilization effort," John C. Gall of the Business Advisory Council told a news conference at which management 's opposition to rebuilding the wage board as a "catch all" disputes handling board was given in detail.

Gall said the National Association of Manufacturers, and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and Business Advisory Council, a group connected with the Commerce Department, would not challenge Economic Stabilized Eric Johnston's action if such a board is set up.

But, Gall added, individual employers might challenge it if Johnston goes ahead contrary to management's wishes.

Packers' Pay Hike Rejected

Johnston has been trying to set up a new wage board in order to persuade labor leaders to return to the mobilization setup.

Labor spokesmen withdrew from the mobilization agencies in protest against a wage raise limiting formula they did not like.

Even as management stated its views on the proposal to get them back, the pay issue came to a boil in a new and vital place.

Johnston turned down an 11-cent hourly pay increase negotiated for 220,000 packing house employes. He said it would break through the formula, generally holding raises to 10 per cent above the levels of January, 1950.

"There will be a strike later if this is not approved," newsmen were promptly told by Ralph Helstein, president of the CIO packing house workers union.

Later at a news conference he said his union would be "free to strike" March 26 but the date would be fixed by an executive committee now meeting here.

Eight Cents Too High

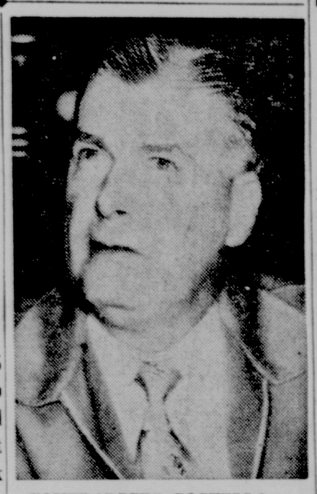
Johnston told a news conference that only three cents of the 11-cent raise agreed to by the packers Feb. 8 would fit into the 10 per cent formula. The men got another 11 cents last November, he pointed out, and 11 cents now would put their pay 17 per cent above the base rate.

In that situation, Johnston said, the additional eight cents must be knocked out unless a reconstituted stabilization board can be persuaded to approve it as a solution for hardship or inequity.

The economic stabilizer said he has no intention of breaking the formula himself.



CONTRADICTS COSTELLO — James F. McLaughlin, a former telephone company employe, testified before the Senate crime investigating committee yesterday he was paid between $300 and $400 by Frank Costello a few years ago to guard the gambler against wiretaps. Earlier Costello said he never had paid to have his phone checked for wiretapping. (AP Wirephoto)

BULLETIN

DETROIT, March 15 (Thursday) (AP) — Three to five persons were reported killed shortly after midnight when a southbound New York Central passenger train cracked up in suburban Trenton.

State police said they had no report on the number of casualties. Eight ambulances and a coroner's car hurried to the scene.

2 To 4% Increase In Freight Rates Approved By ICC

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — The railroad industry today won approval for a new $200,000,000-a-year freight rate increase — the ninth since World War II — despite protests by federal inflation fighters.

The Interstate Commerce Commission authorized the boost, overruling objections by the Economic Stabilization Agency, half a dozen other federal bureaus, and a long list of state utility commissions.

ESA officials had complained that higher freight rates would be promptly reflected in higher prices of numerous everyday commodities. They said any increase would jeopardize government efforts to "hold the line" on prices.

The ICC disclaimed any intention of interfering with the drive to stabilize prices, but said it is required by law to authorize "just and reasonable" rates to keep the railroads operating efficiently.

The eight previous postwar increases have raised freight rates an average of 57 per cent. The railroads contend their operating costs have gone up more than twice as much.

The new authorization will permit rates to go up four per cent in the East (north of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers and east of the Mississippi) and two per cent elsewhere.

In other developments:

1. Republicans blocked an administration attempt to ram a 90-day extension of federal rent controls through the House Banking Committee.

Housing Expediter Tighe Woods told the committee that rent controls in many important defense production areas will expire automatically on March 31 unless Congress acts to extend the present law.

2. The government disclosed it has approved tax benefits for industrial expansion costing some $2,683,000,000 in a move to encourage private business to expand for the defense program.

3. Price Director Michael V. DiSalle's agency issued a new regulation setting dollars-and-cents ceiling prices on rice at the mill or processor level. Consumer prices are not affected.

4. Price Chief DiSalle held an all-day meeting with 27 selected industrialists in an attempt to gain support for a proposed new price formula.

Gromyko Bids For Agreement

PARIS, March 14 (AP) — Soviet Deputy Andrei Gromyko made a bid for Western agreement today by suddenly rewording every one of his points for a Big Four foreign ministers discussion.

Western diplomats said, however, he had conceded virtually nothing on his bed-rock position that the No. 1 point must be discussion of the demilitarization of Germany as agreed upon by the four powers at Potsdam in 1945.

He also clung to his demand for a discussion of arms reduction by the four powers.

The United States, British and French deputies have taken the position that the Potsdam agreement has been outdated by events—the failure to unite Germany, the creation of a Soviet-sponsored police army in Eastern Germany, and the rising level of armed forces behind the iron curtain—and that the No. 1 point must be discussion of these issues of international tension.

No Basis For Reports War Will End Soon

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—The State Department said tonight that the Communist appear to be as determined as ever to drive the U. N. forces out of Korea.

Press Officer Michael McDermott declared "there is no basis whatever" for reports which have circulated in Wall Street that the Korean war will end in a few days. Asked about these reports, McDermott said:

"There is no basis whatever for any such reports. There is no indication whatever that the other side has given up its thought of driving us out of Korea."

Russia Forcing U. S. To Rearm, Truman Asserts

KEY WEST, Fla., March 14 (AP)—President Truman bluntly accused Soviet Russia today of forcing the United States to help rearm the free world by its own aggression and "ruthless program of rearmament."

He cited repeated Russian refusal to agree on a "foolproof" program for control of atomic and other weapons. This, he said, makes it vital for the United States to build up its defenses "as quickly and vigorously as possible."

The President declared American rearmament is "above all, an effort to prevent a world conflict." But he added it is also "an effort to prepare our defenses to meet such a conflict if it is forced upon us."

Mr. Truman voiced his indictment of Red Russia in a letter to a bipartisan group of senators and representatives who had urged him to make a series of concrete proposals to the Russians for disarmament in the interest of peace.

The group is headed by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt).

U. S. War Casualties Increase To 54,649

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—Announced U. S. combat casualties in Korea reached 54,649 today, an increase of 2,201 since last week.

A cumulative summary through March 9, issued by the Defense Department, listed 8,101 killed in action, 36,108 wounded and 10,440 missing in action.

The wounded total includes 937 who later died. Also 85 among the missing are known dead, raising total combat deaths to 9,123.

Earthquake Terrifies Millions Of Europeans

FRANKFURT, Germany, March 14 (AP) — A powerful earthquake centered in the Rhineland mountains terrified millions of Europeans today, shook down some bomb ruins and injured a score of persons.

Quick speculation by the man-in-the-street and some officials that the shaking might have been caused by an atomic explosion in the Soviet zone was discounted by officials of the Stuttgart observatory after a careful investigation.

Senators Warn Kayo Punch By Russia Could Fall Soon

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — Two Senate committees said tonight that it appears to be only a matter of time until Russia will have enough atomic bombs for a "surprise knockout punch." They called America a "high priority target".

The joint report from the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees was issued in support of their backing for troops-to-Europe resolutions which the Senate is to start debating tomorrow.

The two groups said that if the free West is not strong enough to defend against a land invasion when Russia's a-bombs are ready, Soviet domination of all Europe "would be easily possible."

The committees came out with their report shortly after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) told the Senate that defense of Western Europe is doomed to failure unless the free nations recruit the manpower of Japan, Nationalist China, Spain and Western Germany.

McCarthy said he did not object to President Truman's plan to send four more American divisions to Europe, but said he wanted a real defense planned, "not a phonny defense under which those American troops will be condemned to death or permanent slavery in some Siebrian prison camp".

McCarthy lashed out again at personalities in the State Department, demanding that what he called "the crimson clique" there be cleaned out.

Costello May Be Prosecuted For Perjury

Justice Dept. Will Check Testimony

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—Senate crime probers today accused Racketeer Frank (The Hands) Costello of flirting with perjury and said they would ask the Justice Department to see if he can be prosecuted.

Costello testified he never paid anyone to have his telephone checked for wire-tapping.

But up popped another witness—a former phone company employe—to flatly contradict him. This witness, James F. McLaughlin, swore Costello paid him between $300 and $400 to guard against wire taps a few years ago.

Checked O'Dwyer's Phone

Said Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee:

"As the matter now appears, it is impossible to reconcile the testimony of Mr. Costello and Mr. McLaughlin as to whether someone checked his wires. So on the basis of that, someone has committed perjury."

McLaughlin, in his testimony, also mentioned checking William O'Dwyer's phone, and finding it untapped. That was in 1945, he said, when O'Dwyer successfully was campaigning for mayor of New York.

He said an acquaintance of Costello's asked him to check the O'Dwyer phone.

Memory Improves

The Senate committee called Costello a liar earlier in the day and used a perjury threat to bludgeon from him information on money he has hidden around town.

He then testified he had $40,000 or $50,000 in cash in a strongbox in his home. Later, he tactily admitted there is another $100,000 or so stuffed away in New York City banks.

Costello spent three hours in the witness chair today, following his all-day session yesterday. Then he was excused until tomorrow.

Air Force Alerts ROTC Graduates

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — All Air Force ROTC students graduating from college this year — a contingent of some 8,100 — were alerted for active duty by the air force today.

Those who left school at midterm will be called up within 90 to 120 days, the Air Force said. June graduates will receive their orders and be commissioned second lieutenants within 90 days of graduation.

As the Air Force dipped into the Reserve Officers Training Corps for new officer strength, administration leaders in the House decided to postpone House consideration of the universal military training and service bill until after the Easter recess.

The House Armed Services Committee has agreed on a draft age of 18½ and extension of the service period from 21 months to 26, but Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) decided today it could not get the bill in shape for House debate before the recess March 22. That will delay consideration until after the members return April 2.

Couple Crosses Atlantic In Their Sea-Going Truck

They plan to return to the United States by way of the Pacific.

"I know the Atlantic all too well now," remarked Carlin, an Australian-born former officer in the Indian Army who now claims New York for his residence.

They reached the Azores in August after 32 days of chugging, but almost lost their lives in a violent storm between there and the Madeira Islands on Dec. 4 and 5.

Top Graduate Tops At Home, Too

Maj. Lee Van Gossick is tops in his class, tops in the university records and tops at home, too, if the actions of his youngsters are any indication. The Air Force major leads the winter graduating class at Ohio State University with a point hour average of 3.99, just short of the perfect 4-point average. In five years in college, he made one "B" and the rest "As." He says games played by Cindy, 4, and Roger, 7, didn't bother his studying. (Story at bottom of page)

Truman's Plan To Reorganize RFC Squeaks Through House

Senate GOP Joins Drive To Kill Agency

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—President Truman's plan to reorganize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation—and perhaps save its life—squeaked through the House today. Shortly afterward, however, the Senate Republican leadership joined officially in the drive already undertaken by the House GOP Policy Committee to kill the huge agency.

About the same time Rep. Hays (D-Ohio) turned down a bid from Senate investigators to tell them the names of two senators he says influenced multi-million dollar RFC loans. He said the senators could dig out the facts for themselves.

The Senate Republican stand was reported by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) after a meeting of the party policy committee which he heads.

He said the group demanded abolition for the much criticized corporation. The House policy committee took a similar stand yesterday.

Taft said the Senate group will ask that the current investigation by a Senate Banking Subcommittee be continued, with more money for the job. Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) has said the job is about done.

Because of those decisions, Taft added, Senate Republicans will try to defeat the reorganization proposal.

Earlier in the day Fulbright had written Hays inviting him to appear before the committee tomorrow or Friday and give any information he has on influence-wielding around RFC.

The Ohio Congressman, in a House speech yesterday, said two senators had put on pressure for $18,500,000 of loans to the Carthage Hydrocol Company headed by Guy Gabrielson, Republican national chairman.

He told reporters he would name the senators in a broadcast last night but on the air he only used names in saying Sens. Bricker (R-Ohio) and Capehart (R-Ind) had "contacted" him immediately after the House speech. He said Bricker threatened a libel suit if Bricker was named as one who put on pressure.

Amid the other swift RFC developments, word came from former President Hoover, who persuaded to create the agency in 1931, that he believes it should be abolished.

His views were stated in a letter to Rep. Widnall (R-NJ) which the Congressman put into the Congressional Record.

Ex-No. 1 U. S. Red Is Freed Of Contempt

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — Earl Browder, former No. 1 American Communist, was freed today of a contempt of Congress charge.

Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts granted a motion for acquittal without letting the case go to a jury.

He did this primarily on a finding that a Senate subcommittee did not make a direct issue with Browder over his refusal to answer certain questions in a hearing on Communists-in-government charges by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The court also indicated doubt of the pertinency of the rejected questions, all asked by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa).

During the trial, Sen. McCarthy appeared in an unusual role as the only witness offered by the defense. From the witness stand, he renewed his attack on former Sen. Tydings (D-Md), chairman of the Foreign Relations subcommittee which made the inquiry.

McCarthy told the court there was "perfect cooperation" between Tydings and Browder.

"The witness was doing exactly what the chairman wanted him to — that is, conduct Operation Whitewash," the Senator testified.

After the acquittal reporters asked Browder whether he was grateful to McCarthy for appearing as a defense witness. The Senator accepted a subpoena though he did not have to do so. He volunteered a comment of his own that it was a strange role for him to appear as a defense witness for a Communist.

"Why should I be?" Browder replied to the question about gratitude. "He is responsible for me being here at all.

"His appearance made it clear that the whole case was a political football in the struggle for power."

Veteran Kills Three, Then Flees Into Woods

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., March 14 (INS)—A wounded Korean war veteran ran amok in a Wilkes-Barre suburb today, killing his estranged wife, father-in-law and brother-in-law.

Armed with rifle and revolver, the veteran, Edward Rovenski, fled to nearby woods. State and municipal police patrolled the area tonight, but they indicated they may not attempt to flush him out until daybreak because he is a combat-trained sharpshooter.

Columbia Physics Teacher Arrested On Perjury Count

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—William Perl, 32-year-old Columbia University physics instructor, was arrested by the FBI tonight on perjury charges.

A federal grand jury, in an indictment returned yesterday but not made public pending his arrest, accused him of lying about his relationship with alleged atomic spies now on trial here.

Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Perl had been under investigation since shortly after the arrest of Harry Gold in May, 1950.

The indictment charged Perl with four counts of perjury in connection with testimony he gave on Aug. 18 and Sept. 11, 1950, in which he denied acquaintance with Julius Rosenberg and Morton Sobell, on trial in New York on espionage charges.

Dulles Says Reds Plan Blood Bath

PHILADELPHIA, March 14 (AP)—Ambassador John Foster Dulles said tonight that Moscow is seeking to carry out a 25-year-old plan to clamp Soviet control on Asia by violence.

That is why, he said, Russia recently broke off discussions looking toward a peace treaty with Japan.

Dulles, who is President Truman's special envoy for Japanese treaty negotiations, said Moscow's immediate purpose apparently is to spread anxiety in Japan and other areas now protected by western forces. Predicting failure for this effort and for a Communist campaign to "immerse Asia in a bath of blood," he declared that the power of fraud and terrorism is waning.

He acknowledged that American officials were disappointed by the recent announcement by Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik that he would discontinue the treaty talks which had been in progress off and on for five months.

"Russia should be the first to go along with a Japanese peace, for it already has all the Japanese loot and territory it could possibly expect," he said.

Ohio State Student Misses Perfection By 1-100th Point

That 1/100th is all that separates Lee Van Gossick from perfection. It is the one tiny speck on the most amazing scholastic record in the university's history.

Gossick, a 31-year-old Air Force major with a wife and two children, will be graduated Friday with an average of 3.99 points.

That means that throughout five years of college he earned "A" in all courses, with one exception.

A university spokesman, proudly announcing the university's brainiest graduate, moaned:

"And couldn't you shoot the professor who gave him that 'B'?"

Gossick is philosophical about the one slip.

"My friends," he said, "told me the 'B' proved I was human."

The "B" incidentally, was in a course called "classical dynamics". It dealt with physics.

Gossick will receive two degrees Friday; Bachelor of science in aeronautical engineering and master of science.

Then a vacation after those five years of terrific study?

No, sir. Two days later Maj. Gossick will report for duty at the Wright-Patterson Air Force base, near Dayton, Ohio.

Other Troops Only 18 Miles From Parallel

Yanks, ROKs Enter Capital Unopposed

TOKYO, Thursday, March 15 (AP) — Seoul fell bloodlessly today to Allied troops driving north toward the 38th Parallel against retreating Reds.

U. S. Third Division and South Korean troops began entering the ancient capital last night unopposed.

It had not been completely occupied today but AP Correspondent Jim Becker, with the Americans in Seoul, said there were no signs of the enemy anywhere in the burned-out city.

South Korean First Division troops raised the republic's flag over the capitol building — marking the fourth time Seoul has changed hands since the Korean war began last June 25.

New Crossings Of Han

Eastward across Korea, Allied divisions surged within 18 miles or less of the 38th Parallel without serious opposition.

Just east of Seoul, American forces made new crossings of the Han River. They were unopposed.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker, in a field dispatch from Seoul's outskirts, said civilians were seen waving flags in welcome in the village of Tukto two and one-half miles east of Seoul. The village is on the Han's north bank.

"It was believed there were almost no Red troops remaining in the capital," Becker said.

In Central Korea, the U. S. First Cavalry Division crossed the Hongchon River in force behind tanks ranging within 18 miles of the 38th Parallel.

265 More Reds Captured

East of Hongchon, the U. S. Seventh Division today pushed north toward the 38th at points 18 miles or less from the Parallel. The retreating Reds were beyond range of the Seventh's artillery.

Allied troops captured 265 Reds Wednesday, the highest day's bag since the U. S. 25th Division surged over the Han River east of Seoul eight days ago.

U. S. Eighth Army estimated Red casualties Wednesday at 1,050. This pushed the total of Communist killed and wounded past 170,000 since the Allied offensive opened late in January.

The U. S. Second Division took 110 of Wednesday's prisoners.

Moving up a mountainous area on the west flank of the U. S. Seventh Division, the Second's infantrymen fought briefly with entrenched North Korean riflemen 15 miles northeast of Hongchon. The Americans passed through what one officer called "the most extensive enemy mine field of the Korean war."

Jet Pilot Dies In Crash During Demonstration

CHERRY POINT, N. C., March 14 (AP) — A single - seat jet fighter crashed and burned today as members of the North Carolina Legislature were witnessing a demonstration at this Marine air base. The pilot was killed.

Navy Halts Recruiting Of Enlisted Reserves

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — The Navy has temporarily suspended recruiting of the enlisted members of its organized reserve in order to take an up-to-date count of the number now on the books.

Aspokesman said today the suspension applies only to members of organized units who would receive pay for taking part in weekly drills and exercises. The Navy said it is continuing to enroll reservists in non-drill pay status.

Vandenberg Sinking

His personal physician, Dr. A. B. Smith, said there was "no change" late this afternoon in the Republican Senator's condition.

McKeldin Offers $7,011,843 Supplement To His Budget

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 14 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin tonight recommended new appropriations for pay raises and other state projects that would swell Maryland's budget for next year to more than $163,000,000.

He offered the General Assembly a supplement of $7,011,843 to his original $160,000,000 budget. Most of it would increase the pay of the state's 14,000 employes. Only part of it would require money not already budgeted.

At the same time McKeldin sent in three bond bills to borrow a total of $22,695,000 for state construction and civil defense.

His new money measures were promptly referred to Senate and House committees which have been scanning his main budget for the last month.

The governor's supplemental budget asks appropriations of $5,094,734 in general funds and $1,917,109 in special funds.

General fund spending was pinned tightly to a shift of state police expenses from general accounts to highway revenues. If an administration backed measure to effect the transfer is rejected, so would every penny recommended for general fund spending in the supplemental budget.

The police department budget amounted to $1,680,472. In McKeldin's primary budget, the money was to have been drawn from general levies, such as the income and sales taxes.

Personnel raises throughout the state would average some $225. Along with necessary increases in pension funds to match the new scales, they would consume 86 per cent of the expansion in general funds.

McKeldin found $5,316,786 available for his supplemental budget that had not been anticipated when the bulk of his spending program was submitted last month. He listed $3,540,000 in newly estimated revenues, money turned free by budgeting the state police with funds previously tied to roads, and the $96,000 left from appropriations originally proposed.

His payroll program included $300 raises for all state troopers. A bipartisan measure approving those benefits passed the Senate earlier this week and is before the House. McKeldin also suggested a $500 break for Col. Elmer F. Munshower, the man he nominated as state police superintendent. This would hike his salary to $8,000.

The governor proposed an increase of $4,000 for his chief engineer. The job now pays $8,000. McKeldin plans to appoint Nathan L. Smith, former public works director in Baltimore City and County.

As the last of the administration's fiscal proposals went over the desk, a group of delegates introduced long-awaiting school bills that would cost another $9,075,000. One would provide school teachers a $500 pay increase. The other would boost by 50 per cent the state's school building incentive fund guarantee.

Delegate Johnson (D-Cecil), who as a senator for the previous four years was Education Committee chairman, and eight other delegates representing both parties sponsored the pay bill. All but one attached his name to the incentive fund measure, which would increase from $10 to $15 per pupil the state's guarantee of money for the first five cents on local tax rates for school improvements.

Marshall Heads Md. Young Republicans

BALTIMORE, March 14 (AP) — Delegate J. Paull Marshall of Montgomery County is new chairman of the Young Republican Federation of Maryland.

Marshall, who practices law in Washington, was elected by the federation executive committee last night. He succeeds Stanley Scherr, nominated by Gov. McKeldin to be chief traffic magistrate of Baltimore.

Marshall announced the state convention of Young Republicans will be held in Hagerstown on May 19, when delegates to the national convention will be elected.

Election Probe Witness Praised

WASHINGton, March 14 (AP) — Roscoe Conklin Simmons, 63-year-old negro writer and Republican orator, testified today he campaigned for the whole Republican ticket in Maryland last fall while in the employ of the Chicago Tribune.

Simmons, who said he has been with the Tribune newspaper family since 1899, said he made 56 speeches advocating the cause of the Republican ticket and the negro race, but not once did he mention the name of former Democratic Sen. Millard Tydings.

The subcommittee is investigating complaints by Tydings that supporters of Sen. Butler (R-Md), who defeated him, conducted a campaign of "lies" against him in the last few days before the election.

Tydings had testified that Mrs. Ruth McCormick Miller, editor of the Washington Times-Herald, owned by the Chicago Tribune, had state that Tydings' defeat was due more to Simmons than to anyone else connected with the Republican campaign.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 14 (AP) — United Nations architects have decided they will have to weatherstrip the 5,400 windows in the new 39-story secretariat building at U.N. headquarters, an official said today. The trouble: Soot and grime get around the metal window casings.

Mail Carrier Heads Home After Study Of British Life

LONDON, March 14 (AP) — Lincoln Kilby is flying back to the United States tonight from his grass-roots survey of Britain with a suitcase full of notes and an idea the world would improve if common men could be more influential in it.

Kilby is a 58-year-old rural mail carrier of Vandalia, Mo., who has just completed a 55-day study of British life. The project was financed with $1,300 contributed by his neighbors and members of the Vandalia Business and Professional Men's Club.

Slight, dapper and alert, he will report to them on such findings as these.

"Wherever I went, just getting acquainted and chatting, I didn't meet a vicious person, Some of them obviously didn't think America is quite as good and pluperfect as some of our 100 percenters think it is. But I can say without reservation that these ordinary chaps over here—I don't mean all the politicians—are our very good friends."

"It's not just what I saw. What made the greatest impression on me is something that I felt. These folks know the score, know the meaning of democracy and listen to every side of everything."

4-H Girls Adopt Annual Projects

Songs and the 4-H pledge opened the program at a meeting Monday night of the Pleasant Grove 4-H club at the home of Lena, Rhea and Teresa May Shanholtz, Baltimore Pike.

Members are to write a paper on "How to Have Good Posture and Good Grooming" for next month's meeting.

Mrs. Adolph Norris and Mrs. Mary Burchard, local leaders and 11 members were present.

The next regular meeting will be held April 9 at the home of Miss Burchard at 4 p. m.

Before The Big Four

Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia demonstrated his will to get along with the West on March 11, when he minimized the importance of his country's dispute with Italy over Trieste. Four days earlier Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Gromyko had told deputies of the Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in Paris that Russia would discuss an Austrian peace treaty only if the West agreed to discuss Trieste.

"The Trieste problem is not a big one and we are going to solve it with Italy when the moment for that comes," Tito told a group of World War II veterans. "Now is not the time in this tense situation."

Under the terms of the World War II peace treaty with Italy, effective September 15, 1947, the Free Territory of Trieste, a narrow strip of coastline on the east of the Istrian Peninsula, includes some 276 square miles. The shoreline extends about 80 miles along the Gulf of Trieste and the Adriatic Sea. The treaty provided that a governor would be elected by the UN Security Council and would in turn appoint a temporary Council of Government. Allied troops were limited to 5,000 Americans, 5,000 Britons, 5,000 Yugoslavs.

Col. Hermann Flueckiger of Switzerland, originally nominated for the governorship by Britain, was rejected by Security Council vote in May, 1949. Only Russia and the Ukraine voted in his favor; Western nations by then were advocating returning Trieste to Italy. Under the treaty, U. S., British, Yugoslav troops would remain in Trieste 90 days after the appointment of the governor, thereafter only at his request. The U. S. and Britain have repeatedly denied Russian charges that Trieste is being used as a Western military and naval base.

In linking an Austrian treaty with disposition of Trieste on March 7, Gromyko was repeating the diversionary tactics Russia had used in a May, 1950, meeting of the deputy Foreign Ministers. Yet at the Moscow conference in October, 1943, Russia agreed that Austria was to be treated not as an enemy but as a state taken over by the Nazis against its will.

Russia originally supported Yugoslavian demands for a part of the southern area of Austria known as Carinthia. Other points of dispute include Western charges that Russia has appropriated properly Austrian assets as part of the German assets she is entitled to receive as reparations from Germany; and Kremlin demands for certain key political and economic privileges in Austria after the peace.

Like Berlin, Austria is under four-power military occupation. In April, 1950, the Defense Department placed U. S. troops there at 10,000. In May, the U. S., Britain, France said their occupation forces would be replaced by civilian commissions. But that was before the June, 1950, Communist invasion of South Korea.

U. S. Ambassador-at-Large Jessup on March 7 called Mr. Gromyko's introduction of the subject of treaty violations by the Allies "a strange approach." Soviet satellite nations, he said, were themselves violating human rights and military clauses of their peace treaties.

Peace treaties with Rumania, Bulgaria and Hungary, worked out in 1946 along with the Italian treaty, established the following military limitations: Rumania: army, 120,000 men; navy, 5,000; air force, 8,000; Bulgaria: army, 55,000 men; navy, 3,500; air force, 5,200; Hungary: army and navy, 65,000 men; air force, 5,000. Total forces of the three nations were estimated in late 1950 at: Rumania: 210,000 to 230,000; Bulgaria: 125,000 to 150,000; Hungary: 45,000 to 100,000.

Arms Race And War

When Stalin says one thing and his subordinates do another, there is only one safe conclusion. It seems to be standard Russian practice for a Stalin statement hinting at peace to be followed by official actions that are uncompromising and hostile. In such cases actions speak louder than words.

Last month, for instance, Stalin said that the Soviet budget proves Russia's desire for peace. No nation, he said, can strengthen its civilian economy and simultaneously "inflate war industry and multiply its armed forces without risking bankruptcy." Russia, he said, was strengthening its civilian economy.

Now Finance Minister Zverev announces that Russia is increasing its expenditures for its armed forces by 20 per cent to a peacetime record figure of 96,000,000,000 rubles — equivalent to $24,000,000,000 at the official rate of exchange. This new budget, Zverev insists, is further proof of Stalin's claim that the Soviet wants peace!

Exact comparison of American and Russian figures is difficult. A year ago, for instance, the reported dollar figures for the U. S. and Russian military budgets were approximately equal, although Russia was supporting an immensely more powerful military establishment. Russian military costs were much lower because of such factors as forced labor, lower military pay, fewer "luxuries" for the armed forces, lower official prices for materials, and others.

The U. S. military budget now is higher than the Russian military budget, but it will buy much less in preparedness.

But both budgets are increasing as the arms race continues. Arms races, it is widely believed, always lead to war. If there is any truth in that statement, it derives from the fact that the weaker side got into the race too late to upset the aggressor's plans. It may be nearer to the truth to say that wars start when one side thinks it can win an easy victory.

Highway Hazards

Every state is becoming increasingly concerned over the increase in traffic deaths. The disgraceful record of traffic casualties is being made in the face of a nation-wide program of safety education which begins with the children in school, sponsored by local and state organizations, and all law-enforcement agencies.

Licensing of automobile drivers was touted as the panacea for highway accidents. All states except one now have automobile driver license laws, but these have not proved a deterrent to reckless driving. It might be concluded there is no way of solving this problem.

But there is a cure, and it rests with the drivers of automobiles. In practically every accident resulting in death speeding is a factor. Liquor takes its toll. Is it too much to hope that eventually those who operate automobiles will develop proper regard for their own lives and the lives of others.

Until that great day arrives, traffic deaths will continue to mount and the hazards of the highways will increase.

Five years ago economists were saying inflation would put prices up an additional 10 per cent. They are still saying it. How many 10 per cents can the country stand?

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Fat Accumulation

THE OVERWEIGHT should always remember that fat comes from the dinner plate and not the air. Too good an appetite and too much food are more likely to be responsible than the glandular system of a family tendency. The remedy is obvious but control is more easily said than done for a number of reasons.

Obesity is less prevalent among the rich than the poor who must of necessity depend upon cheap foods that are high in starches but lacking in satiety value. The well to do can afford more fat and protein, which satisfy the pangs of hunger over a longer period of time. In this respect obseity often is considered a deficiency disease and in some instances is remedied when the individual learns how to select more balanced menus.

There are many physical and psychological reasons for overeating. Psychiatrists tell us, for example, that some women eat because they wish they were pregnant and derive satisfaction from attempting to duplicate the feeling of fullness that the added poundage brings. Others eat to avoid pregnancy by unconsciously accumulating a few layers of fat to discourage the advances of the opposite sex. The same plan is utilized to evade marriage. At any rate, unhappiness probably is one of the most prevalent emotional causes of gorging food. Most of us have experienced, in periods of dissatisfaction, a longing for "something" even though we don't know what we want. Some attain satisfaction by nibbling on a cookie or piece of candy.

The physical reasons are less well known. There is a theory that the body has the power to burn up surplus calories in the diet. If every excess calory were stored it would be possible, by drinking an extra glass of milk each day for a year, to put on 24 pounds. Yet there are millions who remain at the same weight year after year, even though their diet varies considerably. The opposite also happens; some gain, even though they eat extraordinary little. Unless they are careful they become plump in no time. There also are many who in early life have been able to eat all they want without putting on an ounce. Later they are forced to mind their p's and q's to keep a slender figure.

• — • — •

Many diseases can be avoided by preventing obesity. Statistics show that portly individuals are more prone than average persons to develop diabetes, high blood pressure, gallstones, arthritis, varicose veins, abdominal hernias, and arteriosclerosis. The corpulent are less agile and more inclined, therefore, to be involved in accidents. They are a greater risk when surgery is contemplated and in pregnancy. A man of 45 lessens his life expectancy 25 per cent if he is 25 pounds overweight. If he is 50 pounds too heavy his life span is the same as though he had a heart defect with leakage of the valve. (Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reducing diet.)

ROOF LESION

B. T. writes: What causes a lump in the roof of the throat?

REPLY

This may be a benign tumor known as "torus palatinus." This bony lesion appears usually in adolescence and enlarges gradually. Nothing need be done unless it grows large enough to interfere with speech or the proper fitting of dentures. When this occurs the mass can be removed with a chisel or dental spur.

RESEMBLANCE

Mrs. W. writes: I have heard that the first child looks like the father, the second like the mother and the third like both. Is there anything to this?

REPLY

No. The resemblance to our ancestors is unpredictable. You might ask the individual who gave you this information what the fourth and fifth look like. Furthermore, there is nothing to telegony, the supposed hereditary influence by the father of the first child upon subsequent children of the same mother by another man.

RED NOSED

Mrs. W. writes: Every winter my nose turns red and peels. Is there any way to prevent this condition?

REPLY

Go south, young lady. If you can't, get yourself a heavy scarf and wind it around the lower half of the face as they did in days of yore. Greasing the nose will help also.

ARTERIAL SPASM

Mrs. V. M. writes: What does spasm of the artery of the leg mean?

REPLY

In this condition the arteries in the leg become constricted so that the blood supply to the tissues is disturbed. When this occurs the skin assumes an ashen hue and the extremity feels numb and cold. After the walls of the blood vessels relax, circulation returns and the parts become warm and flushed.

Dixiecrat Welcomed At White House; Sen. Kenneth Wherry Digs At Truman

Letter Writing; GI Injustices Aired In Letters

WASHINGTON—It's news when a Dixiecrat gets invited to the White House, particularly a dyed-in-the-cotton Dixiecrat like Rep. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina, who figured prominently in the revolt against President Truman in the 1948 election.

However, Truman rolled out the welcome mat for the silver-maned South Carolinian the other day as though he were a long-separated fraternity brother. The story behind the unusual meeting is that the President wanted Rivers' support for the 18-year-old draft bill.

However, after a brief reference to the legislation, the two antagonists spent the rest of their meeting assuring each other that there were no "hard feelings" between them.

"If you are a big enough man to invite me down here, I'm big enough to accept the invitation, Mr. President," grinned Rivers. "In fact, it's a pleasure to accept."

"Some people have been saying that I don't like you and would never invite you down here, Mendel," responded Truman. "Well, it isn't so. I've never closed the door to you. I want you to know that it will be open any time you want to see me."

The President cleverly dropped only the merest hint that he was concerned about the fate of the draft bill in the Armed Services Committee, of which Rivers is a member. However, there were no commitments on either side and the two men parted after a friendly handshake.

Dig At Truman

At the Atlantic Pact aid hearings, Senator Wherry demanded exact figures on Allied troop commitments to defend Western Europe. "Do you think we ought to call Mr. Stalin up every morning and tell him what we're doing?" Connally asked scornfully.

"If you're going to communicate with Stalin," Wherry whipped back, "I suggest you send a letter. That's the Truman way."

G. I. Gripes

Here is another batch of letters from servicemen, complaining about injustices in the armed forces. Periodically this column tries to answer the most serious G. I. gripes. Names are withheld upon request.

A Private, Camp Carson, Colo.—"We have received mass punishment, because some 'unknown person' fired several shots behind the barracks. For this, our company is restricted for an indefinite time. Men with their wives in the guest houses not more than ten minutes away, cannot even call them. We think this is unfair, as we expect to be shipped overseas soon."

Answer—A Camp Carson spokesman told this column over the phone that the incident "is purely a military matter and no concern to civilians." This is a dangerous attitude. As long as civilians rule this country, they have a right to know how their servicemen are treated and to correct any abuses. Meanwhile, under Army regulations, a camp commander has the power to restrict a full unit for the offense of one member. In this case, the troublemakers were caught, the restriction was lifted temporarily, then clamped down again for another offense.

Mrs. C. H. Orum, Salem, Ore.—"My husband has been in Korea over six months. Do you have any idea when he will be allowed to come home?"

Answer—The Marines are now sending combat veterans home on rotation. The Air Force has been sending some combat crews home and will adopt a formal rotation policy in May. Some Navy men also have returned to Japan and the West Coast with their ships, but no formal program has been adopted. The Army claims it is still too short of replacements to start a rotation program. Meanwhile, scarcely a week goes by that General MacArthur doesn't cable for more men.

A Corporal, Somewhere in Korea—"My wife says she writes me every day, but I have been getting only about one letter a week. Where's the bottleneck?"

Answer—Under battle conditions, the mail can't always get through to the front lines. However, you'll probably find a big backlog of letters waiting for you when the Army Postal Service catches up with your outfit.

Unsung bureaucrats: Acting Federal Conciliation Boss James Greenwood and his crack aides, Clyde Mills and Peter Seitz, have been settling 14 out of every 15 labor disputes in defense plants, without a strike and frequently without publicity. . . . Tall, bespectacled Congressman Charles Brownson of Indiana, the man who beat Democrat Andy Jacobs in the last election, can well be proud of his GOP background. The 36-year-old Hoosier was born in Jackson, Mich., birthplace of the Republican party. President Truman will ask Congress for much broader powers to control commodity speculation, a major factor behind inflated food prices. The jump in egg prices last fall was influenced by fluctuating egg futures, while trading in soybean futures has been 15 times the size of the crop. . . . Futures speculation in cottonseed oil and lard also have been running wild. . . . Hefty Congressman Ed Hebert of Louisiana, who received one of President Truman's explosive letters, has the last laugh on political foes who predicted his district would suffer as a result of his feud with Truman and get no defense contracts. The two biggest defense projects awarded Louisiana—a tank engine and an aluminum plant—are in Hebert's district. . . . Bill Jackson, the deputy director of Central Intelligence, tipped off General Omar Bradley he was marrying Bradley's private secretary by formally requesting her "transfer." . . . Only two corporations in the U. S. have greater assets than the Atomic Energy Commission. They are American Telephone and Telegraph and Standard Oil of New Jersey. . . . A crack Ranger outfit with one of the best combat records in the Korea War is an all-Negro company attached to the 37th Infantry Regiment. . . . One result of the Senate investigation of the RFC will be the loan agency's decision to make all loans public. Ted Herz, the Senate committee's chief counsel, knows RFC from A-Z, because he audited its reports for the no-monkey-business General Accounting Office. . . . The Mothballed Tanks

BERLIN

THIS STRANGE city is an island of freedom amid the surrounding slavery of the Soviet zone of Germany. It is a place where millions of simple people bravely carry on in the ever-present shadow of danger. It has several other personalities and aspects. But for the traveler, Berlin is, above all, a chink in the iron curtain, through which much can be seen that is not visible from Washington or Paris or London.

Perhaps the best symbol of the first thing one sees through this chink is a mothballed tank. Until rather recently, a large faction of Western intelligence officers had been encouraged by the belief that the Soviets possessed no reserve armor west of the Vistula. True, there were at least 12 Soviet armored divisions in Eastern Germany, but these divisions, constantly wearing out their tanks in training and on maneuvers, did not seem ready for a drive across Western Europe.

Then one fine morning reports began to come in of tanks mothballed in garages and warehouses, in the same way that we mothball our reserve fleet. The size of this newly dishovered reserve of Soviet armor has not yet been determined, but the estimates of the readiness of the Soviet armored divisions have already been anxiously revised.

Brought To Readiness

No one in Berlin expects a war this year (as no one in Seoul did either, it must be added). But the fact remains that the most striking phenomenon to be seen through this chink of the iron curtain is the extensive war preparation that has been carried on in the last 10 months by the masters of the Kremlin.

It is not that the Soviet armies have been heavily reinforced—there are still the same 30 divisions in Eastern Germany and six more in Poland although recent evidence suggests that at least one additional armored division may now be on the way from Russia. What has happened, rather, is that these armies, which were not ready to attack before, have now been brought almost to the stage of full offensive readiness.

Besides sending in reserve tanks, the Soviet planners have taken many other steps to prepare their war machine. Whereas their air and mechanized forces were formerly provided with fuel on a hand-to-mouth basis, a large permanent fuel stock has now been built up. Underground tankage is being constructed at the airfields so that this stock can be further increased.

In the same way, stocks of ammunition, of spare parts of all kinds for the air and ground forces, and of all other similar necessities of war have been substantially increased.

Crated air engines and even air frames have been brought in, so far as can be judged in far larger numbers than would be needed to support the present Soviet Air Force of from 450 to 500 jets in East Germany.

Methodical War Preparation

Even more significant, personnel and equipment for aircraft maintenance and tank repair shops have recently arrived in East Ger-

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — When General Bradley said the other day that he expects to retire next August upon the expiration of his two-year term as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, most people jumped to the conclusion that Admiral Sherman, chief of naval operations, would be his successor.

Although Admiral Sherman is really a genius in joint organization and has a keener understanding of the interrelationships of the armed services than almost any other man on active duty in our military establishment today, there is a growing feeling here that no successor at all ought to be appointed.

Wanted Co-Ordinator

The moment Admiral Sherman would step out of his post as chief of naval operations, America would lose at the head of its Navy one of its most valuable operating men. The duties of the chairman do not involve operations. In fact, there is much question among students of the present defense law whether creating the position of "chairman" was not a mistake in the first place. The general impression has arisen that the "chairman," although he does not have a vote, nevertheless is some kind of a superior military chief who tells the other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff what to do.

Actually, the purpose of Congress was to supply the Joint Chiefs of Staff with a co-ordinator, and it would have been much better if the title had been "Secretary General of the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

If Congress should amend the law in that respect, it would clear up many doubts as to the true purpose of a "chairman." There is, of course, a constructive value in having someone attached to the Joint Chiefs of Staff who does not have any operating responsibilities in any of the services. There is much work to do in connection with the meetings of the Joint Chiefs, and also in explaining to Congress what the Joint Chiefs are doing. If there were no one with the title of "chairman" to carry on this particular work, it would be necessary to create such a job and formalize it. That's why the post of "Secretary General of the Joint Chiefs of Staff" would give the Joint Chiefs a liaison with Congress and with other branches of the government.

At the Pentagon many observers feel that the President should have direct contact with the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He could do so only by having conferences frequently with the three operating heads of the armed services. On such occasions, when the presence of all three were not required, the secretary general could continue to brief him on routine delevopments. The statute which is now in effect designates the three members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff as the principal military advisers of the President and, strictly speaking, they should give their advice directly to the White House instead of through someone else.

Acted As Liaison

During World War II, the Joint Chiefs operated as an entity with representatives of the Army, the Navy and the Air Force, but the fourth member was Admiral Leahy, who was chief of staff to the late President Roosevelt. Admiral Leahy acted in the capacity of secretary but did not attempt to direct or boss the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He often relayed messages direct to the President and acted as liaison between the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the President on many important matters. The secretary general could continue to do this job without leading to any wrong impressions as to his powers over the actual operations of the Joint Chiefs.

The basic thought throughout all American history has been that the civilian side would really retain the final command and that at no time would any single military man obtain any sort of control of the armed forces. The idea instead has been that the military would take orders directly from the Commander-in-chief, a civilian, elected every four years by the people. This is as far as the electorate has ever wished to go in delegating the powers of life and death with respect to our military forces.

Even today, the orders for the most important steps in a war must come from the President, who in turn gets that authority from Congress.

When General Bradley retires, therefore, the proposal undoubtedly will be made to amend the present law and specify that the duties of the fourth member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff shall be solely those of coordination and that he shall not in any way exercise any authority over the Joint Chiefs of Staff itself.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Down-Beat

DEPARTING FOR a moment from the broad canvas which has become my daily chore, my mind turns to Miss Barbara Hutton, who also goes by the name of Princess Troubetzkoy.

I do not know the lady but I have for many years seen her picture in the newspapers, usually in relation to a marriage or a divorce or attendant circumstances. In fact, I have so often seen her face in the newspapers that I could conjure its line from my memory. It must be grand and glorious to be a subject of news all one's life, although I am sure that no one in his senses, or hers, would invite so much attention.

I do not recall all the names that this lady has borne through several marriages nor why they should be interesting. I have been told that news about Miss Hutton's lawyers bargaining, in the newspapers, with the Prince as to whether he is to have $3,000,000 or $500,000 for the lady to be relieved of him, is very important information and that many readers prefer it to my pontifications on world affairs.

Well, there you are. There is no accounting for tastes. After all, this lady's greatest contribution to current history has been her ability to marry a variety of men at different times, but in a sort of juxtaposition, and to get rid of them with facility.

It was so much easier in the time of the Borgias; they just poisoned those whom they no longer loved. Catherine the Great killed her outmoded or outworn lovers. But ours is a legalistic and journalistic age. Each collapse of a marriage needs to be legalized and publicized with plenty of photography. It is a mark of progress and civilization!

I have never quite been able to understand how all these stories come out unless they are given out. I have been in this business of reporting for 34 years, more or less, and I have yet to find that these intimate relations between a man and a woman make their way into the press unless the parties most concerned provide them. Of course, when they reach the police blotter or the law court, they are news. But when they are in the talking stage, someone must give the press a tip. It is usually a hired press agent. And I still wonder why anyone wants to have family disputes so advertised that they become front page news.

Enormous amounts of newsprint were consumed telling of the fiery romance of the Troubetzkoys, with all sorts of photographs. I could not help thinking, as I noted these stories, that the principals were a little overage for the sort of playing around that was being described. It looked to me as though this red-hot business was for the 20's, when it all seems cute, rather than for middle-aged folks, when it seems bizarre.

Perhaps I am old-fashioned, and someone did say of me that I am to the right of Louis XVI, whose head was chopped off. But there used to be a dignity about middle-age that seemed gracious and it had nothing to do with red-hot press agent stories.

And now that very exciting romance has broken up and these pigeons are fighting over money. He wants $3,000,000 to quit and she will only give him $500,000. Also, it used to be the other way about. It was the man who paid off the gal, but in these days of equal rights and fair deals and such, it is the dame who pays off her lord and master. That makes a man a gigolo.

Really, why don't these people retire and get out of our lives? We had the Bergman woman and that fantastic Ali Khan Person, but the perennial is this Barbara Hutton. All the time, for some reason or another, we see her face in the news in relation to a scandal.

There must be some place to which these narcissus-inclined persons may retire where they can

Daily Lenten Devotional

THE FELLOWSHIP TEACHES

Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God; for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him.

John 3:2 (K. J. V.).
Read verses 1-17.

There never was a time in the Church when better teachers were not needed. It was so when we were young, and it is so now. There probably never was a time when better material was available than now. Religious educational experts have put their time and energy into providing what is "profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness; that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works."

There remains, however, the person to be taught; and who is to teach him? The best material will avail little without a teacher whose personality reflects the love, the kindness, the understanding of Jesus, the greatest Teacher of all. Whatever else we may say about the Christian movement, it began first with a radiant personality. The woman with her waterpot at the well of Jacob saw the reflection of God in the face of the Man who talked with her. What other has a teacher to do but to impart God, not merely by word, but by a life?

Let Us Pray: O God, may the radiance of Jesus be seen in all who would show the way to others. May we know that the spirit of man is the candle of the Lord, and may it shine more and more unto the perfect day. Amen.

many. In the last war, the Soviet Army was often forced to send its damaged tanks as far as Kuibysev before they could be put in order. In any European campaign, this would obviously be ruinous. The newly arrived maintenance staffs which include German technicians trained in Soviet methods, will provide full maintenance facilities of all kinds here in Germany.

The general picture is one of methodical war preparation, accomplished so slowly and quietly on a foundation already so menacingly strong, that very few people have taken alarm. To be sure, there are still some gaps. The transport facilities available to the Soviet armies would be thought inadequate by any American or European commander, partly because of the poor quality of steel rails supplied from East Germany for railroad improvement. But Russian commanders, who get their experience with the Russian rail system, are unfortunately unlikely to use American or European standards of transport.

Again, and this time more significant, although they have a very high proportion of armored and mechanized divisions, the Soviet armies in Germany and Poland are distinctly short of artillery. Here the Russian standard is higher than ours—Russian ground force tactics call for massed use of artillery on the greatest scale. Probably, any Soviet war plan would call for bringing in additional artillery divisions, as it would certainly call for bringing in additional air groups—which of course can be done in a single night's flight from Koenigsberg.

All these different toilsomely collected facts about what the Soviets have done and have not done in the last year for their European forces, form a pattern which requires discussion in a subsequent report. It is enough to say here that what has been done vastly outweighs what has not been done. It we had done one-half as much, the Kremlin would be justified in its perpetual bellowing that the American war mongers are preparing an aggression.

ALONG THE POTOMAC TO WASHINGTON

(By Representative J. Glenn Beall, Sixth Maryland District)

H. R. 3017, the "Aid to India Bill" is being held up in the Rules Committee where it is meeting with considerable opposition for two reasons. The first is because India asked to buy the grain originally and did not request it as a gift from the American people, and the second because the request for this grain to relieve famine in India was not sent by Mr. Nehru or the Indian Government. A dispatch from New Delhi states as of February 16, "Prime Minister Nehru publicly chided 43 members of Parliament today for cabling the United States Congress an appeal for grain . . . The Prime Minister told the House the cable, sent to Vice President Barkley and House Speaker Rayburn, was 'sent with no reference to members of the government'. Members of Parliament, Mr. Nehru continued, may send a message to anyone they wish, but 'confusion and embarassment' could result for 'members to address officials of foreign governments without consultation with (India's) government and without consideration of the larger issues involved and of India's foreign policy'."

Could Mr. Nehru's reference to India's foreign policy mean his attitude toward the appeasement of China's Red Government?

The necessary 36 states have now ratified the 22nd Amendment to the Constitution which limits any future President to two terms in office. I believe the ratification of this amendment shows that the people of this country want a government built on laws and not on the theory of the indispensible man. It is in the statesman-like tradition of the principles of George Washington and is a further step in the preserving of our republican form of government.

While the country is going into the red deeper every day, the federal government is selling red ink which it advertised for sale at the Rock Island Arsenal on February 20. The red ink is described as "prosperity red," which the notice of sale said is now "obsolete." There is a moral in this somewhere, that combination of the words "prosperity" and "obsolete." Perhaps the taxpayers can figure it out.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities has just listed more than 800 Communist-dominated and Communist-front organizations. The report represents the results of 18 years of research and analysis by the committee. It lists 624 organizations and 204 publications. Every citizen should be alert to such organization which mask themselves under false names in order to subvert and overthrow our government.

The United States Government stopped the buying of tin in foreign markets after scandalous price gouging on this strategic material In the last week the price of tin has dropped drastically since this country refused to buy at the inflated prices.

The Army draft call for May is for 20,000 fewer men than for April. This has brought a question in many legislators' minds on the necessity for drafting 18 year olds at this time.

Representative Keating, of New York, has called for an inquiry for "restoring morality and ethics to the White House Staff" in introducing a resolution under which the Judiciary Committee would look into ethical standards. In a House speech, Mr. Keating said, "Recent revelations about influence peddling by White House attaches and tehir cronies, brought out not only by political adversaries, but by members of the President's own party, are bound to bring the office into disrepute." Mr Keating stated the President has shown no disposition to discharge "those faithless to their trust."

UNDER THE DOME

At the request of service men I contacted the National Association of Railroads asking that reduced rates be continued after March 31. I was advised that the matter of further extension of reduced fares is now being considered and a decision will be reached shortly.

I have received numerous letters relative to school construction and maintenance of the present transportation system of the schools. Schools are exempt under the construction control regulation and I have asked the Director of the National Production Authority to grant permission for the setting aside of materials for the school buses needed as estimated by the U. S. Office of Education.

Many Maryland monuments and markers have been erected at the National Military Park surrounding Vicksburg, Miss., in memory of Maryland men who fought there in the War Between the States. The unkept condition of the Park has been brought to my attention and I have asked the National Park Service to have the condition of the park investigated and arrange to have it better cared for in order that the monuments and markers can be seen and read.

I attended meetings of the Public Works Committee and the District of Columbia Committee.

ELIZABETH TAYLOR has not told me when she's going back to Nicky Hilton, if she is going back to Nicky Hilton, although Liz and I are staying under the same sumptuous hotel roof (not one of Mr. Hilton's either) . . . Neither has Miss Joan Crawford confided in me about her latest flirt or spat or hat . . . I haven't even seen Van Johnson . . . Maybe if he did see me, he'd tell me something . . . Oh well . . . after all, Washington is my beat . . . Besides, if you were out here, you, too, would be having too much fun to do anything more than glide around, open-mouthed and boogle-eyed, enjoying the sights . . . You'd be bewitched, bemused and be-amazed at:

Food markets open all night long to help out Mrs. Rosie Riveter, who has returned to her wartime night shift job . . . Housewives picking over cans of peas at 3 o'clock in the morning! . . . Mike Romanoff's cuff-links of gold, enormous imperial crowns . . . Mrs. Louis B. Mayer's six-foot tall camelia bushes in tubs on her front porch, encrusted with unbelievable pink flowers, quite breath-taking, like eastern florist windows, but a mere snap for California gardeners . . .

The Jimmy Stewarts taking a new house, now that they're expecting twins. Other stars envy and think of imitating Jimmy Stewart because of the deal he arranged for his "Winchester 73"—to take a small salary and a percentage of the picture. He'll make more than half a million dollars!

Eastern television people pouring out to try and improve the shows and put a couple of bucks in their pockets.

Hopalong Cassidy's car—a snowball-white Cadillac upholstered in black and white zebra skins . . . Betty Grable's fan mail. Still number one star for eight straight years, she still gets letters reading: "What is the cubic content of your legs?" . . . or, "Will you please send me a plaster paris cast of your legs?" Her studio has mailed out 250,000 pin-up pictures—the one showing her in a white bathing suit, looking back over her shoulder—to G. I.'s around the world. She'll wear a bathing suit in her next picture . . . Also a diamond-studded good-luck garter . . .

The long two-headed pipe from Italy smoked by half-pint extrovert, Mickey Rooney . . . Columnists keeping up with the divorce rate by checking hotel registers. The minute a star moves in, news hounds know he, or she, has moved out of wedded bliss.

Natives surprised to read that their Republican Senator Nixon had added to his Washington office staff Jack Irwin, who worked in the last election to get the Democratic senatorial nomination for Manchester Boddy . . . But Irwin had switched to Republican Nixon after the primaries last year.

Helen Gahagan Douglas, Nixon's defeated opponent, getting the feel of Hollywood again. At Schwab's celebrated drugstore on the Sunset Strip she ate a sandwich lunch with all the aspiring young actors and actresses, too busy to recognize their former Congresswoman.

Clare Booth Luce, her former colleague, flooded with flowers since she's been here on a lecture tour . . . The anticipation over "Paint Your Wagon," Alan Lerner's new musical about the California gold-rush, which opens this fall on Broadway.

The Barber Wars . . . The Rheingold Beer king, one Mr. Leibman, was so impressed with a shave given him by his hotel barber, that he bought space in the Hollywood Reporter, published the picture of his two favorite barbers, with the caption, "to the two greatest barbers in the world." . . Next day, R. K. O. Studio bought the same space with pictures of their two barbers, below the tongue-in-cheek caption, "to the two worst barbers in the world—where the customer is always wrong."

Sad-faced Ringling Bros. clown Emmett Kelly, brought to Hollywood because he was a good clown, now doing serious dramatic roles.

And if you were in Hollywood, you too might be tempted to become a musician—that is, start out each night fit as a fiddle and wind up tight as a drum.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

THE lack of poise shows itself in more ways than a girl's timid manner at a party. Miss Boisterous, who overacts, is demonstrating her poise poverty just as well. By throwing up a smoke screen of exaggerated gestures, she hopes to hide the unsureness she feels. But she fools nobody—even the trumped-up bravado in her walk gives her away immediately.

What can you do about a girl who does the wrong thing because she's trying so hard to do the right? Shower her with frowns and "don'ts"? Tell her she struts like a turkey hen . . . and destroy what little confidence she possesses? Hardly!

If she were my child or one of our would-be models, I'd put her through a course of sprouts—poise sprouts, that is. What she needs is something added, not subtracted from her personality. As soon as she has some new graces to display, her boisterousness will disappear.

A swaggering or assertive walk will quickly yield to these three corrective measures. In its place will be something highly attractive and desirable.

© 1951 by John F. Dille Co.

Timidity and boisterousness both vanish as soon as a girl discovers poise!

1. Add cadence to the stride. Practice will make a step about the length of the foot come naturally in no time—and also take the wiggle out of the hips.

2. Add grace to the arms. When the arms swing the approximate length of the step and close to the body, the entire torso gains a composed look.

Her First Compliment

3. Add poise to the head. By pulling the neck well out of the shoulders and keeping the chin up, a charming face will replace the jiggle-top.

As soon as our young lady receives her first compliment on her gracefulness, she will feel a thrilling surge of the inner poise she has been striving for. As each stumbling block is removed, greater and greater poise will be hers. After all, poise is nothing more than knowing what to do, how to do it, and when to do it. These are things anybody can learn.

Washington Film Marks B&O Night

Featuring B. and O. night at the Tri-State Traffic Club dinner meeting last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, the new B. and O. sound, color movie, "Washington, Shrine of American Patriotism," was shown to some 80 club members and guests.

The film, termed outstanding in portraying the Washington scene, is narrated by Lowell Thomas. More than 100 prints of the film already have been released to schools, libraries, colleges and similar institutions throughout the country.

Harry A. Witte, Baltimore, B. and O. freight traffic manager, told the club members that just yesterday the Interstate Commerce Commission had approved a rate increase for the carriers.

The amount of the increase will be four per cent in the Eastern rate territory, two per cent in the South and West, and also between the various rate territories.

Grain and grain products are excluded from the increases. The coal and coke rate is increased two per cent with a maximum of six cents per ton, Witte said.

Poolesville Man Held In Check Case

Accused of obtaining money from Frostburg merchants by passing worthless checks, James Daniel Curl, near Poolesville, is being held in the county jail pending a preliminary hearing.

Curl has signed a statement admitting that he deposited $1,700 in a Frostburg bank, using a check on another bank, and then drew on the $1,700, according to State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

Checks passed before Curl's arrest amounted to $1,125 but he realized only about $15, Fletcher said, since all merchandise was recovered.

Beall Voices Opinion

The 11,000 acres to be ceded to the government would be "the largest acreage of hunting lands taken out of the state in the last 25 years," complained Ernest A. Vaughn, State Game Commissioner.

He was joined by representatives of sportsmen's groups, including Irvin Rutledge of Washington County, George F. Grove of Frederick County, and Malcolm Kane of Montogemery County in protesting damage to game conditions the parkway would cause."

Industry "Can't Lose"

W. Earle Cobey, City Solicitor for Cumberland, argued that industry "can't lose" by the parkway development.

It has no access rights now to the Potomac and would "gain a better bargaining position" for them if Maryland decided to buy the land and offered it to the government, he said.

Any disadvantages caused by the parkway would be compensated for, Cobey said, "by giving Western Maryland the means and access to Washington so it can compete with other highways."

The parkway will attract 20,000,000 tourists to Western Maryland and prove an invaluable military route, Mayor Thomas L. Post of Cumberland said.

It was called a lifesaver for the city's employment troubles by Joseph M. Naughton, president of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Two Are Hurt In Auto Mishaps

Two persons, including a 39-year-old woman, were hurt Tuesday night in separate automobile accidents involving five vehicles on Route 220, south of the main entrance gate at the Celanese Corporation plant, during intermittent snow, rain and sleet.

State Police said Mrs. Edna Troy and George Ellis, 29, both of Cresaptown, were admitted to Allegany Hospital. The woman suffered leg and shoulder injuries, and Ellis had contusions and abrasions of the face.

Trooper A. M. Spioch said Charles H. Knott, 28, of 20 Bellevue Street, traveling toward Cresaptown, crashed against the rear of a parked car driven by John Winters, Cresaptown. The impact forced the latter's vehicle against the parked machine of Earl F. Apple, also of Cresaptown.

Mrs. Troy was seated in one of the stopped cars when the accident occurred at 11:20.

Ellis was riding with Carl E Frankenberry, Cresaptown, when their car was struck by the vehicle of Arden Haycock, Jr., Route 3 Keyser, W. Va., headed west, at 10:20.

Frankenberry's vehicle, going in the opposite direction, upset but he and occupants of the other car escaped injury. Trooper Spioch filed a reckless driving charge against both drivers.

Local Church Story In Gospel Messenger

A brief history of Living Stone Church of the Brethren, West Second and North Cedar Street, appears in the current issue of the Gospel Messenger, church weekly publication.

Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor, traces development of the church from its founding in 1922. Although Rev. Scrogum was at that time located at Accident, 45 miles away, he served two years as the first pastor of the church, driving the 90-mile round trip each Sunday to conduct services. In 1926, Rev. D. H. Miller became the first resident pastor.

The present church structure was started in March, 1950, and dedicated November 26, 1950. The membership is 342. Rev. Scrogum became resident pastor in 1944. Elder of the church is Rev. J. A. Robinson, Johnstown, Pa.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)—"THE RATS will come out again March thirty first," Sen. Charles W. Tobey was saying during a recess of the Senate Crime Committee's hearings. "That's the day we close shop, and that's their invitation."

Sen. Tobey is pretty sore about the ending of the committee, in which he takes a perfect bi-partisan stance (it has as its chairman the amiable Yale man and Democrat from Tennessee, Estes Kefauver.)

"The Congress should keep this committee alive," he went on. "We should let them (hoodlums) know that it's alive, and never let them know where or when we'll strike. We should hang over their heads perpetually."

Sen. Tobey is also in favor of keeping the inquiry into the Reconstruction Finance Corporation breathing. But that, too, he fears is doomed.

"It's an especial shame about the ending of the crime committee, though," the vigorous veteran from New Hampshire insisted. "We're not an expensive committee. We haven't spent a hundred and fifty thousand, and there's hardly a key section of the United States we haven't appeared in or investigated.

"California alone is appropriating a hundred and one thousand dollars to keep its crime commission going, and several other parts of the country are raising money, through patriotic subscription, to do the same sort of thing. But the Congress is letting us die."

• — • — •

Sen. Herbert O'Conor (D., Md.) is a member of the Senate Crime Commission with a kind face and an air of wanting to help any witness who comes to the chair. His demeanor, which is genuine, very nearly ensnarled Joe Adonis in a real unhappy situation the other day.

Adonis, who looks like a manlier and grayer George Raft, had made some tart remarks, early in his testimony, about the interim report filed by the committee last week. It had charged that Adonis was a top kingpin in the vast hoodlum empire which has corrupted U. S. officials from gubernatorial rank down.

O'Conor told Adonis, in his best soothing manner, that Joe there and then had his chance to refute any of the charges made against him. The committe, O'Conor said, would be happy to go into the matter point by point, and if it had been unjust to Adonis he was sure it would apologize publicly to him.

You could see the words bubbling up in Adonis. But his lawyer, at his side, gave him a dig in the ribs and they conferred for a moment.

Then Joe said, somewhat deflatedly, that he would let the whole matter go until he could have his say "in the courts."

Senate crime investigators mourned all through that evening because of the lawyer's nudge. They tell me it would have been a very lively show.

Frank Erickson's appearance on the witness chair irreverantly and irrevelantly reminded reporters of the courtroom appearances of the late great Max Steuer, famed lawyer. Nobody could hear Max. Even fewer could hear Frank. Frank's voice would not have clouded a mirror.

What Frank was saying, in effect, was no, he wouldn't talk. He was threatened with contempt of Congress a number of times, but he still said no, he wouldn't answer the questions. But he did answer a couple of queries. To wit:

"What is your business?"

"Me? I got no business. I'm in jail."

And at the very end Sen. Tobey, impatient with Frank's barely audquestions, said:

"Now, see here, Mr. Erickson, if you were lost in the woods and dusk was falling, and the hoot owls were beginning to call, and you wanted to get out of there desperately, I dare say you could raise your voise."

Erickson's moon face, which had been screwed up into a determined glare, suddenly melted.

"The last time I spoke to you, Senator, I spoke too loud," he said, referring to his unhappy experience in Washington which sent him toward jail. The jammed hearing room howled, but it wasn't funny to Erickson, for he added reproachfully, "and you assured me, Senator, that nothing would happen to me."

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A hunter with a big gun, goes a legend current, met up with a bear that had no gun at all. But the bear had claws—and wit—and refused to concede defeat. He asked the hunter, "What are you looking for?" "A fine fur coat," said the hunter. "Me, I'm looking for breakfast," declared the bear. "What do you say to coming round to my nice warm den and talking over our prospects?"

So they went to the den and worked out a satisfactory compromise. The bear, emerging solo from the den, had enjoyed a splendid breakfast and the hunter was wrapped up in a fine fur coat.

The teacher at Dalton School told one of her favorite students, "Peggy, your final examination papers were a distinct disappointment to me. And what will your parents say? Didn't you tell me your daddy had promised you a bicycle if you achieved good marks?" "Yes," said Peggy, stifling a sob. "Well, then," pursued the teacher, "why didn't you study harder? What were you doing the whole term?" Peggy answered, "Learning to ride a bike."

and urge every woman 38 to 52 years old who suffers this distress to try Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound"

"I had heard so many stories about the functional middle-age period peculiar to women — I hoped I'd escape such symptoms. But I didn't. I found myself terribly embarrassed by hot flushes — I suffered such restless nights, and I could sense myself getting irritable and cranky — due to this cause.
"My druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. I can understand now why he called it 'the woman's friend.' Pinkham's Compound gives me amazing relief. I find if I take it regularly — don't miss a day — it helps build up resistance against such middle-age distress."
P. S. Pinkham's Compound is very tasty in a little fruit juice. Or you may prefer Lydia Pinkham's TABLETS with added iron. Handy to carry in your purse.

CDA Warns Germ War Attacks Could Come From Big Aerial Spray Guns

By JOHN DRUCKENBROD

WASHINGTON (INS)—The government warned today that if war comes the nation must expect germ warfare attacks "by enemy forces or secret agents" and emphasized the dread onslaught could come from huge aerial spray guns.

The Federal Civil Defense Administration insisted, however, that "biological warfare is no secret super-weapon" and that there are defenses which can minimize its effects.

A 30-page booklet entitled "What You Should Know About Biological Warfare" was issued by the CDA as a follow-up to its earlier publication on the a-bomb peril, "Survival Under Atomic Attack."

The experts who compiled the grim primer on biological warfare dismissed as "nonsense" the rumors of new "mystery" germs and poisons so powerful they could kill millions of people. They wrote:

"The kinds of germs and poisons which might be used in BW would depend on what the enemy hoped to get out of the attack.

"If he wanted to kill large numbers of people, he might use plague typhus, cholera, smallpox, or some similar disease.

"But an attacker might want only to make people sick rather than kill them. That would cripple both our fighting and production forces. It also would tie up doctors and hospitals. For this purpose, diseases like rabbit fever and undulant fever might be used."

The CDA pointed out that disease germs are spread by floating them through the air in fine sprays or mists, technically called aerosols. Such familiar appliances as bathroom atomizers, DDT bombs, and spray guns produce small-scale aerosols. The CDA explained:

"Much bigger aerosols might be used for major BW attacks. They could be loosed from special sprayers carried in airplanes, if an enemy could succeed in making an attack pretty close to the ground. or the aerosol machines might be carried aboard submarines."

Or, the booklet said, both germs and poisons could be loaded in specially designed bombs dropped from high altitudes. In another method, saboteurs "might try to put germs or poisons into city water mains."

The CDA issued these rules for survival against biological warfare:

1. Keep yourself and your home clean.
2. Report sickness promptly.
3. Give all possible help to authorities, such as cooperation in vaccinations and blood samplings.
4. After a bombing, stay inside until the all-clear signal sounds.
5. Don't take chances with food and water in open containers.
6. Don't start rumors—if you do, you may start a panic.
7. Keep the house spic and span.
8. Air bedding, rugs and clothing.
9. Wash your hands properly before eating or drinking.
10. Close up the house in case of attack.

The CDA booklet noted the almost-forgotten fact that German agents working in the United States before World War I infected livestock with a disease called glanders as the animals were being prepared for shipment to the Allies in Europe.

The scientists suggested this possible prelude to World War III:

"Many months before the outbreak of open warfare, undercover workers might try to spread wheat rust in our fields or loose a disease called fowl pest in our poultry flocks. The idea would be to cut down our food supplies."

Farmers, poultrymen and livestock owners were cautioned to be alert against such sabotage.

The civil defense organization asked cooperation in killing dangerous myths by accepting and circulating these facts:

Germ warfare will not knock out entire cities. No kind of biological warfare could kill or sicken every person in a large area or city.

Talk of poisons that can kill millions is nonsense. There are fearfully powerful poisons, of course, but there are definite, practical limits to distributing them.

No "mystery germs" can cause terrible epidemics.

Summing up, the CDA declared:

"An alert public health protection system is the keystone of our defense against biological warfare."

Assurance was given that if raids are quickly spotted and control measures promptly applied, the harm caused by germ attacks will be small.

Red Hungary Puts Pressure On Its Farmers

By ENDRE MARTON

BUDAPEST—(AP)—The Hungarian farmer, traditionally a strong individualist, is facing the prospect of increasing pressure from the Communist regime to get into the farm collective movement.

Early this month Minister of State Erno Gero, deputy secretary general of the Communist Party, told the second party congress that Hungary can complete its five-year plan a year earlier if the farmers "will make up their backwardness."

The government-controlled press is filled with attacks on the Kulaks, meaning the relatively wealthy farmer. At the same time the press is extolling the agricultural cooperatives and their growth in the country. This is a sure sign of a new government drive to get more farmers into the collectives.

Hungary undertook an extensive land reform program after the end of the war. This was aimed at eliminating the feudal character of the agricultural economy which was blamed for the huge exodus of Hungarian farmers to other countries, including the United States, between 1899 and the outbreak of World War I.

Under the land reform of 1945 the big landowners lost their holdings which were parcelled out to the so-called "landless" peasants. Those with no land received from five to nine "holds" and those with small farms already got an additional four to five "holds." A "hold" is equivalent to a little more than an acre. Under the program 642,000 peasant families without any land or dwarf holdings got about 4,586,790 acres, that year.

This did not solve Hungary's land problem. It was apparent that the relatively small-sized strips of land received were not sufficient to meet the requirements of modern agriculture.

However, it wasn't until August 1948 that the Communists began to stress collectivization. Matyas Rakosi, secretary general of the Communist Party, said in a speech: "We must face the question which is to be the road of development of the peasant farms. The answer is clear—working peasantry chooses the road of cooperation and mutual aid, the road of collective work."

Progress toward collectivization was slow. Soon after Rakosi's speech the number of cooperatives was given as 350, within a year as 1,500 and by June, 1950, at 2,000. The 2,000 cooperatives cultivated slightly over 500,000 acres.

A later announcement said that 13.1 per cent of all arable land belonged to the "socialist sector" at the end of 1950, but of these only seven per cent were peasant cooperatives and 6.1 per cent state-owned estates.

Behind this slow progress was two-fold reasoning: That cooperatives should be formed on a voluntary basis, and that no pressure should be put on the peasant who is suspicious of collectives anyway.

The Communist government held out inducements to the cooperatives. The state-owned tractor stations offered modern machinery for field cultivation to collective farms at a rate 30 per cent cheaper than those to individual farmers. Farmers belonging to cooperatives got income tax reductions ranging to 50 per cent and favorable terms for farm loans.

There are three kinds of cooperatives. Under type one members cooperate only in certain kinds of work to be done with machines. Type two carries this a little farther and type three is the genuine article, where farm equipment and livestock become common property.

The government-controlled press hits out at anyone with 25 or more holds as a "Kulak" and a capitalist enemy of the state. Just why 25 holds is the line between a state enemy and a patriotic farmer is not quite clear to the peasant, but available figures show that after the 1945 land distribution there were almost 70,000 peasant families with between 20 and 50 holds.

Use Of New TV Channels Under FCC Consideration

WASHINGTON, (INS)—The Federal Communications Commission today was reported considering use of new television channels that may mean more stations and more programs but also new costs for the estimated 12 million present set owners.

Authoritative sources said the FCC, which has frozen new TV construction for 30 months, is exploring the possibility of opening up 70 new ultra high frequency channels.

That is 28 more than originally proposed in the commission's basic plans for a nationwide TV network. The new channels would supplement the 12 now operating in the very high frequencies of the wave band.

Informants denied, however, that the FCC may end its freeze in the immediate future. Sources said late fall remains the target date for ending the ban on construction of new stations. The freeze was imposed in September, 1948, because demand for new outlets exceeded available channel space.

FCC engineers say present sets will have to undergo "minor" adjustment to receive UHF signals at a "slight" additional cost to the public.

Manufacturers have estimated the retail cost of this adjustment at from $25 to $100.

Just how many new stations can be created by opening up the 70 UHF channels instead of the 42 originally planned is unknown at present because there is no way of determining how the new outlets will be spaced.

In the tentative FCC blueprint, use of UHF would have made room for about 2,500 stations. There are now 107 in operation. Nearly 400 applications for new stations are on file.

Use of UHF will not mean any change in relay of network programs via the coaxial cable or micro-wave.

Hearings began last fall on opening up ultra high frequency channels but were recessed. The commission is expected to announce soon a date for resumption.

About 300 TV and radio groups have said they want to be heard.

Sources said the FCC will make provisions for requested TV educational facilities when it decides how to increase channel space.

New York Rens To Clash With Spas Here

Cumberlanders Prep For All-American Series With Wheeling

Cumberland's Spas will entertain the highly touted New York Rens (Renaissance), noted aggregation of negro ballhawks, tonight at 9 o'clock on SS. Peter and Paul court.

The Rens will be making their first appearance here since the 1947-48 season when they topped the Dukes by the score of 60-47. During the 1946-47 season, the New Yorkers defeated the Amvets here 59-40 in their initial appearance here since before the Second World War.

Tonight's game, which will be officiated by "Bobby" Cavanaugh and Clifton Van Roby, is expected to attract one of the season's largest crowds. The high for the current campaign of 16 home games, 11 of which were won by the Spas, is the 506 paying patrons who turned out for Erie's initial visit on Sunday, February 4.

Spas Play 29th Game

Coach William V. Keegan's aggregation, preparing for the crucial All-American Pro League playoff series which gets under way in Wheeling on Friday night, will be playing its 29th game of the season tonight. The Spas have won 13 and lost 15. In the league they won 13 and lost 12 while against the independents, St. Francis College (Loretto, Pa.) twice and Waynesburg (Pa.) College the locals lost three straight.

The Rens are coached by Inman Jackson and have such stars as Bob Hall, Detroit, Carl Helem, Kentucky, George "Sonny" Smith, Cincinnati, Fred Pearson, Illinois, John Chavers, Cleveland, Bob Dowery, Kentucky, Joshua Grider, Kansas, John Roseborough, Texas, and Edward Hunt, Chicago, on the roster. Jackson is a former Harlem Globetrotters great and was a noted ball handler in his playing days.

Two Prelims Listed

Tonight's tilt will mark the beginning of a busy weekend for the Spas. In fact, the locals will be called upon to play three games in four days, including Sunday's series contest here with the Wheeling Blues who have taken five out of six from the locals this season.

A pair of prelims are on tap for tonight. In the opener at 7:15, St. Michael's, Frostburg, and SS. Peter and Paul will collide for the Biddy League title. Cumberland American Legion and the Sport Shoppe of the "Y" Senior Men's League will tangle at 7:50.

Mangrum Scores Tourney Sweep

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 14 (AP)—A clean sweep of the Seminole Golf Tournament gave Lloyd Mangrum another $2,500 today to wrap around the biggest golf bankroll of 1951.

A record 54-hole score of 203 enabled the Chicagoan to collect the $1,500 first prize in the professional division, and he picked up an additional $1,000 by teaming with Edward B. McLean to win the 36-hole pro-member tournament.

As he boosted his 1951 winnings to $9,626, Mangrum duplicated last year's feat of Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist, who won both sections of the tournament and established the competitive 54-hole record of 207 for one of Florida's toughest golf courses.

Mangrum clipped four strokes off the Middlecoff record with rounds of 69, 67 and 67.

At the finish, he had a three-stroke margin over Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa. and Pete Cooper of Ponte Vedra, Fla., who finished in a second-place tie at 206.

Another four strokes back at 210 were Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, who failed in an effort to win his third tournament in a row, and Jack Burke, Jr., of Houston, Tex.

Bowie Track Moves Starting Date Up One Day To April 20

BALTIMORE, March 14 (AP) — Bowie race track announced today the Maryland Racing Commission has given it permission to open its spring meeting on Friday, April 20, instead of a day later.

The shift was designed to reduce the number of days Bowie will be running in opposition to Garden State Park in New Jersey. The Maryland track will run through May 3.

Bowie also announced the naming of Charles J. McLennan as racing secretary and Joseph Blimline as mutuel manager.

Three stake races were carded for the spring meeting. The $7,500 added money Rowe Handicap for three year olds and up at six furlongs will be run on opening day. The $10,000 Farrell Handicap, for three year olds and up at a mile and 70 yards, will be run the next day. The $15,000 Southern Maryland Handicap for three year olds and up at a mile and a sixteenth will be on April 28.

Central High Cagers Battle Gaithersburg Tonight

Pearson was a Centralia, Illinois, prep star and more recently a cage ace at Illinois Normal College. He previously played with the Kansas City Stars and the New York Broadway Clowns. He is reputedly an excellent floor player and good shot.

Browns Borrow $600,000 For Debt Payments

Finances Best In Years Owners Say

By JOE REICHLER

MIAMI, Fla., March 14 (AP)—The Browns have completed negotiations with a St. Louis bank for a $600,000 loan to be paid back over a period of 10 years, club president Bill DeWitt said today.

In obtaining the loan, which is expected to wipe out all the club's debts with the exception of one owed to the American League, DeWitt agreed to give the St. Louis bank and an eastern insurance company mortgages on both Sportsman's Park in St. Louis and Mission Field in San Antonio. The Browns own title to both parks. The loan will be paid back at the rate of $50,000 per year, the final payment being one of $150,000.

The DeWitts still are in hock to the American League from whom they borrowed $300,000 two years ago. A report that they had requested another loan from the league was denied by Bill DeWitt.

A statement quoting Clark Griffith of Washington that he would not permit the league to "lend DeWitt a quarter," brought a smile to Bill's lips.

"We're not seeking any more loans," DeWitt said. "We are in the best financial position we've been in many years. This loan gives us a chance to expand our scouting program. It also means that we won't have to sell our ball players in order to meet expenses."

DeWitt said the club has wiped out $1,535,000 in debts in the last four years.

"Since we purchased on Feb. 1, 1949," Bill added, "we have paid back several hundred thousand dollars.

"We are not as badly off as some people think. We have approximately $2,000,000 invested in our two parks in St. Louis and San Antonio. All we have to do is to draw approximately 500 000 fans at home and some 900,000 on the road and we will make some money this year."

Te DeWitts own 58 per cent of the Browns' stock. The rest is divided among some 1,700 stockholders.

Forty and Eight cagers racked up their 27th consecutive victory last night in the Central YMCA Senior Men's Cage League and cinched the second half title with an easy 48-21 victory over Local No. 26.

The victory kept the first half champions' record clean and gave the undefeated quintet the "Y" title without benefit of a playoff. The winners have only one more game to play in the split season.

Last night's triumph was paced by Jimmy Eckard who tallied 14 points and Bob Lookabaugh who garnered 11. Cantone was high for the losers with seven markers.

In the other loop tilt played last night the American Legion five downed Peter Pan 35 to 24 with Bootie Sterne gathering high scoring honors with 12 points. The Legion quint copped the decision with a last quarter rally after leading only 17-16 at the close of the third period. The lineups:

Shea's Comeback Heartens Yankees

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 14 (AP) — Frank Shea, veteran New York Yankee righthander, offered early evidence today that he may make a comeback. The heavy-set righthander hurled three commendable innings in an intra-squad game and, after he was finished, said his arm felt better than it has in the spring since 1947.

Shea permitted two runs, both in the same inning, to a lineup composed largely of regular players. Bill Johnson homered with none on and the second run crossed because of an error. Frank walked two and was touched for two hits in addition to the home run.

Fusari Survives Two Knockdowns In Scrap

CHICAGO, March 14 (AP) —Johnny Bratton tonight won the National Boxing Association's version of the welterweight championship by defeating Charley Fusari in a blistering 15 round battle in the Chicago Stadium.

The decision, however, was not unanimous. One judge voted 76-74 in favor of Fusari, the New Jersey ex-milkman. Fusari survived two knockouts to make a courageous fight from start to finish. Referee Freddie Gilmore joined in voting with the other judge, 78-72 for Bratton.

The 23-year-old Chicagoan's victory before a handful of spectators reportedly numbered 6,500 climaxed a riches to rags and back-on-top-again cycle.

Rain, snow, sleet, television and radio kept most of the fans at home and Fusari probably wished that Bratton would have stayed there during the first ten rounds.

Bratton's ballerina footwork and flying fists, however, gave him the leand and the triumph.

Judge Ed Hintz gave Bratton 77 points and Fusari 73. Referee Tommy Gilmore awarded 78 points to Bratton and 72 to Fusari. But Judge John Bray scored the fight in Fusari's favor by a 76 to 74 margin.

Bratton opened a cut over Fusari's left eye in the very first round. A right hook did the damage.

Johnny pecked away at this gash throughout the fight in an effort to gain a technical knockout but Fusari's handers did a remarkable job of keeping the eye open until the 11th round.

The three-game sweep took Stadium Inn from third place into the lead in the tight second-half race. Century dropped from first to second and Ruth's dipped from second to third place.

State Seeks Cut On Televised Bouts

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 14 (AP)—The state would take a 10 per cent cut on the sale of television and radio rights of boxing and wrestling bouts, according to a bill introduced tonight in the general assembly.

The state already gets 10 per cent of the gross admissions at boxing and wrestling matches.

Keyser Plans Little League

Will Be Part Of Recreation Plan

KEYSER, W. Va. — Keyser will have a "Little Baseball League" this year, as a part of the summer recreation program to be conducted by the Keyser City Recreation Board. The matter was discussed at the last meeting of the board when tentative arrangements were made. Albert Thomas presented a sketch of a plan to be worked out.

The board made tentative plans for sponsoring a third leadership training institute for playlot supervisors this season. The institute plans call for the training of other recreation minded persons, whether they plan to supervise or not. The aim will be to make Keyser citizens recreation conscious. Dates for the institute have been set for April 23, 24 and 25 from 7 to 9:30 p. m. Certificates will be given to those who attend and complete the course.

Prof. John Sherlacher of the School of Physical Education at West Virginia University, will be in charge of the institute. There will be no charge made for the course and sessions will be held in the Keyser Fire Hall.

A dinner meeting is being planned by the board to be held April 9. Edmund F. Hoey, director of recreation for the City of Cumberland, will be guest speaker.

Seton Hall May Be Team To Beat In NIT Contests

Surprise Of Tourney Meets Brigham Young

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP) — Dark-horse Seton Hall, "tournament hot" and rich in reserves, was labelled by rival coaches today as the team to beat for the National Invitation Basketball Championship.

"Those boys are hot as a stovelid," said Dayton's Tom Blackburn.

Frank McGuire, St. John's coach, threw in an "amen" to this, adding:

"Seton Hall has the best bench in the tournament, ten or 12 boys of about equal ability. When one team doesn't click, another one is thrown in."

"We may need stilts to stop that big boy, Walt Dukes," moaned Stanley Watts of Brigham Young. "It may be impossible."

The immediate problem of chilling this blast-hot surprise entry out of New Jersey happens to fall in the lap of Watts and his gang from Utah, who face Seton Hall in the second semi-final game at 9:30 p. m. (EST) tomorrow at Madison Square Garden.

First-seeded St. John's and Dayton, another unexpected guest in the round of four, clash in the opening game at 7:45 p. m. The championship will be decided Saturday night.

"I'm real proud of the way my boys are going but we've been mighty lucky," commented Honey Russell, the old pro who tutors Seton Hall.

"I feel that if we can get by Brigham Young we'll have an excellent chance to win. Brigham Young has two of the finest ball players in the country in this Mel Mutchins and Roland Minson. I think we have more good players than they do, but no two to match Hutchins and Minson."

Railroad Dux Teams Plan Bowling Match

The Baltimore and Ohio CTP Men's Bowling League will meet a team representing Western Maryland in a series of games beginning next Monday, it was announced last night.

The two leagues will pick 18 men for their respective teams with 10 regulars and eight alternates to be selected. The two teams will then meet in a series of two three-game matches. Total pins at the close of the six games will determine the winner.

The first three-game match will get underway at 7 o'clock March 19 at the Savoy alleys while the second series will be staged the next morning at 9 o'clock at the Club alleys.

Refreshments will be served following the close of the first set Monday night.

Coach Shellenback Is Lost To Giants

"This is a serious blow," said Manager Leo Durocher. "Frank is a top man in arousing confindence among pitchers. He has a way with them. Kids listen to him."

Last year, it was Shellenback who took St. Louis Cardinal castoff Jim Hearn and turned him into a winner for the Giants.

Winner Will Advance To State Final

Clark And Diehl Referees In Class "B" Tilt At Frostburg

With Barton High School already qualified for the Class "C" finals, Central High of Lonaconing will be striving to get into the finals of Maryland's Class "B" scholastic basketball tonight when it faces Gaithersburg High of Montgomery County tonight at 8 o'clock on the Beall High School court, Frostburg.

Coach Johnny Meyers' Central quint, a 14-6 winner during the regular campaign, including two wins over Bruce High, Westernport, its Allegany County Class "B" rival, launched play in the state tournament by eliminating Oakland High of Garrett county, 61-37. Then the Tigers from 'Coney put Williamsport of Washington County out of the running to the tune of 66-42.

Clark, Diehl Referees

Fred "Tack" Clark of Keyser, W. Va., and Eddie Diehl of Cumberland have been named to referee tonight's contest in the Mountain City. Gaithersburg defeated Lackey High of Indian Head Tuesday night by a 50-25 score to qualify for the Central tilt.

A third win in the state games would send the Orange and Black of Central into the state finals on Saturday night at 7 o'clock at College Park. The winner of last night's clash between Aberdeen and Cambridge will advance to the other final spot. Barton will play in the Class "C" final on the University of Maryland floor at 3:30 p. m. the same day while the Class "A" championship game at 8 p. m. will be between Hagerstown High and Wicomico High of Salisbury. Barton's final opponent will be Ocean City which defeated Clarksville Tuesday night 52-41. Clarksville was the other finalist against Barton last year when the Braves copped the state title.

Central Has Good Record

Central has a 16-6 record for the season.

Last season the Lonaconing boys' team won 21 games and lost 3, including four straight wins in the state Class "B" tourney. Central's victims in 1950 were Grantsville, 55-22; Middletown, 47-27; Gaithersburg, 32-27, and Elkton, 50-37.

LITTLE GUY WITH BIG CIGAR TAKES OVER AILING ATHLETICS

Dykes Injects Spirit Into Listless Team That Lost Interest

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles on the 1951 prospects of the major league baseball teams.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—With the little guy in the big, black cigar cracking the whip, the "runningest" club in baseball, the Philadelphia Athletics, may surprise everyone this year and jump from an eighth-place spot into the running for the first division.

The little guy, Jimmy Dykes, rough and tough but still a sweetheart after all these years in baseball, is taking over the A's after half a century of leadership by the grand old man, Mr. Connie Mack, who finally stepped down after the 1950 season.

The keynote in this camp is "Action!" And that action is accented by running.

Dykes has set up some stringent rules for practice and every guy on the squad puts in a half hour running and Jimmy himself checks the time on them.

"They haven't run on this club for years," the loquacious and very affable cigar man says. "But they're going to this year. They're in good shape and if they aren't we'll make 'em that way."

• — • — •

The A's who dropped from a fifth in '49 to a hopeless eighth last year, are a new club this season although the same personnel probably will hold forth.

"They just quit. They might as well have gone home after June."

Jimmy was outspoken about the team's training methods last year, too.

"Mr. Mack," he said, "is probably the most wonderful guy in the world, but after all those years its a little difficult to be as aggressive as in other days. Our players trained all right, but there wasn't anyone out there giving 'em orders and they didn't work like players should. They just wandered around and did as they pleased.

"It ain't gonna be that way this year, though!"

The squat little leader of the A's, who informed his players in a clubhouse speech earlier that he was the boss on the field and "they just shouldn't forget it," said that the morale of the team is high and that the players don't resent his running tactics and his active training routine.

Sentiment in camp from General Manager Arthur Ehlers down to the bat boys is that the A's aren't as bad a club as they looked last year.

"The club is improved everywhere," said Jimmy. "And if Dick Fowler and Joe Coleman come along we'll be an interesting team. I don't say we're going to win a pennant or even crack the first division, but we're going to have a lot of fun and make some trouble."

Pitching, of which the A's had so much in 1949, was the trouble spot last year.

Ailments and illnesses deprived the Quaker City entry of its aces. As an example, Coleman and Fowler won 28 games between them in 1949. Last year they won just one game between them!

The A's lost four starting pitchers with sore arms the last two years when Phil Marchildon, Fowler, Coleman and Bill McCahan came up with troubles. Another star, Alex Kellner, who won 20 games in '49, could win only eight while losing 20 last year.

The roster is heavy with flingers. Eighteen pitchers are in camp, with the newcomers up from Class A and lower loops for the A's have only nine minor league clubs and not much to choose from.

Fowler, the guy with the "nothing" ball who still was a tough guy to beat, hadn't pitched since last July 26, when he went home from Cleveland. But he had his bottom teeth pulled out, boils taken care of and he's in great shape and throwing every day down here at Wright Field.

The starters probably will be Lou Brissie, Bob Hooper, Kellner and Bobby Schantz.

Among the newcomers Dykes likes John Kucab, a Campbell, O., right-hander who won 16 for Lincoln of the Western league and then had a 1-1 record with the A's at the end of last season. Kucab looks as if he knows how to pitch, according to Manager Jimmy.

Another he likes is Ed Hrabcsak, a 6-foot 4-inch rightie who won nine and lost eight for Savannah. This guy is a curve-ball specialist.

Still another is Mor is Martin, who won 14 for St. Paul.

The catching staff is probably the smallest in the big leagues. There are only two members — the scrappy Joe Tipton and Joe Astroth. However, Wilmer Schantz, brother of Bobby, the pitcher, is also in training here.

• — • — •

Ferris Fain, the guy many clubs tried and are still trying to get, is the first sacker. A battle at second will involve aging Pete Suder, hard-hitting Billy Hitchcock and two rookies, George Moskovich, from Lincoln, and Ed Samcoff, who hit .307 for Sioux City.

Eddie Joost is the shortstop and Kermit Wahl in at third.

There are six outfielders, headed by Sam Chapman, Paul Lehner and Elmer Valo. Wally Moses, beginning his 17th season in the majors, and Barney McCoskey are insurance here.

One rookie is in the outfield contingent. He is Robert J. Wellman, a 6-foot 4-inch husky who played for Buffalo last season.

Most outstanding rookie in camp is Lou Limmer, a 6-foot 2-inch New York youth who socked 29 home runs for St. Paul last year. He's a first sacker and he may be shifted to the outfield if Fain still is around when the season opens. If the club trades or sells Fain, Limmer will be the first sacker.

Alerted Cops Handicap At Gulfstream

Stout Takes Lead For Jockey Honors

HALLANDALE, Fla., March 14 (AP)—Hampton Stable's Alerted, a castoff of Calumet Farm, captured the $5,000 Fountain of Youth Handicap at Gulfstream Park today, in a race that was marred by rough riding.

The son of Bull Lea, ridden by William McKinley Cook, finished the seven furlongs a neck before Spring Brook Farm's Pur Sang, rewarding his backers to the tune of $12.80 for each $2 investment in the straight windows.

Savoy Stable's Blue Speed, seeking his fourth straight triumph, had to be content with third money, a length back of Pur Sang, while Sam E. Wilson Jr's Royal Mustang woundup a dull sixth in the field of eight three-year-olds.

Alerted, winner of two purses earlier in the winter, covered the run in 1:24 1/5 on a track that was not at its best. His share of the purse was $3,250.

Alerted was never far back of the pace, though he dropped back to fifth place entering the stretch when the field was bunched up. He took the lead by a head reaching the eighth pole, racing along with Blue Speed, but then ducked out near the finish line, bothering the son of Blue Swords. Pur Sang was going fast at the end, and ran one of his best races since his triumph in the Jockey Club Stakes at Churchill Downs last October.

Irving Gushen's Octeen made it two in a row at Gulfstream Park today when the son of Occupation out-ran 11 other juveniles in the fourth event, a dash of three furlongs.

With Ovie Scurlock astride, the colt beat Crownlet, a recent winner here, by a head and paid a liberal $21.80. Brown Hotel Stable's Hadn't Orter was a length away in third place, with Luckey Bull fourth. The time was fast, .33 1/5.

E. V. Modica's Moon Deil, with Willie Balzaretti up, led all the way in the third, in which 11 maiden three-year-olds met at six furlongs. Paying $15.50, the son of Deil scored by a length and a half from Kentario, while Hurry-Skurry was third. The race was run in 1.13.

The second, with nine older sprinters engaged, was taken by Savoy Stable's Top Admiral, the $6.40 choice. He put Curtain Raiser away inside the sixteenth pole, slicking by a length in a fast 1.11 3/5 for the six furlongs. Brandy Punch was a fast-closing third. Top Admiral, which completed a $49 daily double, gave Jimmy Stout his 8th winner of the meeting, putting him one ahead of Apprentice Charlie Burr.

Dixie Walker Says He's Bench Manager

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 14 (INS)—Dixie Walker, the "people's choice" for many years in Brooklyn announced today that he is all through as an active player and is "strictly a bench manager" of the Atlanta Crackers from now on.

The 41-year-old former Dodger and Pittsburgh outfielder, who even got in a few games while piloting the Crackers last year, said "a fellow should hang up the spikes when he's through and that's what I intend to do."

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 14 (INS)—Spencer Tracy, who always takes a long time to make up his mind about traveling anywhere, has booked passage for the last of May on the S. S. Independence sailing to Naples, my friend, Spencer, who is really excited about his trip, leaves just as soon as he finishes "The People Against O'Hara." He plans to motor through Italy, France and the English countryside. I was in London when Spencer was there in 1948 making "Edward, My Son," with Deborah Kerr, and I visited them on the set. That was his last visit.

Spencer Tracy

He'll have to be back in Hollywood by the last of June to start "Year Ago," the Ruth Gordon story, which Fredric March played on Broadway. Larry Weingarten, the producer, and Director George Cukor will have it ready when Spencer returns.

Richard Basehart, whose wife died about a year ago and to whom he was very devoted, has found a new interest in life in Valentina Cortesa.

So serious is Basehart about the Italian actress who is now under contract to 20th, that he took a suspension so he could fly to London to see her and ask her the important question.

He met her when they made a picture together in Europe and she's been the most important thing in his life since that day.

Before Richard took off to meet the lady of his heart he handed 20th an original screenplay, "Rainy Day," by Harry Essex, which he asked to do when he comes back.

Angela Green, the pretty blonde who gave up a promising career at Warners for the even better career of wife and mother when she married wealthy Stuart Martin, is doing very well in the movies again.

With Stuart's blessing, she's following her comedy role in "At War With The Army" (Martin and Lewis) with the lead opposite Johnny Weissmuller in "Jungle Safari" at Columbia.

Chatter in Hollywood:

Word from Rita Hayworth is that she definitely sails for America April 7 on her first trip since she married Aly Khan. She comes directly to Hollywood and, of course, she will confer with Charles Vidor, her favorite director.

Rita is now in Cannes, where she went to see Rebecca and Yasmin, her two daughters. Everything is wonderful with Aly and if he isn't back in time to sail with her on the 7th, he'll join her here in the USA later.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Gloria Haley (Jack's daughter) and her husband, Buddy Bregman, expect a baby in August. You can imagine Flo and Jack's excitement over the prospect of becoming grandparents.

The 25th of this month the Earl of Beatty arrives to see Merle Oberon—but I don't, for a minute, believe this is a serious romance with Merle.

Are Elizabeth Taylor and Stanley Donen cooling? She was all over Palm Springs with Ted Briskin and they had everybody looking in their direction at the Doll House.

A great break for Judy Garland and a great break for Buddy Pepper is the contract which Buddy has just received from the Palladium in London. He's signed to accompany Judy when she sings there. No doubt they will be a sensation. Judy again demonstrated, on Bing Crosby's show, what great talent is hers.

Jane Froman will do the singing in the story of her life, but she won't do the acting.

Robert Taylor, who has started to appear with different girls, still creates a sensation when he walks into a cafe. When he and Marie Windsor made a foursome at the Mocambo with Audrey Totter and Armand Deutsch the cameras were very busy.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Sport Jacket Vests

Note His "Flap" Pocket

The Customers Write: C. A. Castle, "You didn't go far enough with your item about sharpening a blade in a glass. (a) Use glass exactly 2½ inches in diameter (b) Have glass slightly damp. This will give you an edge like a new blade."

Shoe Tips: If you prefer leather soles and heels but like the comfort of rubber—try wearing thin sponge rubber inner soles. Ed Fitzgerald, of radio fame, first picks out the shoes he's going to wear—then matches the rest of the ensemble to them!

People: Police Commissioner Tom Murphy, of N. Y. C., could be starting a revival of derby hats. Some stores have had increase in calls. . . . Movie actor Glenn Ford has one of the largest pipe collections in the world. . . . Anthony Dexter, who plays Rudolph Valentino in the new movie "Valentino," is the son, grandson, great grandson and nephew of ministers. Met Opera's Felix Knight is seeking a patent on square red and round green traffic lights for people who are color blind.

New Ideas: Those sliding rugs will stay put if rubbed with a new product called No-Slip Powder. . . . Sessions Clock Co. doesn't rely on an alarm-radio to keep you awake. They have a switch-timer that also rings a bell, ten minutes after the radio turns on.

Care of Clothes: A water spot on a silk tie can be easily removed by first allowing it to dry—then rubbing with the fabric itself, a tissue or the clean edge of silver coin. Give leather sweatband on your hat an occasional soap and water rub—keeps it from smudging your forehead.

Odd Items: Did you know that forest fires sometimes travel at the rate of fifty miles per hour? . . . There are 21,000,000 cats in the U. S. . . . TV fans are brushing up on their Roman numerals so that when an old movie is run they can tell the date when it was made by reading the numerals which appear at the beginning. . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars" to—Leo Durocher, who, on radio and TV, displays topflight erudition and dramatic talent.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

"The Authority on Authorities"

LOW CARDS PROMOTED

YOU MAY not have a really high card in your entire hand. But if your partner has shown a powerhouse with his bidding—especially if he has opened with a suit bid of two—he could not possibly be expecting high card strength opposite him. His bid has told you in effect that he has so much in high cards he doesn't count on you to have anything. Furthermore, if you fit his suit and have shortage elsewhere, your small cards are promoted into mighty trick-takers.

	♠ K 8 6 5 3 2 ♥ None ♦ 7 6 ♣ 10 8 6 5 2
♠ 7 4 ♥ A K J 10 8 5 ♦ K Q J 9 5 ♣ None	N W E S	♠ None ♥ 9 6 4 2 ♦ 10 8 4 3 2 ♣ 9 7 4 3
	♠ A Q J 10 9 ♥ Q 7 3 ♦ A ♣ A K Q J

South	West	North	East
2 ♠	3 ♥	Pass	Pass
3 ♠	4 ♦	Pass	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	5 ♥
Dbl	Rdbl

Figure out for yourself the number of points East and West got out of that deal, which produced an extra trick, with West losing to only the diamond A. Also figure out what North and South could have made by bidding the vulnerable grand slam in spades which was in the cards, and which West might have doubled because of his heart tops. Add them together and you will see how many points were influenced by North's inane passes.

After the disaster, he pleade to South that he didn't bid because he had no high cards in the other suits to supplement his spades. He should have realized that his K made spades almost certainly solid, and that his heart blank was as good as the top honors of that suit. He had several ways to show his stuff, which had been promoted into terrific support for such a hand as South held. He could have bid the opponents' hearts as a cue-bid to oken spades and show his lack of heart losers, or he could have bid whatever number of spades he considered sound. At least small slam would have been a cinch to reach if he had done any of these things.

The parting classic was his criticism of South "You should have bid clubs on the second turn and on your third should have rebid spades, unless I had supported them in the meantime That would have made it easier for me to act, since I fitted clubs too."

Market Is Battered Down By Late Surge Of Selling

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP) — The stock market struggled valiantly to get ahead today but was battered down by a late selling surge.

The railroads and a long list of widely diversified issues were comfortably ahead in the third and fourth hours, but everything fell before the barrage of late selling.

The fall brought out many losses of $1 and $2, and in some instances it pushed to nearly $3 a share. Infrequent gains among the leaders were held to less than a dollar.

The aircrafts were hard hit as were steels, a number of rails, rubbers, farm implements, chemicals, some air lines and building material issues.

Total trading for the day came to 2,110,000 shares as compared with 2,330,000 shares traded yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 80 cents at $91.90. The industrial component was down $12.30, rails 60 cents and utilities 20 cents.

Out of the 15 most active issues only Pennsylvania Railroad managed to make a gain—up ⅛ at 21½. It was the fourth most active issue. The carrier declared a 50 cent dividend, its 229th in the last 404 years. It hasn't skipped a year. In 1950 the road paid 50 cents each in November and April.

International Telephone was the day's most active issue off ⅛ at 16 1-5. Directors declared a 15-cent dividend.

The Milwaukee Road was second most active off ⅛ at 26⅝. Directors declared a $2 dividend payable out of 1950 earnings.

DEBT STILL RISING

Delegation Gives City Home Rule Green Light

Off-Street Parking Also Gets Boost

The Allegany County Delegation yesterday issued favorable reports on bills providing statutory Home Rule for Cumberland and for an enabling act to allow the city to establish off-street parking facilities.

The first, House Bill 523, introduced by the Delegation, includes a local referendum. It adds eight new sections to the city charter but does not authorize the city to abolish the Civil Service or Merit System and prohibits the city from dropping any such jobs.

The second, House Bill 527, which authorizes the city to finance off-street parking, was amended by the Delegation to include a referendum.

Introduced yesterday was House Bill 588, by Delegates Reed and See, which would eliminate Allegany County from a list of counties in which officers may examine a motor vehicle without a warrant, under certain conditions.

In seven Maryland counties, including Allegany, officers can stop and search a vehicle to examine the owner's game and fish bag and make sure the hunter is conforming with the law.

Pay Raises Deferred

The Delegation yesterday discussed, but deferred action on finance bills requested by the City of Cumberland and increases for city firemen and policemen.

The Delegation said a petition has also been received from 28 other city employes, asking for wage boosts similar to police and firemen.

Charles M. See, chairman, said the Delegation will discuss the above bills today, but added it may be Friday before a definite decision is reached.

Chairman See said the Delegation has not returned a decision on a bill setting up a special taxing area for Bowling Green.

He added, however, that it "looks like it may get a favorable report" as it includes a referendum.

Bill To Aid Industry

The Delegation yesterday introduced a bill which would allow the City of Cumberland and Allegany County to give $5,000 each toward industrial development work here.

Chairman See said the measure will receive a favorable report, adding that if it brings only one factory into the county it will be worth the cost.

Introduced yesterday by Senator Kimble was SB357, to set up an Allegany County Civil Service Commission and a classified city service to embrace all officers and employes of the city, with certain exceptions.

Reconsidered yesterday by the House was SB221—by Fraley—to provide a new charter for the town of Friendsville, Garrett County, and to submit same to a referendum.

Bills Signed Into Law

Signed by governor were:

HB162—by See and Kelley—providing for trial magistrates at Oldtown and Flintstone.

HB170—by Garrett Delegation—specifying that primary elections for county commissioners in Garrett County shall be by commissioners districts.

HB271—by Garrett Delegation—changing the tax levy and due dates in Garrett County.

HB91—by Reed—applying bus safety regulations to all motor vehicles transporting school children in Allegany County.

Four B. & O. Coal Cars Derailed Near Hyndman

Main Line Blocked For Four Hours

Four empty coal hoppers of westbound Baltimore and Ohio freight train No. 6206 were derailed yesterday morning at 945 o'clock near Fairhope, Pa., about three miles west of Hyndman on the Pittsburgh Division. No one was injured.

Maintenance crews worked until 1:30 p. m. yesterday before the two main tracks were cleared for traffic.

Two westbound freight trains, two eastbound freights and one westbound passenger train had to be detoured over the Western Maryland Railroad from Cumberland to Keystone, Pa.

Conductor C. T. Everett and Engineer J. M. Bradburn were the train's crew.

The freight was traveling upgrade at the time of the mishap and railroad officials were unable to give an immediate explanation of the cause. Further investigation is being conducted.

State Seeking Orderly Growth For Gas Fields

Garrett County "Gold Rush" Noted

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 14 (AP)—"It's like a gold rush" to develop the natural gas field in Garrett County, the head of the Department of Geology said today.

"A gambling spirit" hangs over the area with producers crowding in to tap the gas which started coming in about a year ago, Joseph Singewald told the House Ways and Means Committee.

Singewald wants to put some restrictions on the development, and Garrett County wants to reap some benefits by taxing the gas.

Two bills to accomplish both purposes were considered by the House committee. The Senate already has passed a bill to let the county put a seven per cent tax on producers.

Representatives of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company and Columbia Carbon Co. protested the tax as a restraint on development.

Louis Jones, attorney for Columbia, conceded his company is resigned to some taxation but "it should be proportioned between the producer and purchaser."

Cumberland and Allegheny representatives felt the tax was properly on the producer, but objected to collecting it as provided in the bill introduced by Senator Fraley (R-Garrett).

Issues 32 Permits

Singewald reported his department has issued 32 permits for drilling in the 40-mile stretch of Garrett County in which natural gas is likely applications are coming in.

He said the race was spurred on by tapping in January of a well producing 12,000,000 cubic feet daily. The average well, he added, is producing 300,000 cubic feet.

"The drilling rush is just on," he said, and state regulation is needed in the interest of conservation and economy.

"Those who prefer to be non-restricted opportunists and to gamble on obtaining more than a fair share of this natural resource," will not favor enactment of the regulatory bill, Singewald said.

Among these are Garrett County legislators, he added.

He said he had talked several times with Senator Fraley about introducing the bill. "He kept stalling me off" until finally House Speaker Luber (D-Balto. 5th) put it in.

"Now he (Fraley) asks you not to pass this bill at this session because it is so late."

Urges Orderly Growth

"Uncontrolled drilling of unnecessary wells can readily result in the waste of a large sum of money," the geologist said.

"Unnecessarily closely spaced wells results also in uneven exhaustion and in uneven lowering of the gas pressure in the pool which can result in reduction in the ultimate gas recovered from the pool."

Singewald maintained the small operator and owners of land without wells in the drilling areas would be protected by state control of spacing. Otherwise, he said, the owner of a small lot could put in a well and draw the gas off adjoining land.

"In the build-up portion of Mountain Lake Park," he said as an example, "the average acreage per well is already reduced to 16 acres.

"Most of these wells are being drilled on leases of town lot size. The owner of such a well at present takes the gas belonging to a number of surrounding lot owners whose only recourse to obtain their share of the gas would be to drill wells on their lots."

Frank Boyd, a geologist for the Cumberland & Allegheny Gas Company, argued the producers are going to be interested in economy and efficiency without state regulation because it is their money.

Conference Set For Restaurant Officials Here

Health Department To Sponsor Forum

The Cumberland Health Department will sponsor its first annual Owners and Managers Conference here March 21, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

The meeting, to be held from 1:30 to 5 p. m. in the Health Department Training Center, Union Street County Building, is designed to foster closer cooperation between food establishments and the health department.

Invitations have been extended to 85 Cumberland restaurant managers and owners and to 15 area food dealers.

The program will open with a film, "Company Is Coming," issued by the National Restaurant Association; a discussion on the responsibility of the restauranteur to the community, by Robert J. Wilson, Washington, D. C., executive vice president of the restaurant association.

C. S. Brinsfield, Baltimore, state food and drug commissioner, will speak on restaurant sanitation; Mrs. Myra B. Hays, Baltimore, executive secretary, Restaurant Association of Maryland, will explain price regulations for restaurants and H. F. Quay, of Swift and Company, will discuss prefabricated meats for the restaurant trade.

Chairmen will be Dr. Frantz, J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian, and W. R. E. King, city inspector.

Cumberland's restaurants, officials said, rank high in Maryland. They said 87 per cent recently received Class A ratings.

Easter Sunday Sunrise Service Planned Here

The annual Easter Sunday Sunrise Service sponsored by the Cumberland Ministerial Association will be held at 6:45 a. m. in the Fort Hill High School auditorium.

Rev. Carl H. Clapp, chairman of the program, said last night that Rev. John Bayley Jones, pastor of the Methodist Church, Frostburg, will be guest speaker.

The senior choir from St. Marks Evangelical and Reformed Church will sing under the direction of Ivin Hall.

Other appropriate numbers will be sung by the Acapella Choir of Fort Hill High School under direction of Miss Anita Yates.

All area churches are invited to attend the service.

Hoey said about 40 applications for the positions have already been filed.

Playground directors will receive from $200 to $300 for the season, depending on qualifications and experience; junior recreation assistants, from $100 to $200; checkers and cashiers, $25 a week, and life guards, $28 a week.

Generally, the work will include a six-hour, five day a week schedule. Pool jobs will be on a six-day schedule.

Manslaughter Trial Of Hughes Set For April 11

Case Is Removed To Hagerstown

A case that probably will attract many witnesses from the Georges Creek area, the trial of William J. Hughes, 25, of Midland, on a manslaughter charge, has been set for Wednesday, April 11, in the Washington County Circuit Court in Hagerstown.

Hughes was indicted last October 3 by a grand jury in Allegany County Circuit Court in a true bill which contended that he did "kill and slay" Thomas Robertson, 44, Lonaconing, last May 3.

Robertson died in Miners Hospital, Frostburg, the night of May 3 from injuries allegedly sustained when he was struck by a truck driven by Hughes on the Old Coney Cemetery Road near Lonaconing.

The court ordered the Hughes case transferred to the Hagerstown court last October 11 on the request of Hughes' attorneys.

Robertson was one of 32 pickets in the vicinity to prevent movement of non-union mined coal. He and Melvin Cutheston, 36, Gilmore, were struck by the Hughes-driven truck when he returned from the coal company office. Cuthertson received a broken wrist.

Other pickets told police the truck swerved, striking Robertson and throwing him headfirst on a bumper guard of a parked car.

Shortly after the tragedy Hughes was quoted as saying that a foot-long board carrying 10 20-penny nails had been placed under the outside right rear tire of his truck, apparently when he stopped. Hughes found the board in the deflated tire when he arrived at the mine, it was reported.

Hughes will be represented at the trial by Attorneys Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., and Edward J. Ryan.

The maximum penalty provided for conviction of manslaughter by motor vehicle under state law is three years in jail or the House of Correction or $1,000 fine or both.

State Purchase Of Parkway Land Is Opposed By Three Counties

Claim Plan Harmful To Industry

ANNAPOLIS, Md., (AP)— Decision on proposed state purchase of land for development of a parkway on the Chesapeake & Ohio canal bed was put off for this session yesterday after three of the four affected counties opposed it.

Residents of Frederick, Montgomery and Washington Counties opposed a bill authorizing purchase of 11,000 acres of land by the state for development of the parkway. Allegany alone favored it.

The state would cede the land to the federal government to build the parkway at a cost estimated last year at $17,000,000.

The plan was attacked as detrimental to industry and wildlife as well as another removal of land subject to local taxation.

One of the main worries over the denial of access by industry to the Potomac River caused the Senate Finance Committee to take a delaying action which will forstall any General Assembly decision this session.

To Rewrite Bill

Chairman Goldstein (D-Calvert) appointed Senators Kimble (R-Allegany, Ramsburg (R-Frederick) and Barton (D-Balto 2nd) to remove any enabling power from the bill which Kimble introduced. They will rewrite it to have the State Roads Commission study particularly an effort to have the federal government guarantee access rights across the parkway to the Potomac.

The federal government now owns the 185-mile canal between Georgetown, D. C., and Cumberland. Except for 23 miles, it has been abandoned as a waterway parallelling the Potomac.

Lack of guaranteed permanent access water rights to the Potomac already has cost Washington County one industry, James Stone, of the Hagerstown Retailers Bureau, and other speakers told the committee.

Lost duPont Plant

Instead, they said the Du Pont Company had decided to build a new explosives manufacturing plant across the potomac near Martinsburg, W. Va.

If the parkway is constructed, a Western Maryland Railroad spokesman said:

"For our share of the economic worth the river can produce, Maryland will have a scenic parkway and West Virginia tremendous industry."

Seek Easement To Move Traffic Past Flood Work

May Detour Vehicles Via City Hall Plaza

City officials are negotiating for a temporary easement necessary to maintain a flow of traffic down North Mechanic Street while the Frederick Street pressure conduit is being installed.

An attempt is being made to secure permission to use part of the Holland Service Station apron to route traffic past the Flood Control project.

Albert S. Paye, city flood control liaison engineer, said the city needs 17 feet of the driveway to maintain one-way traffic around North Mechanic Street from Bedford to Frederick Streets.

Traffic would come down North Mechanic to Bedford and then, via City Hall Plaza, go down North Liberty Street to Baltimore Street or return to North Mechanic Street by way of Frederick.

Paye said a bridge can be placed across the trench at Frederick and Mechanic Streets to keep traffic moving at that point.

The Fire Department, he added, has approved the plan.

Officials said the only alternative would be to block off North Mechanic Street from Market to Frederick Streets, and allow only those who have actual business to use that portion of the street.

The pressure conduit work will begin at Wills Creek near the Eagles Home, continue on North Mechanic Street to Frederick Street, then follow Frederick under the B. and O. crossing to a point beyond Henderson Avenue.

A branch of the conduit will leave the main line at an alley near the Stein Funeral Home and connect with the culvert under the B. and O. freight house.

Officials said the superintendent of the Thomas Earle and Sons contracting firm of Philadelphia is due here this week and that work on the sub-contract may get under way within the next 10 days.

B. & O. Sets Two New Efficiency Records In 1950

Freight Traffic, Revenue Show Gain

BALTIMORE, March 14 (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad reported today it set two new operating efficiency records in 1950.

Its freight traffic increased by 13.5 per cent, with a corresponding increase in freight revenue over 1949. Passenger revenue was up slightly. There were fewer passengers, but more of them rode in parlor and sleeping cars.

The figures were published today in the railroad's annual report to stockholders.

The operating records were on two highly technical measurements which railroad experts use to judge freight handling efficiency. One of them involves the number of tons per train. The other is the ratio of ton-miles to hours of crew time.

Facilities Improved

The B & O attributed the gains to larger freight cars and more powerful locomotives, improved roadway, yards and signals, better supervision and new facilities.

Other highlights of the annual report:

Coal and coke constituted 42 per cent of the 1950 freight traffic.

Passenger traffic declined 15.8 per cent but passenger revenue was up 1.65 per cent.

The B & O spent $24,481,112 in new facilities or modernization of old ones. Principal projects started during the year were a new ore pier on the Baltimore waterfront which soon will start unloading South American iron ore from ships and a new double-track tunnel on the main line between Grafton and Clarksburg, W. Va.

Damage Suits Seek $26,500 From Accident

Sherman, Cousins Deaths Recalled

Two suits seeking damages totaling $26,500, filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court, recalled the tragic traffic accident last November 13 on Route 40, between Keyser's Ridge and Grantsville, in which two Cumberland men lost their lives.

One suit, for $25,000 damages, was filed for the use of Mrs. Barbara Cousins, widow of William M. Cousins, 318 Pennsylvania Avenue, one of the two men killed in the crash. The other, filed by Harry R. Kenny, administrator of Cousin's estate, seeks $1,500 damages to cover burial and other large expenses coincident with the man's death.

Both actions, filed by Former Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan, named William A. Gunter, administrator of the estate of William R. Sherman, as defendant.

Sherman, 26, of 1000 Oldtown Road, was the driver of the automobile involved in the fatal crash. He and Cousins apparently were killed instantly. Sherman was president of the Tri-State Climatic Corporation and Cousins was employed as an installer by the same firm. They had been working in Uniontown, Pa., the day of the accident and were en route back to Cumberland when the car smashed into a heavy Garret County Roads Department truck.

The declarations said that Cousins was riding as a guest of Sherman in the latter's car. It is further contended that the highway in different spots was covered with sheets of ice. Despite this, the declarations asserted, Sherman drove his car at a dangerous, unlawful and excessive speed, between 60 and 70 miles per hour.

"Tragic accidents which sometimes occur to kite and model airplane fans may be avoided by taking proper precautions," the Potomac Edison Company spokesman said.

Corriganville Fire Company To Mark 12th Anniversary

A 12th anniversary celebration of the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company will be held tomorrow evening at the fire hall. A banquet will begin at 6 p. m. at which time William A. Wilson, treasurer of the State Firemen Association will speak on "Benefits of a Volunteer Fire Company to a Community".

Harry R. Wilson, president of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen Association will also speak. The history of the company will be given by Joseph C. Stuckey, captain of Corriganville Fire Company, Chief Harry W. Martz will report on his department and Harry C. Walters, past president of the County Association will give a financial report.

Following the banquet a dance will be held beginning at 9 p. m. with music by the Blue Notes.

The Corriganville Volunteer Firemen organized in 1939. Sixteen citizens of the community became members, four of whom are still active. Joseph C. Stuckey was instrumental in getting the company started while Chief Snyder, LaVale, gave much encouragement and assistance.

The first piece of fire fighting apparatus was a small truck equipped with chemicals and hose. It had been purchased from the Barton Fire Company. The newly organized firemen met at the Reformed Church Hall and later at the Public School until their present fire hall was built in 1941, at a cost of $2,000 and volunteer labor from members and townspeople.

An addition was put on the building in 1947 and the present two-story structure which measures 60 feet by 72 feet, houses the engine room, a club room, and a public meeting hall used for various school activities, clinics etc.

Plans are underway for construction of a third floor for use as added room space and temporary living quarters in the event any family is burned out.

The present apparatus owned by the company consists of two completely equipped trucks, a portable pump and light plant as well as an emergency ambulance used widely as a public service.

The four charter members still active in the company include Chief Harry C. Walters, Harry W. Martz, George Bowers and Joseph Stuckey.
